EX-SPEAKER BLAINE.

Convalescing Very Rapidly.

All Danger of a Fatal Result Passed.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The following telegram was sent by Dr. Verdi this evening to Congressman Hale at Cincinnati:

"Mr. Blaine's condition has steadily improved all day. Another night's rest, it is expected, will restore so much of his nervous power as to have his exhaustion entirely disappear. It is now only a question of time for the restoration of his usual strength.

(Signed) "T. S. VERDI."

President Grant's Sympathy.

The President returned to Washington this afternoon from Annapolis. Soon after his arrival at the Executive Mansion the President sent a messenger to Mr. Blaine's residence to ascertain the condition of that gentleman.

Mrs. Blaine has been very calm and collected throughout, and never lost hope. While friends and relatives were shedding tears and giving way to their sorrow on Sunday, she with strong self-control was quietly nursing her stricken husband.

The strain upon Mr. Blaine's mind of late has been enormous, and he was in a condition of nervous prostration that showed itself at the slightest opportunity. Had he not been a man of correct habits it is probable that the attack would have killed him, but no man in public life has taken better care of himself than Mr. Blaine. He uses neither liquor nor tobacco in any shape, and rarely drinks a glass of wine at dinner. He eats simple food and sleeps regularly and long. He has for thirty years come as near obeying nature's laws as it is given for men to understand them, and at forty-six—his present age—he was counted as handsome a man physically as there was in public life. To this is doubtless due his present apparent certainty of recovery. His family say that Mr. Blaine has been greatly affected lately by the combination of attacks which seemed to have been hurled against him, as by one common impulse, from every direction. The ordinary contentions of party, the prolonged strain of political work which ordinarily breaks down statesmen, would never have broken him. He has stood such strains for years under most exciting circumstances, whithout showing it. While he was Speaker, a period of six years, he was never out of his chair on account of sickness. The attacks however that have been lately made affected his private character and seemed to break him down. While he has so much courage, audacity, and fire, he is said to be, at heart, as sensitive as a child.

The following additional and interesting details of Mr. Blaine's illness are taken from a special dispatch to the New York Tribune:

Mr. Blaine rose in the morning at the usual time, took a bath, read the papers, and about 9¼ o'clock his wife advised him to go down to the parlor, which was cooler and more comfortable. He said in reply that he wanted his breakfast first, as he was quite hungry. His breakfast was ordered to his room, and although it was a light one, he ate more heartily than usual. He played with his children for a time and was in excellent humor. He said he had not felt so well for some time. He remarked about his pleasant night's sleep and spoke cheerfully of his prospects at Cincinnati.

He conversed with Mr. Sherman, his Secretary, and dictated several dispatches to his friends. He also received, read, and filed a number of letters and telegrams, and was especially interested in a long dispatch from his colleague, Hale, regarding the contest at Cincinnati. The morning passed in the usual manner, and shortly before 11 o'clock his wife asked him if he was going to church. He answered that he would go along in a moment if she would wait. He joined her presently, and when the family, consisting also of Miss Dodge and two young daughters of Mr. Blaine, stepped out on the sidewalk, Mrs. Blaine reminded her husband that it was very warm and they had better ride. Mr. Blaine said he had rather walk, and so the five started out. The morning was intensely hot, and their walk was directly east.

The ladies had sun umbrellas, but Mr. Blaine's head was unprotected. The distance from their house on Fifteenth street, between H and I streets, to the Rev. Dr. Rankin's Congregational Church at Tenth and D streets, is probably something over half a mile. Reference during the walk was made to the extreme heat, but Mr. Blaine made little complaint of it. When he reached the steps of the church, however, he put his handkerchief to his eyes in a strange manner, and his wife asked what was the matter and if he had anything in his eyes. He said "No, but I think I am struck; oh, my head," and he sank down insensible in his wife's arms at the threshold of the church. His little daughter Hattie, about five years old, ran into the church and told Gen. Ballock, who was at the door, that her father had fainted.

On the steps of the church his wife held his head in her lap, and the rest of the family bent over her, none knowing whether death had already overtaken him. Assistance was soon at hand. A passing omnibus was reined up against the walk, and the inanimate form was carefully lifted within. Arriving at the house Mr. Blaine was taken inside, and by a strong effort said: "Lay me on the floor." He was at once stretched on the parlor floor, his shoes removed, his collar thrown open, and a cushion placed under his head. A bed was at once brought down, and Mr. Blaine was placed upon it. Physicians were sent for and soon arrived, and careful hands have smoothed his pillow all day.

It would be difficulty to describe the excitement that spread through the city. Crowds gathered at the hotels and shady places, and before half an hour the walk in front of Mr. Blaine's residence was filled with anxious visitors.

For four hours the unfavorable symptoms continued, and the doctors held frequent and earnest consultations. One or two, and sometimes all of them, were about the bedside watching every action, and once when the patient seemed gasping for breath, Surgeon General Barnes, with a troubled look, turned to Dr. Bliss and said: "I am afraid he is dying." Dr. Bliss, however, took a more hopeful view of the case, and thought the large recuperative power of the patient would enable him to rally. During these hours of anxious suspense the excitement in and about the ex-Speaker's house was intense. Telegrams were being received from all parts of the country, anxiously inquiring about Mr. Blaine's condition, and replies were dispatched as soon as there was any improvement manifested upon which to base a hope that he would recover. Last week Mr. Blaine, in order to insure rapid and constant communication with his friends at Cincinnati, had a telegraph wire run into his house, and to-day an operator was kept busy replying to the numerous messages received from all parts of the country.

Mr. Blaine was taken about 11 o'clock in the morning, and save the words he spoke when he reached his own house he did not speak afterwards until 4¼ o'clock. For the first two hours he seemed insensible. His eyes were wide open and staring, his features without expression, but gradually his eyes wore a more intelligent look, and his features improved, and although he said nothing he seemed to be conscious of what was taking place. He groaned two or three times during the day but until late did not move hand or foot. His eyes occasionally turned, and sometimes the lids dropped over them. General Sherman, who bent over the bed shortly before 4 o'clock, said in quite a loud voice: "Blaine, do you not know me?" The lips seemed to move a little but no response came. Some time afterward Mrs. Blaine said, "James, do you not know me?" He then spoke her name distinctly, and subsequently asked, "What is it?" and then again, "Where am I?" He afterward recognized his children and Miss Dodge, and spoke once to a friend who stood at the foot of the bed. From that time forward he gave every indication of gradual improvement.

The following telegram was sent to Congressman Hale at 11:30 to-night stating Mr. Blaine's condition at that hour:

"Mr. Blaine has arisen from his bed, sat in his chair several minutes, and conversed with his physicians. He is gaining strength steadily.

(Signed) "G. W. POPE, M. D.
"T. VERDI, M. D."

Surgeon General Barnes stated this afternoon to Mrs. Blaine and others that he entirely coincides with Dr. Verdi in regarding every symptom of Mr. Blaine's condition as very favorable.

The sub-Judiciary Committee to-day addressed a letter to the physicians of Mr. Blaine, inquiring as to the probable time when he will be able to appear before the committee, and have dismissed the witnesses for two weeks.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—At this hour (1:30 A. M.) Mr. Blaine is quietly sleeping. His breathing is perfectly natural, and there is no change from the very encouraging signs manifested during the afternoon and night.

Billiard Tournament.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Cyrille Dion and Maurice Daly commenced a billiard match for $1,000 a side to-night, four games of 500 points each to be played. Daly won. Score—500 to 478; Daly's highest run 128, Dion's 63; average 10 10-49.

BLAINE AND BRISTOW.

A Story of Ill-feeling Between Them Denied.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—In view of the incorrect stories in circulation touching the relations of Messrs. Blaine and Bristow, the latter was called upon to-day to state the nature and result of their interview on Saturday night, but declined to make any communications other than that his relations with Mr. Blaine have never been otherwise than friendly. As to the conversation with Mr. Blaine on Saturday night, Mr. Bristow said Governor Dennison was present, and he preferred that any statement of what occurred should come from him.

Governor Dennison, being called upon, accordingly wrote out and signed the following statement:

"WASHINGTON, June 12, 1876.

"I make the following statement of the interview between Messrs. Blaine and Bristow on Saturday night, June 10, my memory being fresh as to what transpired at the interview, and for the reason that it may be important to the friends of these gentlemen to know the object and character of the interview. Last Thursday night, June 8, while traveling to New York, I met an acquaintance. In the course of a conversation with him he mentioned as a fact that he knew Blaine felt very unkindly towards Bristow because of his belief of Bristow being responsible in some way for the charges made against him (Blaine), and which are now attracting public attention. He mentioned especially one of a peculiarly offensive character, as to which I said, in reply, that it was impossible that Col. Bristow could ever have had any connection with it. Yesterday afternoon Col. Bristow called at my house and showed me a letter which he had received from a friend in New York, informing him that the gentleman I had met on the cars had communicated to him (the New York friend) the same story as he had to me. Col. Bristow expressed to me his unwillingness for this story to be uncontradicted to Blaine one moment beyond the earliest opportunity to make a denial, and as the story had been mentioned to me, and my name was mentioned in the letter from New York, he requested me to accompany him to Blaine's last evening, to which I readily assented. We found Mr. Blaine at his house. He received us very cordially, and Bristow remarked to him he desired to call his attention to the contents of his letter from New York, so far as they related to the story referred to, saying at the same time that there were several other matters which he wished to talk over with Blaine, but would defer doing so until after next week, referring, as was understood, to the Cincinnati Convention as a reason for the delay in respect of such matter, but, as he said, this story was of so vile a character that he could not permit a day to pass without having it fully understood with Mr. Blaine. He then read to Blaine so much of the letter as related to the story. Mr. Blaine, without hesitation and in an emphatic manner, disclaimed ever having heard Mr. Bristow's name connected with the origin or the publication of the story, and said that neither he nor any member of his family, nor friends, ever charged or, as I inferred from his disclaimer, ever suspected Bristow of having had any connection with or being in any sense responsible for the story. Bristow remarked to him that his first knowledge of the existence of the story was from Blaine himself, and referred to the time and place of its communication by Blaine to him. Bristow having now declaimed all knowledge of the story, and Blaine having fully acquitted him of all responsibility in connection with it, as well as of all others of the many accusations against him, all of which was done in a mutually friendly way, Bristow and I were about to take our leave. I should add here that prior to this I had given in detail the statement of the gentleman to me on the cars, and mentioned the fact that although a personal acquaintance of some years, I could not recall his name, and upon my description of him to Blaine he remembered him, and mentioned his name, saying at the time that the gentleman, although known to him, was not an intimate acquaintance, and that in fact he had never met him but three times, and recalled him with some difficulty on meeting him for a moment in Washington on Wednesday evening. As before remarked, we were about taking our leave, when Mr. Blaine urged in a kindly manner that we should keep our seat, which we did, and the conversation became somewhat general in its character, but in every sense friendly on the part of both Blaine and Bristow. The whole interview was characterized by the most friendly manifestation on the part of Blaine toward Bristow, and nothing occurred to suggest any doubt of his having the freindly regard of which he made mention, and in this spirit the visit was closed. I purposely omit reference to any other matter of the conversation, as my object in making this statement is to explain as fully as can be necessary all that occurred in respect to the story to which I have referred, and to say, as I have already said, that the interview was in every respect of a most friendly and pleasant character, and was not intended to and did not have any political significance. It may not be improper for me to say, with more emphasis then I have, that Blaine, in the course of the conversation, mentioned the fact of statements having been made to him from time to time connecting Bristow with the charges made against him (Blaine), as to all of which, he said, he never gave any credence whatever.

CINCINNATI.

Forming the Lines for the Great Battle.

THE OVERFLOW OF VISITORS IN THE CITY.

The Current of Gossip Concerning Candidates Prospects.

BLAINE STILL THE FAVORITE OF THE FIELD.

How the Preliminary Work is Being Done.

FACTS AND FANCIES FROM ALL QUARTERS.

Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

CINCINNATI, June 12, 1876.

All day long the crowds have been pouring into the city, and the streets have resounded with the music which heralds the coming of the delegations. The city, however, seems to have a capacity for royally entertaining all who come, and so far all visitors have been comfortably cared for, and I have heard no dissatisfaction expressed at the arrangements made. The tide, however, has not yet reached its height, and Cincinnati may yet have its hands more than full to entertain all who come. Notwithstanding the crowds, however, and the interest which naturally centers in the Convention, there is comparatively little excitement. All the work is being done rather quietly, and I believe after all the Convention will be one of the least turbulent and one of the most harmonious known in the annals of the party. The supporters of the different candidates are warm in their advocacy of their favorite, but so far as I have observed there is no disposition to raise a breeze just for the sake of excitement or out of pique. This is the general outlook now, and unless something unusually ruffling in its nature is stirred up, harmony and good feeling will prevail. This fact is indicated by the apparent desire of the supporters of the leading candidates to have no fight over the organization. The Blaine men will make no fight, but they suggest, for the sake of harmony, Pomeroy, of New York, for Temporary, and General Harlan, of Kentucky, for Permanent Chairman. The indications are that this will be acceptable. Blaine controls the organization, but does not propose to use this power, and so suggests one Conkling man and one Bristow man for presiding officers. The friends of the Maine statesman are evidently conscious that they are so strong that the usual little tactical advantages are not necessary. They feel that they can go before the Convention and win without trouble.

The sudden illness of Mr. Blaine has been very freely discussed to-day, and the news from Washington has been eagerly received. His illness, so far as my observation has extended, has gained him much sympathy and made him new friends, instead of weakening his forces. It is hard to tell just how the situation stands, and nothing positive can be arrived at until after the caucus meetings to-morrow, but the facts show that Blaine still leads the field, and is so far in advance that his nomination is almost a certainty. Nevertheless, his friends are not sleeping, but are quietly and energetically working.

The friends of Conkling and Bristow are very active, particularly the former, who claim that "New York's favorite son" will make a stronger showing than his opponents have any idea of. In contradiction of this statement there is talk of a slight disagreement in the New York delegation in the interest of Blaine. They say some of the men who shout on the outside for Conkling, in the inside councils are for Blaine. I don't know how much truth there is in this, but give it for what it is worth.

All the States but the Keystone were established in headquarters to-day, and banners were flying and doors were hospitably open. The Pennsylvania boys came up to time this evening and opened their headquarters in conspicuous style in the Grand Hotel, and are now in working order. They will stand by Hartranft. Hartranft is considered as a possible candidate in case Blaine is withdrawn, owing to his illness.

There has been considerable billing and cooing to-day between the different delegations. Some of the Western delegations with bands playing and colors flying serenaded their Eastern friends, and then the men from the East had to return the compliment, so that the sound of the music has hardly ceased during the past twelve hours.

The weather is intensely hot. The delegates and visitors will generally be glad when all is over and they can shake the dust of Porkopolis from their feet. L.

SECOND DISPATCH.

Indications of a Bolt.

11:30 P. M.—The Pennsylvania delegates here have been informally canvassing the situation here to-night, and although the full delegation is not yet on hand, a sufficient number are here to show the general drift. The indications point to a little breeze to-morrow in caucus, and a bolt in the Convention after the second ballot. John Hampton, of Allegheny, who is one of Blaine's most enthusiastic adherents, will lead the "bolters." They say they will stand by Hartranft so long as it appears that he has any chance, but they will not be bound to stand by him after the second ballot, unless they have some indications that their adherence will result in something more than mere compliment for him. Don Cameron is trying to "fix things" so as to have the delegation stand by Hartranft to the very last, as a unit, but it does not seem that he will be successful. Three-fourths of the delegation have Blaine for second choice, and want to vote for him at least after giving Hartranft support on not more than two ballots. It is quite likely there will be a pretty row in the delegation in case there is any attempt to stand by Hartranft after hope for him has gone. L.

Anxiety About Blaine's Health.

CINCINNATI, June 12.—The greatest anxiety has been felt by all parties to-day concerning the condition of Mr. Blaine. A number of dispatches have been received, all stating that he was improving rapidly, and in a day or two would be completely restored. Some parties declared it to be the fact that Mr. Blaine's illness was being used to weaken his force, and especially to prevent any sympathy being excited in his favor to the extent of winning doubtful delegates to his support.

A sensational dispatch to the Enquirer from Washington to the effect that Mr. Bristow had called upon Mr. Blaine in his prostrate condition, and was repelled by Mr. Blaine, causes considerable comment. Mr. Frye, leader of the Blaine faction, says he does not believe the statement, as there has been no allusion to it in his dispatches, and furthermore, he knew Mr. Blaine and Mr. Bristow were friendly, and always had been.

Speculations.

CINCINNATI, June 12.—The Morton men, starting with the assumption that Blaine will not recover in time to secure in the Convention the vote he otherwise would, even if presented there at all, are in much better spirits to-day than yesterday, claiming that the danger of the defeat of their candidate has lessened, and that what danger he has to fear comes from a new source, not, as yesterday, from Conkling, but from Hayes. They assert that the efforts made by the Conkling men to secure the Southern votes, that being supposed to be the most vulnerable quarter, have failed, and that the delegates from that section, colored and white, remain as yet faithful to those whom they were pledged to support. The chief reliance of Morton is on accessions which, it is believed, will come to him from Blaine men in the Northwest and Northeast, should it be found that the latter could not be nominated. It is claimed that a third of Iowa, a portion of Wisconsin, a share of Michigan, a fraction of Illinois, and a pretty full vote from Maine will go for Morton when Blaine drops out. The number to be thus obtained from Illinois is not as large as has been claimed by some. Col. Ingersol and about five others will probably make up all that can be obtained from that source. Rather to the disappointment of Indianians, the delegation from Indiana is asserted to be determined to stick to Morton to the bitter end, and have no second choice.

Owing to Blaine's attack on Sunday, the aggressive warfare on the part of his friends was not very active to-day, and much of their time was necessarily spent in reassuring the delegates who had been alarmed by the tone of some of the dispatches which were received from Washington. These apparent unfavorable telegrams were met by others received from his family, and it cannot be safely said that as yet any votes have been lost to him by reason of his sickness. Should his condition remain unimproved for twenty-four hours more, however, there are said to be several who would support him only on an informal and possibly the first formal ballot.

The Bristow men are making claims that on the second formal ballot their candidate will have two hundred votes. They say that instead of two votes formerly allowed Bristow in Illinois, he will have six, and after a ballot or two nearly all Missouri will unite on him. They admit that as yet their force is chiefly made up of scatterers of a few delegates from each State, but they claim that those will stand firm against all pressure and persuasion, and will not allow themselves to be coersed into letting their States vote as a unit. Yet many of them seem to entertain no faith in Bristow's nomination, saying that after Blaine is disposed of, Morton and Conkling will unite to slay Bristow, if in no other may, by giving the nomination to Hayes.

There was a meeting of Bristow men to-day, at which Solicitor Wilson was present as leading spirit. They counted up one hundred and sixty votes, which they claim certain for Bristow on the first formal ballot.

Senator Logan in the Blaine Ranks.

This evening Senator Logan claims that Blaine will have three hundred and nine votes on the first formal ballot, and on the second will secure enough waiverers to put him through.

The Senator denies the statement that he is at heart for Conkling, asserting that the choice of the Convention must be between Blaine and the Senator from New York, and that he is strongly in favor of the former.

Conkling's Retainers' Quiet Work.

The Conkling men have done nothing to-day except in secret. They have been conferring together, and have kindly seen that the idle delegates from the South have had pleasant and enjoyable rides in the suburbs of the city without any expense. The Conkling men have also, it is reported, approached the California and Nevada delegates with a proposition to take care of all expenses incurred by them in attending the Convention if they should be able to see that the good of the country required the nomination of Roscoe Conkling.

The Convention Organization.

The Convention will be called to order by Gov. Morgan, of New York, Chairman of the National Central Committee, who will make a brief address, not exceeding five minutes in length. Then Judge Stanley Mathews, temporary presiding officer, will address the Convention, after which committees on credentials, resolutions, etc., will be appointed.

The Alabama Contest.

The contested seats from Alabama will be the first matter which will come before the Convention which will create any discussion. It will be preceded only by formal business. When the report of the Committee on Credentials is received it is proposed by some to settle the difficult point by admitting neither, but the feeling among Blaine, Morton and Conkling men seems to be in favor of admitting what is known as the Spencer delegation, since its members will vote for Bristow, who is regarded as a common enemy, and since the friends of each of the three candidates above named hoped for strength from the Spencer delegation, which they claim has a shadow more of legality about it than the Warner one.

Ohio Enthusiastic for Hayes.

The Ohio men have grown to be very enthusiastic for Hayes. They held two meetings this afternoon, and evening, at which reports were made by prominent members of the delegation, who have been in conference with other delegations, going to show that there is a general feeling of confidence in the ultimate nomination of Gov. Hayes as a compromise candidate. It was stated at the meeting that Missouri had said that with Blaine out of the way, the majority of the delegates would go over to Hayes and the remainder to Morton. Prominent Massachusetts delegates, it was also said, have assured Ohio delegates that all they desired was that Ohio should stand firm on the ballots and Massachusetts would eventually come to the support of Hayes.

Colorado Enthusiastic for Blaine.

The Colorado delegation arrived in force this morning. Gov. Routt, who accompanies them, said the Territory is actually ablaze for Mr. Blaine. The people of that embryo State remember that on the last night of the last session of Congress Speaker Blaine recognized Representative Hoskins, of New York, on the Colorado bill, and thus made its passage possible. The result is, Gov. Routt says, that among the Republicans every man, woman and child is for Mr. Blaine, besides many of the Democrats, and if he is nominated bonfires will be kindled on every peak of the Rocky Mountains, and the people will actually go wild.

Talk of a Bristow-Morton Alliance.

An alliance between the forces of Senator Morton and Secretary Bristow in favor of the latter is one of the things talked about as possible, though not very probable. The argument advanced by those who believe that the nomination is to be made in this way is substantially this: It is very probable that the time will come when, if Senator Morton does not seem to be on the high road to the nomination, his friends will think it wise to withdraw his name in favor of some other man who by his aid can win the prize; in such an event it is hardly probable that Senator Conkling will get his votes, because Mr. Morton and his friends are greatly offended at Presidents Grant's interference in favor of New York's "favorite son" after it had been generally understood that he should maintain a neutral position in regard to the two Senators during the entire canvass for the nomination. It won't go to Mr. Blaine because of the animosities that have sprung up between the friends of each, and it will probably have to choose between Secretary Bristow and Governor Hayes; as the former will probably be the stronger, and seems to be more of a favorite with the colored delegates than Gov. Hayes, it will naturally be toward him that the Morton delegates will gravitate. This is reasoning upon a very slight foundation of fact, but it is a sample of much that is heard about the hotel corridors.

Ohio in the Market.

This apparent desire of the Ohio delegation to be considered as "in the market" attracts to them the agents of the other candidates, who are anxious to pick up at almost any reasonable price stray votes or whole delegations that may be for sale, not for money, though it is possible that may be used before the Convention is over, but in the way of barter. The offers made by the Conkling, Morton, and Blaine men to the Ohio delegation have been the same—that the second place on the ticket shall be given to Gov. Hayes, provided the vote of the State, after having been cast once or twice as a compliment in accordance with the instructions of the State Convention, shall be transferred to the candidate with whom the bargain is made. The Ohio delegation has listened to these several offers, but has neither accepted nor rejected them. The apparent disposition is to wait for future developments before making any trade. In this way it is hoped that the bargain, if it shall be eventually made, will be the most favorable. Besides this a considerable portion of the delegation cannot be transferred by any arrangement to which they are not a party. There are among them some very enthusiastic supporters of Mr. Blaine, and their number is variously estimated at from a dozen to twenty. They will refuse to vote for Mr. Conkling or Mr. Morton, no matter what kind of a trade may be made. If Mr. Blaine's vote on the first ballot is anywhere near as great as his friends now hope it will be, and is held on the second, it would not be at all surprising if some of these men changed their votes from Governor Hayes to Mr. Blaine before the result of the ballot is announced. Others are original Bristow men, and will not be delivered to any other condidate until they have cast a vote for him.

How Blaine's Case Stands.

The condition of Mr. Blaine's canvass at this moment, according to the testimony of his friends, may be briefly described. His support in the West and Northwest is stronger and more determined than it has ever been. No defections are reported, while gains are recorded in several directions. With the exception of Nevada, the Blaine party expects to have the vote of every Territory. In New England there may have been a few changes from Mr. Blaine to Mr. Bristow, but they have not been numerous, and have nearly all been discounted long ago. These changes are more than compensated for by gains from other quarters of "second-choice" delegates, that is those who will vote for Mr. Blaine after having obeyed their instructions or done all in their power for their favorite. Mr. Blaine's friends claim nearly enough with those who will support him from the first to nominate him.

Small Gains for Bristow.

The outlook for Mr. Bristow has apparently changed very little during the past two days. The entire delegation from Kentucky is now here, and their headquarters on the main floor of the Burnet House are the most extensive and attractive of all at that hotel. General John M. Harlan and his delegation are very quiet in their methods of work, and report constant but not very great gains. The most encouraging signs for Mr. Bristow come from the East. A few delegates from Massachusetts and Vermont who it was supposed would vote for Mr. Blaine, but were not counted upon very confidently by any one, arrived last night and this morning, and are very unwilling to talk about their preferences. The friends of Mr. Bristow claim that they will vote for their candidate, and as they are not credited to any other the claim may be well founded. Besides these, stray votes for Mr. Bristow are discovered in several other arriving delegations. For instance, Nevada has been placed in the Conkling column ever since it was announced that Senator Jones had hired a house for the entertainment of its delegates, and would himself bring Senator Sharon's proxy in his pocket; but one of the Nevada delegates who was present at a meeting of the Cincinnati Bristow Club last evening, and heard the eloquent speech of Mr. Burdett, a colored delegate from Henry Clay's old district in Kentucky, said subsequently in a speech that he should certainly vote for Kentucky's "favorite son." He had entertained some doubts about the proper course for him to pursue before his arrival here, but these had now been entirely removed. The savage warfare which the local press of Cincinnati has made upon Mr. Blaine has really helped Mr. Bristow very little, if indeed it has not on the other hand positively injured him. The movement to transfer a large block of the Southern delegates from Mr. Morton to Mr. Bristow, after the former shall have disappeared as a candidate, seems to have gathered very little momentum. The Southern delegates are very slow in arriving, and the meeting for the consideration of the policy which those from that section will adopt will probably be postponed until to-day.

The Pennsylvania Delegation.

The Pennsylvania delegation will decide upon their line of action in the caucus today. There is a strong sentiment in favor of Mr. Blaine, which threatens to assert itself if any attempt is made to turn the delegation over to Conkling. The instruction to vote as a unit will hold as long as Hartranft is a candidate, but it is almost certain that an effort to hold the delegation after leaving him will meet with disaster. The feeling for Hartranft is the genuine expression of the sentiment of the people of Pennsylvania, and there are very many men on the delegation who really look to his nomination as probable. They think by holding steadily to him when other candidates begin to lose he will gain, and they regard him as the strongest of the compromise candidates. They recognize that there is no undercurrent from outside in his favor, but do not on that account feel discouraged. The Pennsylvania delegation, whatever motive controls it, fortunately will best serve the prospect of securing a good nomination by adhering to Gov. Hartranft, for the State could probably nominate Blaine if it should really desire it. If the faith that some have in the nomination of Pennsylvania's "favorite son" could be realized, the candidate would surely be a man above reproach in private and public life, a good soldier, a clear-headed, firm, modest man. No one outside of Pennsylvania expects his nomination, but if his real attitude toward Pennsylvania politics were better known, he would be a more formidable candidate.

Conkling's Chances.

The Conkling men are jubilant and enormously exaggerating and overestimating their gains. They pretend to be confident of success on the third or fourth ballot; but the same confidence is expressed and the same assertions are most positively made by the supporters of Messrs. Morton and Blaine, and, unlike Conkling's friends, they make no secret of where they expect their strength to come from. They are indeed ready to sit down with inquiring delegates and tell them just what they count on, what pledges have been made to them, and how much or how little confidence they place in these pledges. The Conkling game, on the other hand, is in every way a secret and underhand one. The leaders profess, in a general way, that they are confident of victory, and they boldly declare that their candidate will receive at least one hundred and fifty votes on the first ballot, but they maintain the closest secrecy as to where these votes are to come from. I have been at some pains to discover what foundation they have for their claims, and find that Mr. Conkling may receive about one hundred votes on the first ballot, but that he cannot count with any degree of certainty upon even that number.

The Philadelphia Club.

The Hartranft club of Philadelphia, one hundred and twent-five in number, arrived this evening, accompanied by a band, and marched to the Burnet House. The members are uniformed, wearing black cloth suits and white dress hats, and a handsome portrait badge of their favorite candidate. Among the more prominent men in the party were Col. Wm. B. Mann, Wm. R. Leeds, Gen. H. H. Bingham, Postmaster Fairman, Mayor Stokely, and Gideon Clarke.

Endorsing Bristow.

An enthusiastic Bristow meeting was held to-night at Pike's Opera House, at which were over 1,000 people present. It was the forerunner of a still larger outpouring to-night at the same hall. The meeting was presided over by Mr. T. D. Lincoln, one of Cincinnati's eminent jurists, and an out-and-out Bristow man. After some able introductory remarks by the chairman, in which allusion was made to Secretary Bristow's fitness for the Presidency, the meeting was addressed by Prof. P. H. Phynds, of Ann Arbor, Michigan, a delegate to the Convention. Prof. Phynds' eloquent tribute to Bristow's record for honesty and fearlessness in his administration of revenue affairs was warmly applauded. He was followed by Mr. George Walker, of the Reform Club of New York, who reviewed Secretary Bristow's governmental services in connection with civil service reform, and referred in terms of the highest praise to his capability for filling the office of President.

That part of his address which reviewed Mr. Bristow's thorough convictions on the subject of honesty in the administration of the Government and his devotion to the hard-money principle struck the keynote. It was listened to with the deepest interest, and the speaker was rewarded with loud and long applause. He was followed by General Finnell, of Kentucky, an old friend of General Bristow, and therefore the better qualified to speak of the famous Secretary's war career. He did not fail to show that on the field of battle General Bristow was ever as brave and true to his duty as he has been since entering the public service.

Mr. Geo. F. Clark, of Colorado, but formerly of Cincinnati, made some eloquent remarks descriptive of his belief in Bristow as the only man to unite all opposition and win a glorious Republican victory this fall.

The last speaker of the evening was Mr. Geo. Dufee, a colored man from Kentucky, who warmly advocated Bristow's claims to the Presidency, and spoke in encouraging terms of his strength in Kentucky.

The meeting was an unqualified success, and was the precursor of another and larger turnout for to-morrow evening, when Dr. Bellows, of New York, and Jas. Freeman Clarke, of Boston, are expected to address the meeting. The Bristow delegates to the Convention are highly pleased with the result of this evening's meeting, showing, as it does, the local strength of their candidate, and arguing well for the great contest of the week.

Where Curtis Stands.

During the day Mr. George William Curtis has been in consultation with Mr. Ellis H. Roberts, of Utica, and with Gen. Harlan and other friends of Bristow. He has not yet publicly expressed a preference for any candidate, but it is generally understood that he will make a strong and characteristic speech in opposition to the nomination of Mr. Conkling.

What Will Morgan Say.

Gov. Morgan, who as Chairman of the National Committee will call the convention to order, has arrived, and is at the Burnet House. He is accompanied by Mrs. Morgan. There is much eagerness to learn the position which he will assume in his opening speech.

The Conkling Game of Bluff.

The one most marked feature of the last few days of what may be called the fight before the Convention, has been the extraordinary efforts made by the supporters of Senator Conkling to talk their favorite into prominence. All the hotels are filled with New York men, the streets are lined with them, and, indeed, it seems almost as if they had captured the city and were occupying it to the exclusion of the delegates from the other States. Their confidence, or perhaps it would be better to say their assumed confidence, is quite remarkable, as is their drill and organization. The machine is in the very best working order, and represented only by its smooth-spoken, well-dressed, and presentable adherents. No others have been allowed to come to Cincinnati. It is continually puffing and blowing in the by-ways and highways, as well as in the committee rooms and hotel lobbies. Every Conkling shouter, and there are at least fifteen hundred of them here, is labeled with a blue badge bearing the name of the favorite son, and headed by an admirable brass band, they make periodical trips from one hotel to another, cheering for the Senator from New York. Of course, this kind of work is left entirely to what may be called the small fry. The leaders, however, are not idle. Mr. A. B. Cornell has gone to work with an energy and determination which almost inspires his followers, and with that knowledge of the machinery of politics for which he is noted, he has assigned to every prominent Conkling man here a specific duty, for the faithful performance of which he is held to a strict account. It has been ascertained to a nicety what States, outside of New York men, like Charles E. Smith, of Albany, Senator Tobey, Police Commissioner Wheeler, Charles E. Fitch, of Rochester, District Attorney Bliss, John I. Davenport, and Collector Daniels, of Buffalo, are most familiar with, and what delegations they can most easily influence, and they have been regularly instructed to work where they can do the most good. So far has the system been carried that cards have been prepared upon which the instructions and the names of persons to be visited, talked to, and influenced, have been plainly noted. So, for instance, if one of the gentlemen happened to have traveled in Europe on familiar terms with a prominent delegate from, say, Connecticut or Massachusetts, he is commissioned to see that delegate, and warned, upon pain of the displeasure of all true Conkling men, not to come back until he has made a favorable impression upon and secured some kind of a pledge from him. The amount of work of this kind which is being done here is almost beyond belief, and it is of course not without some result. Indeed, there can be no doubt that four or five delegates have been won over the way indicated.

Forming Against Blaine.

A dispatch to the New York Times says: "Blaine really is formidable, as all agree, and the first labor of all opposing forces is to keep Blaine from getting new votes, rather than in increasing the number of their own. The Conkling men welcome the Bristow votes in New England, and the Bristow men would be glad to find half a dozen votes for Conkling in Illinois to break the unity of that delegation. There is a well-defined fear that Blaine may have votes sufficient to nominate him on the first ballot, by reason of unlooked for changes, if he should poll, as his friends claim, a full vote of 300 on the roll call. The judgment of well-informed people is that such a result is impossible, but they are not comfortably sure. He seems to have all his original strength, and if recent developments have hurt his prospects in the convention, it is in the power of growth. It seems to be admitted that he will have his greatest number of votes on the first ballot, and 274 is believed to be a high figure, while 250 are all that are freely conceded. No clear estimate can be made up before Tuesday night, even if it will then be possible.

Avoiding a Stampede.

It is well known that many nominations, both in State and National Conventions, have been made by what is known as stampedes. A candidate runs ahead of all competitors, but while yet far short of the required number of votes some county or State which has not kept tally supposes the plurality man to be nominated, and wishing to be on the winning side changes to him. A notable case of this kind was at Philadelphia in 1872, when Colfax had a majority when the roll call was concluded; but it was so close that Virginia was deceived, and changing her vote to the shoemaker of Natick, nominated Henry Wilson by the contagion of the example, for, as it always happens, many other States followed Virginia's lead. It is now proposed to put a stop to these performances by adopting a rule that no changes of votes shall be permitted until after the result of a ballot has been announced by the Chair. That such a rule will be offered and advocated in Convention is quite probable; that it will have many warm friends and many earnest opponents is equally certain. What its ultimate fate will be no one can tell. The matter has been much discussed among the delegates to-day, and opinions appeared to be about equally divided upon it. If the friends of the leading candidates are convinced that it will help them, the rule will be adopted, and if they conclude that will hurt them, it will be rejected.

Floating Scraps.

The District of Columbia has no right to representation, which it only had in 1872 because of the Territorial Government then in existence, and the possession of a delegate in Congress. The Convention will probably not admit any delegates.

Boss Shepherd has not put in an appearance yet, and it is rumored that he has been particularly appealed to by the friends of Mr. Conkling to stay away.

There is talk of depriving, by resolution of the Convention, all Territories of a right to a voting representation, because they cast no votes in the Electoral College.

The Hartranft club of Philadelphia, accompanied by McClure's band, arrived this evening.

Senator Jones has a whole house rented for the Pacific coast crowd. His instructions to his agent were to rent a house, if possible; if not, to buy. The lavishness of the entertainment is said to be unprecedented, and it is all for Conkling.

Col. Schuyler Crosby, of the Republican Club of New York, has perpetrated a great joke on the Republican Reform Club of New York. The latter, it is well known, is unanimous for Bristow, and having stretched its title on canvas across the entire front of the Gibson House, Crosby to-day placed under it in equally huge letters, "For President, Roscoe Conkling." As a consequence of this strategy the Reform Club has been all day declaring in the largest capitals its preference of Roscoe Conkling for the Presidency.

A CHURCH HORROR.

The Gallery and Floor Give Away—The Contractor Killed and Thirty Others Injured.

HOUTZDALE, PA., June 12.—Yesterday the congregation of the Catholic Church assembled in their new but unfinished building. Just as Father Meagher began the service the gallery and floor underneath fell with a terrific crash, killing D. C. Nelson, the contractor of the building, and wounding thirty others, some seriously.

Destructive Conflagration.

KINGSTON, ONT., June 12.—A fire to-night destroyed Foot's bakery, Hersey's hardware store, Ferguson's block, one of the finest in the city, the American Hotel, Bruce's block, Brown's new building, the Albion Hotel, and a number of other stores. At this hour (11:30) the fire is still burning furiously, but is thought to be under control. Several explosions of gunpowder took place in the hardware stores destroyed, causing a panic among the vast multitude assembled. The fire is already the most disastrous for many years. Early in the evening telegrams were sent asking Belleville and Napanee to send their engines, but later in the night the order was countermanded. The loss up to the present time will probably reach $150,000.

Death by Lightning.

SPRINGFIELD, TENN., June 12.—A. P. Owens, Jesse Owens, John A. Murphy, Arch Randolph, Henry Davidson, white men, and Ike Doss, colored, were killed, and Sam Mandy, white, mortally wounded, and James Murphy, white, shocked by lightning this evening at two o'clock, six miles east of here. The white men were gentlemen of high character, and their unfortunate death has cast a gloom over the neighborhood. They had been cutting wheat, and had stepped under a tree out of the rain, and while under it were struck by lightning.

Speaker Kerr's Condition.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Dr. G. W. Pope, Mr. Kerr's attending physician, makes the following statement this afternoon: Mr. Kerr had a severe attack of malarious fever and exhausting diarrhœa, followed by violent interalgia, or neuralgia of the abdominal nerves. The disease is now under control. He had a very good night, and feels decidedly better to-day. Should no untoward symptoms occur, he will convalesce rapidly and be restored to his usual health in a few days.

EX-SPEAKER BLAINE.

Convalescing Very Rapidly.

All Danger of a Fatal Result Passed.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The following telegram was sent by Dr. Verdi this evening to Congressman Hale at Cincinnati:

"Mr. Blaine's condition has steadily improved all day. Another night's rest, it is expected, will restore so much of his nervous power as to have his exhaustion entirely disappear. It is now only a question of time for the restoration of his usual strength.

(Signed) "T. S. VERDI."

President Grant's Sympathy.

The President returned to Washington this afternoon from Annapolis. Soon after his arrival at the Executive Mansion the President sent a messenger to Mr. Blaine's residence to ascertain the condition of that gentleman.

Mrs. Blaine has been very calm and collected throughout, and never lost hope. While friends and relatives were shedding tears and giving way to their sorrow on Sunday, she with strong self-control was quietly nursing her stricken husband.

The strain upon Mr. Blaine's mind of late has been enormous, and he was in a condition of nervous prostration that showed itself at the slightest opportunity. Had he not been a man of correct habits it is probable that the attack would have killed him, but no man in public life has taken better care of himself than Mr. Blaine. He uses neither liquor nor tobacco in any shape, and rarely drinks a glass of wine at dinner. He eats simple food and sleeps regularly and long. He has for thirty years come as near obeying nature's laws as it is given for men to understand them, and at forty-six—his present age—he was counted as handsome a man physically as there was in public life. To this is doubtless due his present apparent certainty of recovery. His family say that Mr. Blaine has been greatly affected lately by the combination of attacks which seemed to have been hurled against him, as by one common impulse, from every direction. The ordinary contentions of party, the prolonged strain of political work which ordinarily breaks down statesmen, would never have broken him. He has stood such strains for years under most exciting circumstances, whithout showing it. While he was Speaker, a period of six years, he was never out of his chair on account of sickness. The attacks however that have been lately made affected his private character and seemed to break him down. While he has so much courage, audacity, and fire, he is said to be, at heart, as sensitive as a child.

The following additional and interesting details of Mr. Blaine's illness are taken from a special dispatch to the New York Tribune:

Mr. Blaine rose in the morning at the usual time, took a bath, read the papers, and about 9½ o'clock his wife advised him to go down to the parlor, which was cooler and more comfortable. He said in reply that he wanted his breakfast first, as he was quite hungry. His breakfast was ordered to his room, and although it was a light one, he ate more heartily than usual. He played with his children for a time and was in excellent humor. He said he had not felt so well for some time. He remarked about his pleasant night's sleep and spoke cheerfully of his prospects at Cincinnati.

He conversed with Mr. Sherman, his Secretary, and dictated several dispatches to his friends. He also received, read, and filed a number of letters and telegrams, and was especially interested in a long dispatch from his colleague, Hale, regarding the contest at Cincinnati. The morning passed in the usual manner, and shortly before 11 o'clock his wife asked him if he was going to church. He answered that he would go along in a moment if she would wait. He joined her presently, and when the family, consisting also of Miss Dodge and two young daughters of Mr. Blaine, stepped out on the sidewalk, Mrs. Blaine reminded her husband that it was very warm and they had better ride. Mr. Blaine said he had rather walk, and so the five started out. The morning was intensely hot, and their walk was directly east.

The ladies had sun umbrellas, but Mr. Blaine's head was unprotected. The distance from their house on Fifteenth street, between H and I streets, to the Rev. Dr. Rankin's Congregational Church at Tenth and D streets, is probably something over half a mile. Reference during the walk was made to the extreme heat, but Mr. Blaine made little complaint of it. When he reached the steps of the church, however, he put his handkerchief to his eyes in a strange manner, and his wife asked what was the matter and if he had anything in his eyes. He said "No, but I think I am struck; oh, my head," and he sank down insensible in his wife's arms at the threshold of the church. His little daughter Hattie, about five years old, ran into the church and told Gen. Ballock, who was at the door, that her father had fainted.

On the steps of the church his wife held his head in her lap, and the rest of the family bent over her, none knowing whether death had already overtaken him. Assistance was soon at hand. A passing omnibus was reined up against the walk, and the inanimate form was carefully lifted within. Arriving at the house Mr. Blaine was taken inside, and by a strong effort said: "Lay me on the floor." He was at once stretched on the parlor floor, his shoes removed, his collar thrown open, and a cushion placed under his head. A bed was at once brought down, and Mr. Blaine was placed upon it. Physicians were sent for and soon arrived, and careful hands have smoothed his pillow all day.

It would be difficulty to describe the excitement that spread through the city. Crowds gathered at the hotels and shady places, and before half an hour the walk in front of Mr. Blaine's residence was filled with anxious visitors.

For four hours the unfavorable symptoms continued, and the doctors held frequent and earnest consultations. One or two, and sometimes all of them, were about the bedside watching every action, and once when the patient seemed gasping for breath, Surgeon General Barnes, with a troubled look, turned to Dr. Bliss and said: "I am afraid he is dying." Dr. Bliss, however, took a more hopeful view of the case, and thought the large recuperative power of the patient would enable him to rally. During these hours of anxious suspense the excitement in and about the ex-Speaker's house was intense. Telegrams were being received from all parts of the country, anxiously inquiring about Mr. Blaine's condition, and replies were dispatched as soon as there was any improvement manifested upon which to base a hope that he would recover. Last week Mr. Blaine, in order to insure rapid and constant communication with his friends at Cincinnati, had a telegraph wire run into his house, and to-day an operator was kept busy replying to the numerous messages received from all parts of the country.

Mr. Blaine was taken about 11 o'clock in the morning, and save the words he spoke when he reached his own house he did not speak afterwards until 4¼ o'clock. For the first two hours he seemed insensible. His eyes were wide open and staring, his features without expression, but gradually his eyes wore a more intelligent look, and his features improved, and although he said nothing he seemed to be conscious of what was taking place. He groaned two or three times during the day but until late did not move hand or foot. His eyes occasionally turned, and sometimes the lids dropped over them. General Sherman, who bent over the bed shortly before 4 o'clock, said in quite a loud voice: "Blaine, do you not know me?" The lips seemed to move a little but no response came. Some time afterward Mrs. Blaine said, "James, do you not know me?" He then spoke her name distinctly, and subsequently asked, "What is it?" and then again, "Where am I?" He afterward recognized his children and Miss Dodge, and spoke once to a friend who stood at the foot of the bed. From that time forward he gave every indication of gradual improvement.

The following telegram was sent to Congressman Hale at 11:30 to-night stating Mr. Blaine's condition at that hour:

"Mr. Blaine has arisen from his bed, sat in his chair several minutes, and conversed with his physicians. He is gaining strength steadily.

(Signed) "G. W. POPE, M. D.
"T. VERDI, M. D."

Surgeon General Barnes stated this afternoon to Mrs. Blaine and others that he entirely coincides with Dr. Verdi in regarding every symptom of Mr. Blaine's condition as very favorable.

The sub-Judiciary Committee to-day addressed a letter to the physicians of Mr. Blaine, inquiring as to the probable time when he will be able to appear before the committee, and have dismissed the witnesses for two weeks.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—At this hour (1:30 A. M.) Mr. Blaine is quietly sleeping. His breathing is perfectly natural, and there is no change from the very encouraging signs manifested during the afternoon and night.

Billiard Tournament.

BLAINE AND BRISTOW.

A Story of Ill-feeling Between Them Denied.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—In view of the incorrect stories in circulation touching the relations of Messrs. Blaine and Bristow, the latter was called upon to-day to state the nature and result of their interview on Saturday night, but declined to make any communications other than that his relations with Mr. Blaine have never been otherwise than friendly. As to the conversation with Mr. Blaine on Saturday night, Mr. Bristow said Governor Dennison was present, and he preferred that any statement of what occurred should come from him.

Governor Dennison, being called upon, accordingly wrote out and signed the following statement:

"WASHINGTON, June 12, 1876.

"I make the following statement of the interview between Messrs. Blaine and Bristow on Saturday night, June 10, my memory being fresh as to what transpired at the interview, and for the reason that it may be important to the friends of these gentlemen to know the object and character of the interview. Last Thursday night, June 8, while traveling to New York, I met an acquaintance. In the course of a conversation with him he mentioned as a fact that he knew Blaine felt very unkindly towards Bristow because of his belief of Bristow being responsible in some way for the charges made against him (Blaine), and which are now attracting public attention. He mentioned especially one of a peculiarly offensive character, as to which I said, in reply, that it was impossible that Col. Bristow could ever have had any connection with it. Yesterday afternoon Col. Bristow called at my house and showed me a letter which he had received from a friend in New York, informing him that the gentleman I had met on the cars had communicated to him (the New York friend) the same story as he had to me. Col. Bristow expressed to me his unwillingness for this story to be uncontradicted to Blaine one moment beyond the earliest opportunity to make a denial, and as the story had been mentioned to me, and my name was mentioned in the letter from New York, he requested me to accompany him to Blaine's last evening, to which I readily assented. We found Mr. Blaine at his house. He received us very cordially, and Bristow remarked to him he desired to call his attention to the contents of his letter from New York, so far as they related to the story referred to, saying at the same time that there were several other matters which he wished to talk over with Blaine, but would defer doing so until after next week, referring, as was understood, to the Cincinnati Convention as a reason for the delay in respect of such matter, but, as he said, this story was of so vile a character that he could not permit a day to pass without having it fully understood with Mr. Blaine. He then read to Blaine so much of the letter as related to the story. Mr. Blaine, without hesitation and in an emphatic manner, disclaimed ever having heard Mr. Bristow's name connected with the origin or the publication of the story, and said that neither he nor any member of his family, nor friends, ever charged or, as I inferred from his disclaimer, ever suspected Bristow of having had any connection with or being in any sense responsible for the story. Bristow remarked to him that his first knowledge of the existence of the story was from Blaine himself, and referred to the time and place of its communication by Blaine to him. Bristow having now disclaimed all knowledge of the story, and Blaine having fully acquitted him of all responsibility in connection with it, as well as of all others of the many accusations against him, all of which was done in a mutually friendly way, Bristow and I were about to take our leave. I should add here that prior to this I had given in detail the statement of the gentleman to me on the cars, and mentioned the fact that although a personal acquaintance of some years, I could not recall his name, and upon my description of him to Blaine he remembered him, and mentioned his name, saying at the time that the gentleman, although known to him, was not an intimate acquaintance, and that in fact he had never met him but three times, and recalled him with some difficulty on meeting him for a moment in Washington on Wednesday evening. As before remarked, we were about taking our leave, when Mr. Blaine urged in a kindly manner that we should keep our seat, which we did, and the conversation became somewhat general in its character, but in every sense friendly on the part of both Blaine and Bristow. The whole interview was characterized by the most friendly manifestation on the part of Blaine toward Bristow, and nothing occurred to suggest any doubt of his having the freindly regard of which he made mention, and in this spirit the visit was closed. I purposely omit reference to any other matter of the conversation, as my object in making this statement is to explain as fully as can be necessary all that occurred in respect to the story to which I have referred, and to say, as I have already said, that the interview was in every respect of a most friendly and pleasant character, and was not intended to and did not have any political significance. It may not be improper for me to say, with more emphasis then I have, that Blaine, in the course of the conversation, mentioned the fact of statements having been made to him from time to time connecting Bristow with the charges made against him (Blaine), as to all of which, he said, he never gave any credence whatever.

(Signed) "WM. DENNISON."

CINCINNATI.

Forming the Lines for the Great Battle.

THE OVERFLOW OF VISITORS IN THE CITY.

The Current of Gossip Concerning Candidates Prospects.

BLAINE STILL THE FAVORITE OF THE FIELD.

How the Preliminary Work is Being Done.

FACTS AND FANCIES FROM ALL QUARTERS.

Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

CINCINNATI, June 12, 1876.

All day long the crowds have been pouring into the city, and the streets have resounded with the music which heralds the coming of the delegations. The city, however, seems to have a capacity for royally entertaining all who come, and so far all visitors have been comfortably cared for, and I have heard no dissatisfaction expressed at the arrangements made. The tide, however, has not yet reached its height, and Cincinnati may yet have its hands more than full to entertain all who come. Notwithstanding the crowds, however, and the interest which naturally centers in the Convention, there is comparatively little excitement. All the work is being done rather quietly, and I believe after all the Convention will be one of the least turbulent and one of the most harmonious known in the annals of the party. The supporters of the different candidates are warm in their advocacy of their favorite, but so far as I have observed there is no disposition to raise a breeze just for the sake of excitement or out of pique. This is the general outlook now, and unless something unusually ruffling in its nature is stirred up, harmony and good feeling will prevail. This fact is indicated by the apparent desire of the supporters of the leading candidates to have no fight over the organization. The Blaine men will make no fight, but they suggest, for the sake of harmony, Pomeroy, of New York, for Temporary, and General Harlan, of Kentucky, for Permanent Chairman. The indications are that this will be acceptable. Blaine controls the organization, but does not propose to use this power, and so suggests one Conkling man and one Bristow man for presiding officers. The friends of the Maine statesman are evidently conscious that they are so strong that the usual little tactical advantages are not necessary. They feel that they can go before the Convention and win without trouble.

The sudden illness of Mr. Blaine has been very freely discussed to-day, and the news from Washington has been eagerly received. His illness, so far as my observation has extended, has gained him much sympathy and made him new friends, instead of weakening his forces. It is hard to tell just how the situation stands, and nothing positive can be arrived at until after the caucus meetings to-morrow, but the facts show that Blaine still leads the field, and is so far in advance that his nomination is almost a certainty. Nevertheless, his friends are not sleeping, but are quietly and energetically working.

The friends of Conkling and Bristow are very active, particularly the former, who claim that "New York's favorite son" will make a stronger showing than his opponents have any idea of. In contradiction of this statement there is talk of a slight disagreement in the New York delegation in the interest of Blaine. They say some of the men who shout on the outside for Conkling, in the inside councils are for Blaine. I don't know how much truth there is in this, but give it for what it is worth.

All the States but the Keystone were established in headquarters to-day, and banners were flying and doors were hospitably open. The Pennsylvania boys came up to time this evening and opened their headquarters in conspicuous style in the Grand Hotel, and are now in working order. They will stand by Hartranft. Hartranft is considered as a possible candidate in case Blaine is withdrawn, owing to his illness.

There has been considerable billing and cooing to-day between the different delegations. Some of the Western delegations with bands playing and colors flying serenaded their Eastern friends, and then the men from the East had to return the compliment, so that the sound of the music has hardly ceased during the past twelve hours.

The weather is intensely hot. The delegates and visitors will generally be glad when all is over and they can shake the dust of Porkopolis from their feet. L.

SECOND DISPATCH.

Indications of a Bolt.

11:30 P. M.—The Pennsylvania delegates here have been informally canvassing the situation here to-night, and although the full delegation is not yet on hand, a sufficient number are here to show the general drift. The indications point to a little breeze to-morrow in caucus, and a bolt in the Convention after the second ballot. John Hampton, of Allegheny, who is one of Blaine's most enthusiastic adherents, will lead the "bolters." They say they will stand by Hartranft so long as it appears that he has any chance, but they will not be bound to stand by him after the second ballot, unless they have some indications that their adherence will result in something more than mere compliment for him. Don Cameron is trying to "fix things" so as to have the delegation stand by Hartranft to the very last, as a unit, but it does not seem that he will be successful. Three-fourths of the delegation have Blaine for second choice, and want to vote for him at least after giving Hartranft support on not more than two ballots. It is quite likely there will be a pretty row in the delegation in case there is any attempt to stand by Hartranft after hope for him has gone. L.

Anxiety About Blaine's Health.

CINCINNATI, June 12.—The greatest anxiety has been felt by all parties to-day concerning the condition of Mr. Blaine. A number of dispatches have been received, all stating that he was improving rapidly, and in a day or two would be completely restored. Some parties declared it to be the fact that Mr. Blaine's illness was being used to weaken his force, and especially to prevent any sympathy being excited in his favor to the extent of winning doubtful delegates to his support.

A sensational dispatch to the Enquirer from Washington to the effect that Mr. Bristow had called upon Mr. Blaine in his prostrate condition, and was repelled by Mr. Blaine, causes considerable comment. Mr. Frye, leader of the Blaine faction, says he does not believe the statement, as there has been no allusion to it in his dispatches, and furthermore, he knew Mr. Blaine and Mr. Bristow were friendly, and always had been.

Speculations.

CINCINNATI, June 12.—The Morton men, starting with the assumption that Blaine will not recover in time to secure in the Convention the vote he otherwise would, even if presented there at all, are in much better spirits to-day than yesterday, claiming that the danger of the defeat of their candidate has lessened, and that what danger he has to fear comes from a new source, not, as yesterday, from Conkling, but from Hayes. They assert that the efforts made by the Conkling men to secure the Southern votes, that being supposed to be the most vulnerable quarter, have failed, and that the delegates from that section, colored and white, remain as yet faithful to those whom they were pledged to support. The chief reliance of Morton is on accessions which, it is believed, will come to him from Blaine men in the Northwest and Northeast, should it be found that the latter could not be nominated. It is claimed that a third of Iowa, a portion of Wisconsin, a share of Michigan, a fraction of Illinois, and a pretty full vote from Maine will go for Morton when Blaine drops out. The number to be thus obtained from Illinois is not as large as has been claimed by some. Col. Ingersol and about five others will probably make up all that can be obtained from that source. Rather to the disappointment of Indianians, the delegation from Indiana is asserted to be determined to stick to Morton to the bitter end, and have no second choice.

Owing to Blaine's attack on Sunday, the aggressive warfare on the part of his friends was not very active to-day, and much of their time was necessarily spent in reassuring the delegates who had been alarmed by the tone of some of the dispatches which were received from Washington. These apparent unfavorable telegrams were met by others received from his family, and it cannot be safely said that as yet any votes have been lost to him by reason of his sickness. Should his condition remain unimproved for twenty-four hours more, however, there are said to be several who would support him only on an informal and possibly the first formal ballot.

The Bristow men are making claims that on the second formal ballot their candidate will have two hundred votes. They say that instead of two votes formerly allowed Bristow in Illinois, he will have six, and after a ballot or two nearly all Missouri will unite on him. They admit that as yet their force is chiefly made up of scatterers of a few delegates from each State, but they claim that those will stand firm against all pressure and persuasion, and will not allow themselves to be coersed into letting their States vote as a unit. Yet many of them seem to entertain no faith in Bristow's nomination, saying that after Blaine is disposed of, Morton and Conkling will unite to slay Bristow, if in no other may, by giving the nomination to Hayes.

There was a meeting of Bristow men to-day, at which Solicitor Wilson was present as leading spirit. They counted up one hundred and sixty votes, which they claim certain for Bristow on the first formal ballot.

Senator Logan in the Blaine Ranks.

This evening Senator Logan claims that Blaine will have three hundred and nine votes on the first formal ballot, and on the second will secure enough waiverers to put him through.

The Senator denies the statement that he is at heart for Conkling, asserting that the choice of the Convention must be between Blaine and the Senator from New York, and that he is strongly in favor of the former.

Conkling's Retainers' Quiet Work.

The Conkling men have done nothing to-day except in secret. They have been conferring together, and have kindly seen that the idle delegates from the South have had pleasant and enjoyable rides in the suburbs of the city without any expense. The Conkling men have also, it is reported, approached the California and Nevada delegates with a proposition to take care of all expenses incurred by them in attending the Convention if they should be able to see that the good of the country required the nomination of Roscoe Conkling.

The Convention Organization.

The Convention will be called to order by Gov. Morgan, of New York, Chairman of the National Central Committee, who will make a brief address, not exceeding five minutes in length. Then Judge Stanley Mathews, temporary presiding officer, will address the Convention, after which committees on credentials, resolutions, etc., will be appointed.

The Alabama Contest.

The contested seats from Alabama will be the first matter which will come before the Convention which will create any discussion. It will be preceded only by formal business. When the report of the Committee on Credentials is received it is proposed by some to settle the difficult point by admitting neither, but the feeling among Blaine, Morton and Conkling men seems to be in favor of admitting what is known as the Spencer delegation, since its members will vote for Bristow, who is regarded as a common enemy, and since the friends of each of the three candidates above named hoped for strength from the Spencer delegation, which they claim has a shadow more of legality about it than the Warner one.

Ohio Enthusiastic for Hayes.

The Ohio men have grown to be very enthusiastic for Hayes. They held two meetings this afternoon and evening, at which reports were made by prominent members of the delegation, who have been in conference with other delegations, going to show that there is a general feeling of confidence in the ultimate nomination of Gov. Hayes as a compromise candidate. It was stated at the meeting that Missouri had said that with Blaine out of the way, the majority of the delegates would go over to Hayes and the remainder to Morton. Prominent Massachusetts delegates, it was also said, have assured Ohio delegates that all they desired was that Ohio should stand firm on the ballots and Massachusetts would eventually come to the support of Hayes.

Colorado Enthusiastic for Blaine.

The Colorado delegation arrived in force this morning. Gov. Routt, who accompanies them, said the Territory is actually ablaze for Mr. Blaine. The people of that embryo State remember that on the last night of the last session of Congress Speaker Blaine recognized Representative Hoskins, of New York, on the Colorado bill, and thus made its passage possible. The result is, Gov. Routt says, that among the Republicans every man, woman and child is for Mr. Blaine, besides many of the Democrats, and if he is nominated bonfires will be kindled on every peak of the Rocky Mountains, and the people will actually go wild.

Talk of a Bristow-Morton Alliance.

An alliance between the forces of Senator Morton and Secretary Bristow in favor of the latter is one of the things talked about as possible, though not very probable. The argument advanced by those who believe that the nomination is to be made in this way is substantially this: It is very probable that the time will come when, if Senator Morton does not seem to be on the high road to the nomination, his friends will think it wise to withdraw his name in favor of some other man who by his aid can win the prize; in such an event it is hardly probable that Senator Conkling will get his votes, because Mr. Morton and his friends are greatly offended at Presidents Grant's interference in favor of New York's "favorite son" after it had been generally understood that he should maintain a neutral position in regard to the two Senators during the entire canvass for the nomination. It won't go to Mr. Blaine because of the animosities that have sprung up between the friends of each, and it will probably have to choose between Secretary Bristow and Governor Hayes; as the former will probably be the stronger, and seems to be more of a favorite with the colored delegates than Gov. Hayes, it will naturally be toward him that the Morton delegates will gravitate. This is reasoning upon a very slight foundation of fact, but it is a sample of much that is heard about the hotel corridors.

Ohio in the Market.

This apparent desire of the Ohio delegation to be considered as "in the market" attracts to them the agents of the other candidates, who are anxious to pick up at almost any reasonable price stray votes or whole delegations that may be for sale, not for money, though it is possible that may be used before the Convention is over, but in the way of barter. The offers made by the Conkling, Morton, and Blaine men to the Ohio delegation have been the same—that the second place on the ticket shall be given to Gov. Hayes, provided the vote of the State, after having been cast once or twice as a compliment in accordance with the instructions of the State Convention, shall be transferred to the candidate with whom the bargain is made. The Ohio delegation has listened to these several offers, but has neither accepted nor rejected them. The apparant disposition is to wait for future developments before making any trade. In this way it is hoped that the bargain, if it shall be eventually made, will be the most favorable. Besides this a considerable portion of the delegation cannot be transferred by any arrangement to which they are not a party. There are among them some very enthusiastic supporters of Mr. Blaine, and their number is variously estimated at from a dozen to twenty. They will refuse to vote for Mr. Conkling or Mr. Morton, no matter what kind of a trade may be made. If Mr. Blaine's vote on the first ballot is anywhere near as great as his friends now hope it will be, and is held on the second, it would not be at all surprising if some of these men changed their votes from Governor Hayes to Mr. Blaine before the result of the ballot is announced. Others are original Bristow men, and will not be delivered to any other condidate until they have cast a vote for him.

How Blaine's Case Stands.

The condition of Mr. Blaine's canvass at this moment, according to the testimony of his friends, may be briefly described. His support in the West and Northwest is stronger and more determined than it has ever been. No defections are reported, while gains are recorded in several directions. With the exception of Nevada, the Blaine party expects to have the vote of every Territory. In New England there may have been a few changes from Mr. Blaine to Mr. Bristow, but they have not been numerous, and have nearly all been discounted long ago. These changes are more than compensated for by gains from other quarters of "second-choice" delegates, that is those who will vote for Mr. Blaine after having obeyed their instructions or done all in their power for their favorite. Mr. Blaine's friends claim nearly enough with those who will support him from the first to nominate him.

Small Gains for Bristow.

The outlook for Mr. Bristow has apparently changed very little during the past two days. The entire delegation from Kentucky is now here, and their headquarters on the main floor of the Burnet House are the most extensive and attractive of all at that hotel. General John M. Harlan and his delegation are very quiet in their methods of work, and report constant but not very great gains. The most encouraging signs for Mr. Bristow come from the East. A few delegates from Massachusetts and Vermont who it was supposed would vote for Mr. Blaine, but were not counted upon very confidently by any one, arrived last night and this morning, and are very unwilling to talk about their preferences. The friends of Mr. Bristow claim that they will vote for their candidate, and as they are not credited to any other the claim may be well founded. Besides these, stray votes for Mr. Bristow are discovered in several other arriving delegations. For instance, Nevada has been placed in the Conkling column ever since it was announced that Senator Jones had hired a house for the entertainment of its delegates, and would himself bring Senator Sharon's proxy in his pocket; but one of the Nevada delegates who was present at a meeting of the Cincinnati Bristow Club last evening, and heard the eloquent speech of Mr. Burdett, a colored delegate from Henry Clay's old district in Kentucky, said subsequently in a speech that he should certainly vote for Kentucky's "favorite son." He had entertained some doubts about the proper course for him to pursue before his arrival here, but these had now been entirely removed. The savage warfare which the local press of Cincinnati has made upon Mr. Blaine has really helped Mr. Bristow very little, if indeed it has not on the other hand positively injured him. The movement to transfer a large block of the Southern delegates from Mr. Morton to Mr. Bristow, after the former shall have disappeared as a candidate, seems to have gathered very little momentum. The Southern delegates are very slow in arriving, and the meeting for the consideration of the policy which those from that section will adopt will probably be postponed until to-day.

The Pennsylvania Delegation.

The Pennsylvania delegation will decide upon their line of action in the caucus today. There is a strong sentiment in favor of Mr. Blaine, which threatens to assert itself if any attempt is made to turn the delegation over to Conkling. The instruction to vote as a unit will hold as long as Hartranft is a candidate, but it is almost certain that an effort to hold the delegation after leaving him will meet with disaster. The feeling for Hartranft is the genuine expression of the sentiment of the people of Pennsylvania, and there are very many men on the delegation who really look to his nomination as probable. They think by holding steadily to him when other candidates begin to lose he will gain, and they regard him as the strongest of the compromise candidates. They recognize that there is no undercurrent from outside in his favor, but do not on that account feel discouraged. The Pennsylvania delegation, whatever motive controls it, fortunately will best serve the prospect of securing a good nomination by adhering to Gov. Hartranft, for the State could probably nominate Blaine if it should really desire it. If the faith that some have in the nomination of Pennsylvania's "favorite son" could be realized, the candidate would surely be a man above reproach in private and public life, a good soldier, a clear-headed, firm, modest man. No one outside of Pennsylvania expects his nomination, but if his real attitude toward Pennsylvania politics were better known, he would be a more formidable candidate.

Conkling's Chances.

The Conkling men are jubilant and enormously exaggerating and overestimating their gains. They pretend to be confident of success on the third or fourth ballot; but the same confidence is expressed and the same assertions are most positively made by the supporters of Messrs. Morton and Blaine, and, unlike Conkling's friends, they make no secret of where they expect their strength to come from. They are indeed ready to sit down with inquiring delegates and tell them just what they count on, what pledges have been made to them, and how much or how little confidence they place in these pledges. The Conkling game, on the other hand, is in every way a secret and underhand one. The leaders profess, in a general way, that they are confident of victory, and they boldly declare that their candidate will receive at least one hundred and fifty votes on the first ballot, but they maintain the closest secrecy as to where these votes are to come from. I have been at some pains to discover what foundation they have for their claims, and find that Mr. Conkling may receive about one hundred votes on the first ballot, but that he cannot count with any degree of certainty upon even that number.

The Philadelphia Club.

The Hartranft club of Philadelphia, one hundred and twent-five in number, arrived this evening, accompanied by a band, and marched to the Burnet House. The members are uniformed, wearing black cloth suits and white dress hats, and a handsome portrait badge of their favorite candidate. Among the more prominent men in the party were Col. Wm. B. Mann, Wm. R. Leeds, Gen. H. H. Bingham, Postmaster Fairman, Mayor Stokely, and Gideon Clarke.

Endorsing Bristow.

An enthusiastic Bristow meeting was held to-night at Pike's Opera House, at which were over 1,000 people present. It was the forerunner of a still larger outpouring to-night at the same hall. The meeting was presided over by Mr. T. D. Lincoln, one of Cincinnati's eminent jurists, and an out-and-out Bristow man. After some able introductory remarks by the chairman, in which allusion was made to Secretary Bristow's fitness for the Presidency, the meeting was addressed by Prof. P. H. Phynds, of Ann Arbor, Michigan, a delegate to the Convention. Prof. Phynds' eloquent tribute to Bristow's record for honesty and fearlessness in his administration of revenue affairs was warmly applauded. He was followed by Mr. George Walker, of the Reform Club of New York, who reviewed Secretary Bristow's governmental services in connection with civil service reform, and referred in terms of the highest praise to his capability for filling the office of President.

That part of his address which reviewed Mr. Bristow's thorough convictions on the subject of honesty in the administration of the Government and his devotion to the hard-money principle struck the keynote. It was listened to with the deepest interest, and the speaker was rewarded with loud and long applause. He was followed by General Finnell, of Kentucky, an old friend of General Bristow, and therefore the better qualified to speak of the famous Secretary's war career. He did not fail to show that on the field of battle General Bristow was ever as brave and true to his duty as he has been since entering the public service.

Mr. Geo. F. Clark, of Colorado, but formerly of Cincinnati, made some eloquent remarks descriptive of his belief in Bristow as the only man to unite all opposition and win a glorious Republican victory this fall.

The last speaker of the evening was Mr. Geo. Dufee, a colored man from Kentucky, who warmly advocated Bristow's claims to the Presidency, and spoke in encouraging terms of his strength in Kentucky.

The meeting was an unqualified success, and was the precursor of another and larger turnout for to-morrow evening, when Dr. Bellows, of New York, and Jas. Freeman Clarke, of Boston, are expected to address the meeting. The Bristow delegates to the Convention are highly pleased with the result of this evening's meeting, showing, as it does, the local strength of their candidate, and arguing well for the great contest of the week.

Where Curtis Stands.

During the day Mr. George William Curtis has been in consultation with Mr. Ellis H. Roberts, of Utica, and with Gen. Harlan and other friends of Bristow. He has not yet publicly expressed a preference for any candidate, but it is generally understood that he will make a strong and characteristic speech in opposition to the nomination of Mr. Conkling.

What Will Morgan Say.

Gov. Morgan, who as Chairman of the National Committee will call the convention to order, has arrived, and is at the Burnet House. He is accompanied by Mrs. Morgan. There is much eagerness to learn the position which he will assume in his opening speech.

The Conkling Game of Bluff.

The one most marked feature of the last few days of what may be called the fight before the Convention, has been the extraordinary efforts made by the supporters of Senator Conkling to talk their favorite into prominence. All the hotels are filled with New York men, the streets are lined with them, and, indeed, it seems almost as if they had captured the city and were occupying it to the exclusion of the delegates from the other States. Their confidence, or perhaps it would be better to say their assumed confidence, is quite remarkable, as is their drill and organization. The machine is in the very best working order, and represented only by its smooth-spoken, well-dressed, and presentable adherents. No others have been allowed to come to Cincinnati. It is continually puffing and blowing in the by-ways and highways, as well as in the committee rooms and hotel lobbies. Every Conkling shouter, and there are at least fifteen hundred of them here, is labeled with a blue badge bearing the name of the favorite son, and headed by an admirable brass band, they make periodical trips from one hotel to another, cheering for the Senator from New York. Of course, this kind of work is left entirely to what may be called the small fry. The leaders, however, are not idle. Mr. A. B. Cornell has gone to work with an energy and determination which almost inspires his followers, and with that knowledge of the machinery of politics for which he is noted, he has assigned to every prominent Conkling man here a specific duty, for the faithful performance of which he is held to a strict account. It has been ascertained to a nicety what States, outside of New York men, like Charles E. Smith, of Albany, Senator Tobey, Police Commissioner Wheeler, Charles E. Fitch, of Rochester, District Attorney Bliss, John I. Davenport, and Collector Daniels, of Buffalo, are most familiar with, and what delegations they can most easily influence, and they have been regularly instructed to work where they can do the most good. So far has the system been carried that cards have been prepared upon which the instructions and the names of persons to be visited, talked to, and influenced, have been plainly noted. So, for instance, if one of the gentlemen happened to have traveled in Europe on familiar terms with a prominent delegate from, say, Connecticut or Massachusetts, he is commissioned to see that delegate, and warned, upon pain of the displeasure of all true Conkling men, not to come back until he has made a favorable impression upon and secured some kind of a pledge from him. The amount of work of this kind which is being done here is almost beyond belief, and it is of course not without some result. Indeed, there can be no doubt that four or five delegates have been won over the way indicated.

Forming Against Blaine.

A dispatch to the New York Times says: "Blaine really is formidable, as all agree, and the first labor of all opposing forces is to keep Blaine from getting new votes, rather than in increasing the number of their own. The Conkling men welcome the Bristow votes in New England, and the Bristow men would be glad to find half a dozen votes for Conkling in Illinois to break the unity of that delegation. There is a well-defined fear that Blaine may have votes sufficient to nominate him on the first ballot, by reason of unlocked for changes, if he should poll, as his friends claim, a full vote of 300 on the roll call. The judgment of well-informed people is that such a result is impossible, but they are not comfortably sure. He seems to have all his original strength, and if recent developments have hurt his prospects in the convention, it is in the power of growth. It seems to be admitted that he will have his greatest number of votes on the first ballot, and 274 is believed to be a high figure, while 250 are all that are freely conceded. No clear estimate can be made up before Tuesday night, even if it will then be possible.

Avoiding a Stampede.

It is well known that many nominations, both in State and National Conventions, have been made by what is known as stampedes. A candidate runs ahead of all competitors, but while yet far short of the required number of votes some county or State which has not kept tally supposes the plurality man to be nominated, and wishing to be on the winning side changes to him. A notable case of this kind was at Philadelphia in 1872, when Colfax had a majority when the roll call was concluded; but it was so close that Virginia was deceived, and changing her vote to the shoemaker of Natick, nominated Henry Wilson by the contagion of the example, for, as it always happens, many other States followed Virginia's lead. It is now proposed to put a stop to these performances by adopting a rule that no changes of votes shall be permitted until after the result of a ballot has been announced by the Chair. That such a rule will be offered and advocated in Convention is quite probable; that it will have many warm friends and many earnest opponents is equally certain. What its ultimate fate will be no one can tell. The matter has been much discussed among the delegates to-day, and opinions appeared to be about equally divided upon it. If the friends of the leading candidates are convinced that it will help them, the rule will be adopted, and if they conclude that will hurt them, it will be rejected.

Fleeting Scraps.

The District of Columbia has no right to representation, which it only had in 1872 because of the Territorial Government then in existence, and the possession of a delegate in Congress. The Convention will probably not admit any delegates.

Boss Shepherd has not put in an appearance yet, and it is rumored that he has been particularly appealed to by the friends of Mr. Conkling to stay away.

There is talk of depriving, by resolution of the Convention, all Territories of a right to a voting representation, because they cast no votes in the Electoral College.

The Hartranft club of Philadelphia, accompanied by McClure's band, arrived this evening.

Senator Jones has a whole house rented for the Pacific coast crowd. His instructions to his agent were to rent a house, if possible; if not, to buy. The lavishness of the entertainment is said to be unprecedented, and it is all for Conkling.

Col. Schuyler Crosby, of the Republican Club of New York, has perpetrated a great joke on the Republican Reform Club of New York. The latter, it is well known, is unanimous for Bristow, and having stretched its title on canvas across the entire front of the Gibson House, Crosby to-day placed under it in equally huge letters, "For President, Roscoe Conkling." As a consequence of this strategy the Reform Club has been all day declaring in the largest capitals its preference of Roscoe Conkling for the Presidency.

A CHURCH HORROR.

The Gallery and Floor Give Away—The Contractor Killed and Thirty Others Injured.

HOUTZDALE, PA., June 12.—Yesterday the congregation of the Catholic Church assembled in their new but unfinished building. Just as Father Meagher began the service the gallery and floor underneath fell with a terrific crash, killing D. C. Nelson, the contractor of the building, and wounding thirty others, some seriously.

Destructive Conflagration.

KINGSTON, ONT., June 12.—A fire to-night destroyed Foot's bakery, Hersey's hardware store, Ferguson's block, one of the finest in the city, the American Hotel, Bruce's block, Brown's new building, the Albion Hotel, and a number of other stores. At this hour (11:30) the fire is still burning furiously, but is thought to be under control. Several explosions of gunpowder took place in the hardware stores destroyed, causing a panic among the vast multitude assembled. The fire is already the most disastrous for many years. Early in the evening telegrams were sent asking Belleville and Napanee to send their engines, but later in the night the order was countermanded. The loss up to the present time will probably reach $150,000.

Death by Lightning.

SPRINGFIELD, TENN., June 12.—A. P. Owens, Jesse Owens, John A. Murphy, Arch Randolph, Henry Davidson, white men, and Ike Doss, colored, were killed, and Sam Mandy, white, mortally wounded, and James Murphy, white, shocked by lightning this evening at two o'clock, six miles east of here. The white men were gentlemen of high character, and their unfortunate death has cast a gloom over the neighborhood. They had been cutting wheat, and had stepped under a tree out of the rain, and while under it were struck by lightning.

Speaker Kerr's Condition.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Dr. G. W. Pope, Mr. Kerr's attending physician, makes the following statement this afternoon: Mr. Kerr had a severe attack of malarious fever and exhausting diarrhœa, followed by violent interalgia, or neuralgia of the abdominal nerves. The disease is now under control. He had a very good night, and feels decidedly better to-day. Should no untoward symptoms occur, he will convalesce rapidly and be restored to his usual health in a few days.

TUESDAY, JUNE 13, 1876.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 28¼f.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 102½.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 112⅜.

THE extremely warm and dry weather, for the past few days realizes our dream of summer very completely. It will more than meet the wishes of the politicians gathered at Cincinnati, we judge.

THE puddlers adhere firmly to their demand for five dollars a ton, and a sliding scale, for one year, and so the hoped for compromise between the two parties has not occurred. We have the hope, however, that some favorable arrangement can be made, and the lock-out ended. It is an unfortunate state of affairs for Pittsburgh, all round.

THE significant feature of the operations at Cincinnati, was the eagerness with which the delegates and people consulted the bulletins relative to Mr. BLAINE's health. It indicated that popular interest centred in him, and that there is extreme solicitude as to whether he will be able to endure the strain of the office. The assuring bulletins of his physicians have fully dispelled all fears that it is more than temporary illness, arising from exposure to the noon-day sun.

IT IS among the possibilities that the Chinese labor question will cure itself, and along with it, Coolie importation. At North Adams, Massachusetts, Chinese labor is found to be unprofitable, owing to their failure to advance in skill. For the first few months they made progress, and then suddenly ceased. If this experience shall be general the problem of cheap labor by means of Chinese immigration, will be fully solved. They cannot be brought east, and the Pacific coast is swarming under an over-supply of the material.

WE have compared the salutatives of the new editors of the New York and Pittsburgh Christian Advocates and consider that of our new Pittsburgh editor the superior one. It is more fluent and easy in expression, and has more scope and grip of ideas. Dr. FOWLER shows a very appreciable amount of egotism, no freshness or suggestiveness of ideas, and a short, crabbed diction that seems entirely out of place in the editorial columns of the great Advocate; while Dr. WHEELER easily grasps the situation, and in a modest, sensible salutatory, clearly states his aim and purpose, in language and style that are agreeable and strong.

WE hope the warlike associations that gather about the 4th of July, will not [illegible] e having [illegible] ation of [illegible] an Amer[illegible] l be no [illegible] foreign emblems or banners. As we understand it, there is a readiness on the part of societies of foreign origin to omit the display of their banners, but the propensity to explain their differences incites discussion and bad blood. The entire subject should be decided, and promptly ruled out from all further discussion. There is no need of unfriendly debates, and quarrels over so simple a matter as the celebration of the Fourth of July.

THERE is an old saying that "sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander;" but the Democracy have no faith in that doctrine. The New York World bewails the suit against THOMPSON on account of money stolen from the Government, while Secretary of the Interior, as follows: "Secretary CHANDLER has begun early to beat the BLAINE gong for the campaign of 1876. He is doing himself no good, and certainly the country no good, by suing JACOB THOMPSON for public money which it appears that THOMPSON did not take and never had the least benefit from. The grounds on which this suit was begun would allow the persecution of almost every ex-Confederate in the country." This simply means that the medicine applied to BELKNAP must not be administered to THOMPSON.

THE Vice President apparently goes like a football among the politicians at Cincinnati, being valued only as it may enter in as an element in forming combinations. For example, HAYES has been offered the Vice Presidency if he will give his delegation to one of the leading candidates for the Presidential nomination. Each of the candidates, we judge, is playing the same role, and so bids are made all round. Any one having a moderately strong State delegation at his back, is quite sure of an offer of the Vice Presidency. The fault arises, in a large measure, from the failure of the people to designate suitable candidates for Vice President, as also on the part of those available for that position, in that all want to be Presidential candidates. Yet experience has taught us that we need exercise the greatest possible caution with regard to this second choice. ANDREW JOHNSON, and back of him, JOHN TYLER, are fair representatives of this danger. Even MILLARD FILLMORE, while personally a respectable man, gave us a nerveless and undecided administration of little positive benefit to the country. We have, at the present, more fear in that direction than in any other, as at Cincinnati, we are confident of BLAINE's nomination. It is essential that we have a good second choice, and in the list of availables we know of none we prefer to WILLIAM A. WHEELER, of New York—a man stronger in that State, in our belief, than is Senator CONKLING.

THE PROBABILITIES.

So far as our scope of influence extends, the operations of the delegates at Cincinnati are not involved. Before this issue reaches Cincinnati the lines will have been closed, and the policy of delegates resolved upon. We therefore indulge in such conjectures as the situation warrants. It is evident that the policy of the leaders of the delegations opposed to BLAINE is to gain a tactical victory over him. If they could perfectly unite, that might possibly be done, but the difficulty in giving it effect arises from the fact that there is so nearly a majority among the delegates whose second choice is BLAINE, that it will be very difficult to succeed in tactics that require a majority of the entire Convention. A two-third rule would be as likely to hurt other candidates as BLAINE,—hence the difficulty of carrying it in Convention. The danger to BLAINE lies, mainly, in two directions. 1. In breaking and scattering his forces. There is much talk over their ability to do this, but we regard it as largely made up of buncombe. The effort is to weaken some by the declaration that others are weakening. We do not attach large importance to this, and yet, among impressible men, we cannot always be sure of the result. The effort is also made to create the impression that BLAINE has not made a satisfactory explanation of the MULLIGAN letters. To those who will not believe the evidence of a half dozen witnesses, it is impossible to furnish a satisfactory explanation. But to all who are disposed to consider legitimate evidence, the defense was satisfactory.

2. The second method is to consolidate the vote of all the candidates beside himself against him. This, as we think cannot be done. In the Pennsylvania and other delegations, there are many warm friends of BLAINE, who, if the attempt is made to break lines at all, will vote for, rather than against him. Still we recognize that much is often done by good management, and know that there are many shrewd politicians at work against him. Yet, we imagine that the known sympathies of the people will be largely influential, at least with such as are at Cincinnati, with the honest purpose of representing the wishes of the Republican party. And those sympathies are with BLAINE. No one believes, when it is brought close down that he is not an honest man. His record, all through, is better than that of any other candidate named. Taking into account these facts, and his heavy vote, we assume that his chances for the nomination are steadily increasing, and that he will be the candidate of the party. We also regard him as the strongest candidate of all that are prominently named. Governor HARTRANFT we rank as foremost among all, and believe he could be put in the forefront without the slightest fear of defeat. But as between BLAINE and his foes, we fancy he will be triumphant over them all.

SERVIA AND TURKEY.

The latest from Servia is more pacific in tone. The surrounding principalities have notified Prince MILAN that if he precipitates war, he will be held responsible for the results. Intelligence, it is said, has been forwarded to the Sultan that the arming of the Servians does not involve the violation of Turkish territory, but is rather pacific in its purposes,—all of which shows that another spirit possesses the threatening warriors, different from that of a fortnight since. Apropos of this, there is a report current of an old prophecy relative to the continuance of Turkish power in Europe. It has long been in circulation among the Sclavic races, and is to the purport that the Turks were to be driven out of Constantinople at the expiration of four hundred years from their first occupancy. This time expired on the 27th of May last. The very gate by which Constantinople was to be entered was pointed out. It is thought by many that the uprising of the Sclavic races was largely inspired by the prophecy. The time for its fulfilment having passed, their enthusiasm begins to subside. Such is the view now presented. It is quite probable that the real secret of the reported lull in warlike preparations, results from the fact that England has shown a very decided purpose to interfere in behalf of Turkey. At all events, there is a lull in warlike rumors.

Servia is the real backbone of the rebellion among the principalities. She is out of debt, and possessed of excellent credit, while Turkey is practically insolvent. The Servians are a warlike race, whose bravery and endurance have been tested through centuries of wars. Their army is thoroughly organized upon the German plan, and is thoroughly equipped. Servia has a regular standing army of 5,000, a national militia of 150,000, and a garrison force liable to duty of 80,000 men. Its militia of the first and second class is so organized that an army of from 70,000 to 80,000 men can be mobilized in a very short time. It has an artillery of 350 field guns and 400,000 muskets of improved patterns in its arsenals. It has now in the field an army of 75,000 men confronting a Turkish army of 27,000. Thus she is possessed of very decided strength, apart from what Russia may give her.

Her relations with Turkey have been unfriendly, for 400 years past. After the capture of a portion of her territory, by MOHAMMED II., in 1454, she was bandied about among the great powers, till in 1739, she was again restored to the Turks. But in 1805, her people rose under CZERNY GEORGE and forced the Sultan to recognize her semi-independence. By the treaty of Paris, in 1856, Servia was placed under protection of the great European powers as a semi-independent State, the twenty-eighth article of the treaty ordering that "the Principality of Servia shall continue to hold of the Sublime Porte, in conformity with the imperial decrees which fix and determine its rights and immunities, placed henceforward under the collective guarantee of the contracting powers. In consequence, the said Principality shall preserve its independent and national administration, as well as full liberty of worship, of legislation, of commerce, and of navigation." The Servians have the right to elect their rulers, have their own coinage and courts, and complete freedom of commerce. Their only obligation to Turkey is to pay an annual tribute of 2,300,000 piastres, or about $92,000, and by the terms of their treaty to furnish a certain contingent of troops in case of war. The antagonism between the two powers are those of race and religion. The Servians are Christians, and largely made up of the Sclavonic race. Their antagonism to the Turks is hereditary and invincible, and it is an outrage that they should pay tribute to that insulting power. If peace is secured now it will not be permanent.

THE SABBATH ISSUE.

The Sabbath question received a practical discussion in the Leader of Sunday last, from the pen of Mrs. SWISSHELM, who writes from Leipsic, Saxony, of a Sunday, possibly exceptional in its devotion to business, but illustrative of what the effect of the lax observance of the day is. She does not confine her remarks to the particular Sunday of fair day extravagance, but affirms generally that the day is, in its early part, devoted to intense toil, that the afternoon may be spent in equally laborious pleasure. Generalizing from these observations, she concludes that the oppressive condition of women, where she is residing, is largely attributable to this non-observance of the Sabbath. We refer to the letter, however, to cull from it, a quotation that embodies the gist of both observation and reflection on her part:

With all their boasted philosophy and humanity, these people give to the animals under their dominion no day of rest. To their poor horses, poor dogs, poor donkeys and poor women they allot no period of repose. To them it is work, work, work from morning, noon to night; then work without an evening fire to brighten their labor. Work Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sabbath; work from January to June, inclusive, and then from June to January; work for the meat that perisheth; work for the body that the worms or fire shall eat! Take no thought for the life to come! Perhaps all nations and kindreds, and tongues, and peoples who have ever lived have been mistaken in believing that it is not all of life to live nor all of death to die! Perhaps the universal instinct of humanity is a myth, a bubble, a dream; the universal longing for immortality an exception in a universe in which demand always points to supply! Perhaps man differs from all other creatures in having a want for whose gratification no provision has been made! So, let us build our social fabric on this perhaps. It seems like a very nice foundation, and no one has yet proved that it is not the very lid rock of truth. Away with your superstitions and your Sundays! We are going to have a good time! But is their time good? Are not all things dual, and one side ever controlled by its opposite? Can liberty exist without restraint, or labor be sweet without rest? Would not one day of even enforced rest, make the other six more profitable, apart from all religious consideration? As much of the enjoyment of life comes from imagination might it not be pleasant for us all to imagine we have souls capable of communion with the power which created or evolved this union; if this idea should once become as real to us as a theatrical representation, why might we not devote some special time to its indulgence? Say that we give only Wednesday evenings to imagining that some great actor is Hamlet or Richard III., why should we not give Sabbath to fancying ourselves children of the Heavenly King, and cultivating a love and reverence for that "Heaven Father" whom all people have discovered more or less dimly, and who may be a very proud and powerful reality, even if all the polowog systems that ever were broached could be or had been proved true?

The Leader evidently felt the force of the rebuke contained in the above, and weakly sought to break the force of the letter by pleading that the forenoon is the sacred part of the Sabbath, and the afternoon the secular. In order to balance up the days, it gives the evening before to the sacred part of the Sabbath. The Jewish Sabbath was from sunset to sunset. But Mrs. SWISSHELM's complaint is that where she is there is no Sabbath—the forenoons being given to work, and the afternoons to enjoyment. This she claims not to be exceptional, but to constitute the real continental Sabbath. However prejudiced the Leader may be on the subject, it should not misrepresent the drift of its correspondence, which, as against what was seen in Saxony, argues that if our Sabbath is only based on the imagination, its elevating influence should cause it to be respected.

OLD TIME POLITICS.

The Old System of Presidential Nominations.

Our Presidents and Vice Presidents were at first nominated by caucuses composed of the Senators and members of the House of Representatives belonging to each party. This caucus system, although we often see it decided by English writers and papers, was really derived from our early politicians from England. It became the habit of the Parliamentary leaders of the Whigs and Tories, soon after the revolution of 1688, to meet at taverns or club houses in order to provide discipline for the party ranks, to discuss and decide on measures, and even on special votes, and to designate the personnel of new ministries. Many an entertaining story of these conclaves, which often partook of a festive and literary as well as deliberate character, has come down to us in the writings of Addison, Steele, Hervey, and Horace Walpole; and although they were not known as "caucusses," they were such in form and in purpose.

Even before the Revolution, American politics had taken a distinct party shape, and what were virtually caucuses were held in the quaint old inns of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, on the part both of the Tories and the patriots. It was often decided in these conferences who should be sent to the General Court, who should be made Colonel of militia, who should be delegated to the Continental Congress. At the "Green Dragon," in Boston, notable conferences of the caucus order were wont to be held, in which Hancock, Adams, Otis and Warren were leading and inspiring spirits.

For the first three Presidential elections, however, there were no nominating caucuses of Congressmen, for the reason that the candidates were very clearly designated by the events of the Revolutionary and Constitution-forming period. * * *

It was in the year 1800, when a successor was to be chosen to President Adams, that the first caucus recorded in our history was held. It met at Philadelphia, was called by the Republican opposition, and comprised thirty-seven members of the Lower House and nine Senators. There was nothing very strict or formal about the meeting. These gentlemen met to discuss candidates, very likely in one of those coffee-houses which early Congressmen used to frequent in the Quaker City, and there seems to have been no very sharp rivalry for the places on the ticket. The caucus was of one accord that Jefferson should be presented to the people for the Presidency.

The first caucus in which there was a contest held in January, 1808. Jefferson was about to retire from the Presidency. It was certain that the nominee of his party would be elected. Virginia, that had already furnished two out of the three Presidents, supplied the rival candidates to the Republican caucus. One was James Madison, who, having begun as a Federalist, had become a strong political adherent of Jefferson, and was now Secretary of State. The other was Colonel Monroe, who had been minister to France. The caucus comprised ninety-four Senators and members, and Madison was nominated by 83 votes, George Clinton, the then Vice-President, receiving a renomination for that office.—Harper's Magazine for July.

"SLINGING SLANG."

Teaching a Smart Drummer the Good old English Language.

As a newly engaged commercial traveller was about starting on a commercial trip from his place in Chicago, the other day, he suddenly turned to his employer, a grave old merchant, and inquired: "I say, boss, what shall I do when I get out of soap?"

"Soap?" said the old man, "why, save your samples, and you won't get out."

"But I mean what shall I do when I get out of grease?" continued the young man.

"Grease? grease?" pondered the old man, "why you don't need any grease—you are not working for a lubricator estab——."

"Oh, but you don't understand me," chimed in the youthful employe, rather embarrassed. "I mean what shall I do if I run out of spondulix—stamps—wealth."

Spondulix? stamps? wealth?" echoed the mystified merchant, looking at the young man over his glasses, to see if he had gone crazy.

"Yes, currency—greenbacks," exclaimed the drummer, "cash money you know?"

A light seemed to dawn on the old gentleman's mind at this moment, for gazing upon the creature before him with a look of contempt and pity, he broke forth: "Young man what are you giving us? I rather guess you needn't go out, for I don't believe our class of customers could get along very well with you—they all speak English. Pull down your vest, step up to the cashier's desk and get your sugar. Now cheese it cully, you're bounced."

And that is the way the high-toned kid got bounced—all through the pernicious habit of slinging slang.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

How He Screwed Him Up.

Jim has been working in the country, says the Jackson (Miss.) Pilot, and, on coming to town, was regaling his friends with his experience on the corner. "You know de man what I went to work wid? Well, you see he told me he would do better by me dan any of his neighbors was doin' by der hans; he would give de third of de crap, and I fine myself. Well, you see I went to church and gits squainted wid de neighbors' hans. Dars Mr. Washington, he is working on young Billy Smith's place, and is gittin' de fourth, and find hisself; and dars Mr. Linkum, he's workin' on old man Jones' place, and is gittin' de fifth, and is found bersides. Well, yer see, when I gits home, and was aworkin' in the crap, I got to studyin,' and de more I studied de more I come to the conclusion dat de third wasn't gwine to do me. So I goes to the boss, and says I—I says, 'You told me you was agwine to do better by me dan any of de neighbors was by dere hans.' He says he's been talkin' to 'em, and dat he was, and I says dat I'se been havin' some constination with neighbors hans myself. Dat Smith's hans was gittin' de fourth, and Jones' hans was gittin' de fifth and found, and I wasn't gwine to stand no third. So he says he would rehinge de old one, and make a new contrack, and we bof come to town 'fore Squire Robinson and made it; here's the paper now, and dat's the way I screwed him up to the fourth. I tell you what's de fact, boys, you can't trust none ob dem white folks." And Jim mounted his mule and rode off.

A Texas Laughing Match.

That curiously-named Texas paper, the Jimplecute, says: "Mr. Dawson, of Baltimore, expended a very large amount of money in building the navy of the Republic of Texas, and after the passage of the compromise measures of 1850, giving to Texas $10,000,000, he was a regular attendant at the sessions of the Legislature, endeavoring to get his claim allowed. He was a most genial gentleman, and laughed louder and longer at his own or anybody else's jokes than any other man in Austin. There was living near him an old land locator and surveyer, named Bart Simms, whose loud and hearty laugh was a by-word. Some wags on one occasion got the two together and made bets on the result of their laughing powers, all of which was kept secret from the parties. Of course there was plenty of wine (or something stronger) and good stories, and Dawson and old Bart roared. Finally, when the night-cap was drunk, the two were informed of the bet, and the crowd decided that Dawson had won, as he had laughed the loudest, the longest, and the heartiest. Old Bart was at first a little crestfallen, but recovered his good humor by remarking: 'It is all right, gentlemen; but there is this difference, Dawson is laughing for a million, and I am only laughing for fun.'"

JEFFERSON'S MARRIAGE.

The Little Hymeneal Comedy Which Happily Ended.

The affair was quite a little comedy in some aspects, and ended, as all comedies should, with everybody made happy.

"Belinda" had been married many years, and her old admirer was approaching thirty, when he met with a young lady of twenty-two who produced a strong impression upon him. She was a little above the medium height, slender, but elegantly formed. A fair complexion, with a delicate tint of the rose, large hazel eyes, full of life and feeling, and luxuriant hair of a rich soft auburn, formed a combination of attractions which was eminently calculated to move the heart of a youthful bachelor. In addition to all this, the lady was admirably graceful; she rode, danced, and moved with elegant ease, and sang and played on the harpsichord very sweetly. Add still to these accomplishments the possession of excellent good sense, very considerable cultivation, a warm heart, and a considerable fortune, and it will not be difficult to understand how the youthful Mr. Jefferson came to visit very frequently at the lady's residence, in the county of Charles City. It was called "The Forest," and the name of the lady was Mrs Mary Skelton. She was a daughter of John Wayles, an eminent lawyer, and had married, in her seventeenth year, Mr. Bathurst Skelton, who, dying in 1768, left his young wife a widow at nineteen. As the three years of mourning began to expire, the beautiful young lady found herself besieged at "The Forest" by numerous visitors. Of these, three were favorites with the fair Mrs. Skelton, of whom Mr. Thomas Jefferson was one. The tradition runs that the pretensions of the rivals were decided either by the musical accomplishments of the young counselor or by the fears of his opponents. The tale is differently related. One version is that the two unfortunate gentlemen encountered each other on Mrs. Skelton's door-step, but hearing Jefferson's violin and voice accompanying the lady in a pathetic song, gave up the contest thenceforth and retired without entering, convinced that the affair was beyond their control. The other story is that all three met at the door, and agreed that they would take their turns. Jefferson entered first, and the tones of the lady in singing with her companion deprived the listeners of all hope. However this may be, it is certain that the beautiful widow consented to become Mrs. Jefferson; and on the first day of January, 1772, there was a great festival at "The Forest." Friends and kindred assembled from far and near; there was frolicking and dancing after the abundant old fashion; and we find from the bridegroom's note-book that the servants and fiddlers received fees from his especial pocket. It snowed without, but within all was mirth and enjoyment, in the light and warmth of the great log fires, roaring in honor of the occasion. Soon after the performance of the ceremony, the bridegroom and his bride set out in their carriage for "Monticello," where Jefferson had commenced building in 1769, just before the destruction by fire of his patrimonial house of "Shadwell." The journey was not to end without adventures. As they advanced toward the mountains, the snow increased in depth, and finally they were compelled to leave the carriage, and proceed upon their way on horseback. Stopping to rest at "Blenheim," the seat of Colonel Carter, where they found, however, no one but an overseer, they left it at sunset, resolutely bent upon reaching Monticello that night. It was eight miles distant, and the road, which was rather a mountain bridle-path than an honest highway, was encumbered with snow three feet deep. We may fancy the sensations of the newly wedded bride at the chill appearance of the desolate landscape as she passed along through the snow; but she was a woman of courage and good sense, and did not care for inconvenience. It was late when they arrived, and a cheerless reception awaited them—or rather there was no reception at all. The fires were all out, the servants had gone to bed, and the place was as dark and silent as the grave. Conducting his wife to the little pavilion, which was the only part of the house habitable at the time, Jefferson proceeded to kindle a fire and do the honors. On a shelf behind some books part of a bottle of wine was discovered; and this formed the supper of the bridegroom and the bride. Far from being annoyed or discomfited by their reception, however, it only served for a topic of jest and laughter. The young lady was as light-hearted as a bird, and sent her clear voice ringing through the dreary little pavilion as gaily as she had ever done in the cheerful drawing-room of "The Forest;" and thus the long hours of the winter night fled away like minutes, winged with laughter, merriment, and song.—Harper's Magazine for July.

AFFAIRS OF STATE.

ADAM HORNER, of near Jonstown, was arrested on Saturday and held for trial for illicit dealing in whisky.

AN important suit terminated on Friday at Butler, in which Miss Kittie Conrad, of Karns City, formerly of Clarion county, figured as plaintiff, and William Keyser, of Campbell farm, as defendant. The suit was an action to recover damages for "breach of promise," and resulted in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $1,500. It was shown by the evidence that on eight different occasions Miss Conrad made preparations to be married, but the unfaithful William failed in each instance to appear. Three times the parents made preparations and invited guests with like results. These facts coming before the jury it took them but seven minutes and a half to decide in her favor as stated above.

FORGOTTEN.

BY CONSTANCE FENIMORE WOOLSON.

Once, looking through a little sheaf
Of papers stored from girlhood's years,
I chanced upon a faded leaf,
And read, half smiling half in tears.

This legend on the wrapping set
In delicate girl-writing small:
"Never this day, this leaf forget"
And, lo! I had forgotten all.

Nor could I think with all my care
What it did ever mean, and so
I slowly let the summer air
Waft it away, and watched it go.

With dreaming gaze. And is it thus,
I mused, with this world's joy and grief?
"Never forget," it seems to us,
As I wrote on my little sheaf;

When, lo! without our knowedge, curled
Our scroll of earth; its story small
Comes not into that higher world;
Besides—we have forgot it all

Mr. Morrow vs. Dr. Donnelly.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

Will you be kind enough to give the following room in your columns in this morning's issue of your paper? I see that at a meeting of the Catholic societies held at Emerald Hall, Dr. Donnelly charges the Orangemen with perjury. He says that they have sworn allegiance to a foreign power. Now this I denounce as being a malicious falsehood, and Dr. Donnelly is the author of it. The Orangemen of this country owe no allegiance to any country save the United States of America; this they have sworn to protect, and will protect so long as life remains. But a man like Dr. Donnelly to say that he is a loyal American citizen; he, a man who only recently took up arms against the United States flag, and had the flag of Ireland at the head of his column when he went to break the treaty with England and the United States, and take Canada as his possession! This man to call himself an American citizen and have the audacity to dictate to them how they will turn out to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the independence of this glorious Republic! Any information contrary to the above from Dr. Donnelly will be gladly received by me either in the papers or by letter addressed to Allegheny City.

Yours, &c.,
ROBERT MORROW.

FROM THE BLACK HILLS.

Interesting Letter from an Alleghenian—Dead Wood the Coming City—The Price of Provisions and Real Estate.

The following letter from the Black Hills was received in Allegheny City recently from a gentleman well known in the community, who is a reliable man in every particular:

DEAD WOOD, DAKOTA, May 18, 1876.

To —— ——.

I arrived here at noon to-day. The town is about three weeks old, and there are now about thirty houses in it and others going up as fast as they can be built. The claims in this locality are all taken up, and some of them have been resold as high as $5,000. There is one claim here from which its owners are taking out $700 per day; this I know to be true. There is plenty of work here for all who are willing to do it. Experienced miners get $5 per day and green hands $4. I took a contract to-day peeling logs and will make some money at it. In a few days I will have a steady job of work at good wages. I have had an adventurous trip, and have seen some strange sights, but thank Providence I have arrived here safe and the danger is all past. I may be deceived, but I think this is the place for a poor man. I will write to father in a few days and will give him all the particulars of my trip and my prospects here as well as my opinion of the place which I will by that time be able to form more correctly, but I think he and Albert had better come out here. There are three of us in our party, and we will stick together to the end, Mark Smith, from Armstrong county, Pa., a German from South Pittsburgh, and myself.

It cost me ten cents in addition to the regular postage to send and secure a letter from Rapid City, but I cannot say what it will cost to send one from here. We paid five cents per pound for one freight to Rapid City, and five cents from there to this place, a distance of forty miles over the worst road I ever saw. We have about four weeks' provisions on hand, and wish we had more, as the prices of everything are high. Flour is worth $20 per 100 pounds; bacon 40 cents per pound; sugar 45; coffee 60; baking powder $1.50 per box. The real estate market is dreadfully lively, and prices looking up; lots that sold three weeks ago for $5.00 are now selling readily for $300.

I will have to close for this time, but will write you soon again.

Yours truly,
R. W. SHIPMAN.

TUESDAY, JUNE 13, 1876.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 28¼.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 102½.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 112½.

THE extremely warm and dry weather, for the past few days realizes our dream of summer very completely. It will more than meet the wishes of the politicians gathered at Cincinnati, we judge.

THE puddlers adhere firmly to their demand for five dollars a ton, and a sliding scale, for one year, and so the hoped for compromise between the two parties has not occurred. We have the hope, however, that some favorable arrangement can be made, and the lock-out ended. It is an unfortunate state of affairs for Pittsburgh, all round.

THE significant feature of the operations at Cincinnati, was the eagerness with which the delegates and people consulted the bulletins relative to Mr. BLAINE'S health. It indicated that popular interest centred in him, and that there is extreme solicitude as to whether he will be able to endure the strain of the office. The assuring bulletins of his physicians have fully dispelled all fears that it is more than temporary illness, arising from exposure to the noon-day sun.

IT IS among the possibilities that the Chinese labor question will cure itself, and along with it, Coolie importation. At North Adams, Massachusetts, Chinese labor is found to be unprofitable, owing to their failure to advance in skill. For the first few months they made progress, and then suddenly ceased. If this experience shall be general the problem of cheap labor by means of Chinese immigration, will be fully solved. They cannot be brought east, and the Pacific coast is swarming under an over-supply of the material.

WE have compared the salutatives of the new editors of the New York and Pittsburgh Christian Advocates and consider that of our new Pittsburgh editor the superior one. It is more fluent and easy in expression, and has more scope and grip of ideas. Dr. FOWLER shows a very appreciable amount of egotism, no freshness or suggestiveness of ideas, and a short, crabbed diction that seems entirely out of place in the editorial columns of the great Advocate; while Dr. WHEELER easily grasps the situation, and in a modest, sensible salutatory, clearly states his aim and purpose, in language and style that are agreeable and strong.

WE hope the warlike associations that gather about the 4th of July, will not continue to control the committee having in charge the forthcoming celebration of that glorious anniversary. It is an American celebration, and there should be no discussion as to the introduction of foreign emblems or banners. As we understand it, there is a readiness on the part of societies of foreign origin to omit the display of their banners, but the propensity to explain their differences incites discussion and bad blood. The entire subject should be decided, and promptly ruled out from all further discussion. There is no need of unfriendly debates, and quarrels over so simple a matter as the celebration of the Fourth of July.

THERE is an old saying that "sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander;" but the Democracy have no faith in that doctrine. The New York World bewails the suit against THOMPSON on account of money stolen from the Government, while Secretary of the Interior, as follows: "Secretary CHANDLER has begun early to beat the BLAINE gong for the campaign of 1876. He is doing himself no good, and certainly the country no good, by suing JACOB THOMPSON for public money which it appears that THOMPSON did not take and never had the least benefit from. The grounds on which this suit was begun would allow the persecution of almost every ex-Confederate in the country." This simply means that the medicine applied to BELKNAP must not be administered to THOMPSON.

THE Vice President apparently goes like a football among the politicians at Cincinnati, being valued only as it may enter in as an element in forming combinations. For example, HAYES has been offered the Vice Presidency if he will give his delegation to one of the leading candidates for the Presidential nomination. Each of the candidates, we judge, is playing the same role, and so bids are made all round. Any one having a moderately strong State delegation at his back, is quite sure of an offer of the Vice Presidency. The fault arises, in a large measure, from the failure of the people to designate suitable candidates for Vice President, as also on the part of those available for that position, in that all want to be Presidential candidates. Yet experience has taught us that we need exercise the greatest possible caution with regard to this second choice. ANDREW JOHNSON, and back of him, JOHN TYLER, are fair representatives of this danger. Even MILLARD FILLMORE, while personally a respectable man, gave us a nerveless and undecided administration of little positive benefit to the country. We have, at the present, more fear in that direction than in any other, as at Cincinnati, we are confident of BLAINE'S nomination. It is essential that we have a good second choice, and in the list of availables we know of none we prefer to WILLIAM A. WHEELER, of New York—a man stronger in that State, in our belief, than is Senator CONKLING.

THE PROBABILITIES.

So far as our scope of influence extends, the operations of the delegates at Cincinnati are not involved. Before this issue reaches Cincinnati the lines will have been closed, and the policy of delegates resolved upon. We therefore indulge in such conjectures as the situation warrants. It is evident that the policy of the leaders of the delegations opposed to BLAINE is to gain a tactical victory over him. If they could perfectly unite, that might possibly be done, but the difficulty in giving it effect arises from the fact that there is so nearly a majority among the delegates whose second choice is BLAINE, that it will be very difficult to succeed in tactics that require a majority of the entire Convention. A two-third rule would be as likely to hurt other candidates as BLAINE,—hence the difficulty of carrying it in Convention. The danger to BLAINE lies, mainly, in two directions. 1. In breaking and scattering his forces. There is much talk over their ability to do this, but we regard it as largely made up of buncombe. The effort is to weaken some by the declaration that others are weakening. We do not attach large importance to this, and yet, among impressible men, we cannot always be sure of the result. The effort is also made to create the impression that BLAINE has not made a satisfactory explanation of the MULLIGAN letters. To those who will not believe the evidence of a half dozen witnesses, it is impossible to furnish a satisfactory explanation. But to all who are disposed to consider legitimate evidence, the defense was satisfactory.

2. The second method is to consolidate the vote of all the candidates beside himself against him. This, as we think cannot be done. In the Pennsylvania and other delegations, there are many warm friends of BLAINE, who, if the attempt is made to break lines at all, will vote for, rather than against him. Still we recognize that much is often done by good management, and know that there are many shrewd politicians at work against him. Yet, we imagine that the known sympathies of the people will be largely influential, at least with such as are at Cincinnati, with the honest purpose of representing the wishes of the Republican party. And those sympathies are with BLAINE. No one believes, when it is brought close down that he is not an honest man. His record, all through, is better than that of any other candidate named. Taking into account these facts, and his heavy vote, we assume that his chances for the nomination are steadily increasing, and that he will be the candidate of the party. We also regard him as the strongest candidate of all that are prominently named. Governor HARTRANFT we rank as foremost among all, and believe he could be put in the forefront without the slightest fear of defeat. But as between BLAINE and his foes, we fancy he will be triumphant over them all.

SERVIA AND TURKEY.

The latest from Servia is more pacific in tone. The surrounding principalities have notified Prince MILAN that if he precipitates war, he will be held responsible for the results. Intelligence, it is said, has been forwarded to the Sultan that the arming of the Servians does not involve the violation of Turkish territory, but is rather pacific in its purposes, —all of which shows that another spirit possesses the threatening warriors, different from that of a fortnight since. Apropos of this, there is a report current of an old prophecy relative to the continuance of Turkish power in Europe. It has long been in circulation among the Sclavic races, and is to the purport that the Turks were to be driven out of Constantinople at the expiration of four hundred years from their first occupancy. This time expired on the 27th of May last. The very gate by which Constantinople was to be entered was pointed out. It is thought by many that the uprising of the Sclavic races was largely inspired by the prophecy. The time for its fulfilment having passed, their enthusiasm begins to subside. Such is the view now presented. It is quite probable that the real secret of the reported lull in warlike preparations, results from the fact that England has shown a very decided purpose to interfere in behalf of Turkey. At all events, there is a lull in warlike rumors.

Servia is the real backbone of the rebellion among the principalities. She is out of debt, and possessed of excellent credit, while Turkey is practically insolvent. The Servians are a warlike race, whose bravery and endurance have been tested through centuries of wars. Their army is thoroughly organized upon the German plan, and is thoroughly equipped. Servia has a regular standing army of 5,000, a national militia of 150,000, and a garrison force liable to duty of 80,000 men. Its militia of the first and second class is so organized that an army of from 70,000 to 80,000 men can be mobilized in a very short time. It has an artillery of 350 field guns and 400,000 muskets of improved patterns in its arsenals. It has now in the field an army of 75,000 men confronting a Turkish army of 27,000. Thus she is possessed of very decided strength, apart from what Russia may give her.

Her relations with Turkey have been unfriendly, for 400 years past. After the capture of a portion of her territory, by MOHAMMED II., in 1454, she was bandied about among the great powers, till in 1739, she was again restored to the Turks. But in 1805, her people rose under CZERNY GEORGE and forced the Sultan to recognize her semi-independence. By the treaty of Paris, in 1856, Servia was placed under protection of the great European powers as a semi-independent State, the twenty-eighth article of the treaty ordering that "the Principality of Servia shall continue to hold of the Sublime Porte, in conformity with the imperial decrees which fix and determine its rights and immunities, placed henceforward under the collective guarantee of the contracting powers. In consequence, the said Principality shall preserve its independent and national administration, as well as full liberty of worship, of legislation, of commerce, and of navigation." The Servians have the right to elect their rulers, have their own coinage and courts, and complete freedom of commerce. Their only obligation to Turkey is to pay an annual tribute of 2,300,000 piastres, or about $92,000, and by the terms of their treaty to furnish a certain contingent of troops in case of war. The antagonism between the two powers are those of race and religion. The Servians are Christians, and largely made up of the Sclavonic race. Their antagonism to the Turks is hereditary and invincible, and it is an outrage that they should pay tribute to that insulting power. If peace is secured now it will not be permanent.

THE SABBATH ISSUE.

The Sabbath question received a practical discussion in the Leader of Sunday last, from the pen of Mrs. SWISSHELM, who writes from Leipsic, Saxony, of a Sunday, possibly exceptional in its devotion to business, but illustrative of what the effect of the lax observance of the day is. She does not confine her remarks to the particular Sunday of fair day extravagance, but affirms generally that the day is, in its early part, devoted to intense toil, that the afternoon may be spent in equally laborious pleasure. Generalizing from these observations, she concludes that the oppressive condition of women, where she is residing, is largely attributable to this non-observance of the Sabbath. We refer to the letter, however, to cull from it, a quotation that embodies the gist of both observation and reflection on her part:

With all their boasted philosophy and humanity, these people give to the animals under their dominion no day of rest. To their poor horses, poor dogs, poor donkeys and poor women they allot no period of repose. To them it is work, work, work from morning, noon to night; then work without an evening fire to brighten their labor. Work Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sabbath; work from January to June, inclusive, and then from June to January; work for the meat that perisheth; work for the body that the worms or fire shall eat! Take no thought for the life to come! Perhaps all nations and kindreds, and tongues, and peoples who have ever lived have been mistaken in believing that it is not all of life to live nor all of death to die! Perhaps the universal instinct of humanity is a myth, a bubble, a dream; the universal longing for immortality an exception in a universe in which demand always points to supply! Perhaps man differs from all other creatures in having a want for whose gratification no provision has been made! So, let us build our social fabric on this perhaps: It seems like a very nice foundation, and no one has yet proved that it is not the very lid rock of truth. Away with your superstitions and your Sundays! We are going to have a good time! But is their time good? Are not all things dual, and one side ever controlled by its opposite? Can liberty exist without restraint, or labor be sweet without rest? Would not one day of even enforced rest, make the other six more profitable, apart from all religious consideration? As much of the enjoyment of life comes from imagination might it not be pleasant for us all to imagine we have souls capable of communion with the power which created or evolved this union; if this idea should once become as real to us as a theatrical representation, why might we not devote some special time to its indulgence? Say that we give only Wednesday evenings to imagining that some great actor is Hamlet or Richard III., why should we not give Sabbath to fancying ourselves children of the Heavenly King, and cultivating a love and reverence for that "Heaven Father" whom all people have discovered more or less dimly, and who may be a very proud and powerful reality, even if all the polowog systems that ever were broached could be or had been proved true?

The Leader evidently felt the force of the rebuke contained in the above, and weakly sought to break the force of the letter by pleading that the forenoon is the sacred part of the Sabbath, and the afternoon the secular. In order to balance up the days, it gives the evening before to the sacred part of the Sabbath. The Jewish Sabbath was from sunset to sunset. But Mrs. SWISSHELM'S complaint is that where she is there is no Sabbath—the forenoons being given to work, and the afternoons to enjoyment. This she claims not to be exceptional, but to constitute the real continental Sabbath. However prejudiced the Leader may be on the subject, it should not misrepresent the drift of its correspondence, which, as against what was seen in Saxony, argues that if our Sabbath is only based on the imagination, its elevating influence should cause it to be respected.

OLD TIME POLITICS.

The Old System of Presidential Nominations.

Our Presidents and Vice Presidents were, at first nominated by caucusses composed of the Senators and members of the House of Representatives belonging to each party. This caucus system, although we often see it decried by English writers and papers, was really derived from our early politicians from England. It became the habit of the Parliamentary leaders of the Whigs and Tories, soon after the revolution of 1688, to meet at taverns or club houses in order to provide discipline for the party ranks, to discuss and decide on measures, and even on special votes, and to designate the personnel of new ministries. Many an entertaining story of these conclaves, which often partook of a festive and literary as well as deliberate character, has come down to us in the writings of Addison, Steele, Hervey, and Horace Walpole; and although they were not known as "caucusses," they were such in form and in purpose.

Even before the Revolution, American politics had taken a distinct party shape, and what were virtually caucuses were held in the quaint old inns of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, on the part both of the Tories and the patriots. It was often decided in these conferences who should be sent to the General Court, who should be made Colonel of militia, who should be delegated to the Continental Congress. At the "Green Dragon," in Boston, notable conferences of the caucus order were wont to be held, in which Hancock, Adams, Otis and Warren were leading and inspiring spirits.

For the first three Presidential elections, however, there were no nominating caucuses of Congressmen, for the reason that the candidates were very clearly designated by the events of the Revolutionary and Constitution-forming period. * * *

It was in the year 1800, when a successor was to be chosen to President Adams, that the first caucus recorded in our history was held. It met at Philadelphia, was called by the Republican opposition, and comprised thirty-seven members of the Lower House and nine Senators. There was nothing very strict or formal about the meeting. These gentlemen met to discuss candidates, very likely in one of those coffee-houses which early Congressmen used to frequent in the Quaker City, and there seems to have been no very sharp rivalry for the places on the ticket. The caucus was of one accord that Jefferson should be presented to the people for the Presidency.

The first caucus in which there was a contest held in January, 1808. Jefferson was about to retire from the Presidency. It was certain that the nominee of his party would be elected. Virginia, that had already furnished two out of the three Presidents, supplied the rival candidates to the Republican caucus. One was James Madison, who, having begun as a Federalist, had become a strong political adherent of Jefferson, and was now Secretary of State. The other was Colonel Monroe, who had been minister to France. The caucus comprised ninety-four Senators and members, and Madison was nominated by 83 votes, George Clinton, the then Vice-President, receiving a renomination for that office.—Harper's Magazine for July.

"SLINGING SLANG."

Teaching a Smart Drummer the Good old English Language.

As a newly engaged commercial traveller was about starting on a commercial trip from his place in Chicago, the other day, he suddenly turned to his employer, a grave old merchant, and inquired: "I say, boss, what shall I do when I get out of soap?"

"Soap?" said the old man, "why, save your samples, and you won't get out."

"But I mean what shall I do when I get out of grease?" continued the young man.

"Grease? grease?" pondered the old man, "why you don't need any grease—you are not working for a lubricator estab——."

"Oh, but you don't understand me," chimed in the youthful employe, rather embarrassed. "I mean what shall I do if I run out of spondulix—stamps—wealth."

Spondulix? stamps? wealth?" echoed the mystified merchant, looking at the young man over his glasses, to see if he had gone crazy.

"Yes, currency—greenbacks," exclaimed the drummer, "cash money you know?"

A light seemed to dawn on the old gentleman's mind at this moment, for gazing upon the creature before him with a look of contempt and pity, he broke forth: "Young man what are you giving us? I rather guess you needn't go out, for I don't believe our class of customers could get along very well with you—they all speak English. Pull down your vest, step up to the cashier's desk and get your sugar. Now cheese it cully, you're bounced."

And that is the way the high-toned kid got bounced—all through the pernicious habit of slinging slang.—Cincinnati Enquirer

How He Screwed Him Up.

Jim has been working in the country, says the Jackson (Miss.) Pilot, and, on coming to town, was regaling his friends with his experience on the corner. "You know de man what I went to work wid? Well, you see he told me he would do better by me dan any of his neighbors was doin' by der hans; he would give de third of de crap, and I fine myself. Well, you see I went to church and gits squainted wid de neighbors' hans. Dars Mr. Washington, he is working on young Billy Smith's place, and is gittin' de fourth, and find hisself; and dars Mr. Linkum, he's workin' on old man Jones' place, and is gittin' de fifth, and is found bersides. Well, yer see, when I gits home, and was aworkin' in the crap, I got to studyin,' and de more I studied de more I come to the conclusion dat de third wasn't gwine to do me. So I goes to the boss, and says I—I says, 'You told me you was agwine to do better by me dan any of de neighbors was by dere hans.' He says he's been talkin' to 'em, and dat he was, and I says dat I've been havin' some constination with neighbors hans myself. Dat Smith's hans was gittin' de fourth, and Jones' hans was gittin' de fifth and found, and I wasn't gwine to stand no third. So he says he would rehinge de old one, and make a new contrack, and we bof come to town 'fore Squire Robinson and made it; here's the paper now, and dat's the way I screwed him up to the fourth. I tell you what's de fact, boys, you can't trust none ob dem white folks." And Jim mounted his mule and rode off.

A Texas Laughing Match.

That curiously-named Texas paper, the Jimplecute, says: "Mr. Dawson, of Baltimore, expended a very large amount of money in building the navy of the Republic of Texas, and after the passage of the compromise measures of 1850, giving to Texas $10,000,000, he was a regular attendant at the sessions of the Legislature, endeavoring to get his claim allowed. He was a most genial gentleman, and laughed louder and longer at his own or anybody else's jokes than any other man in Austin. There was living near him an old land locator and surveyer, named Bart Simms, whose loud and hearty laugh was a by-word. Some wags on one occasion got the two together and made bets on the result of their laughing powers, all of which was kept secret from the parties. Of course there was plenty of wine (or something stronger) and good stories, and Dawson and old Bart roared. Finally, when the night-cap was drunk, the two were informed of the bet, and the crowd decided that Dawson had won, as he had laughed the loudest, the longest, and the heartiest. Old Bart was at first a little crestfallen, but recovered his good humor by remarking: 'It is all right, gentlemen; but there is this difference, Dawson is laughing for a million, and I am only laughing for fun.'"

JEFFERSON'S MARRIAGE.

The Little Hymeneal Comedy Which Happily Ended.

The affair was quite a little comedy in some aspects, and ended, as all comedies should, with everybody made happy.

"Belinda" had been married many years, and her old admirer was approaching thirty, when he met with a young lady of twenty-two who produced a strong impression upon him. She was a little above the medium height, slender, but elegantly formed. A fair complexion, with a delicate tint of the rose, large hazel eyes, full of life and feeling, and luxuriant hair of a rich soft auburn, formed a combination of attractions which was eminently calculated to move the heart of a youthful bachelor. In addition to all this, the lady was admirably graceful; she rode, danced, and moved with elegant ease, and sang and played on the harpsichord very sweetly. Add still to these accomplishments the possession of excellent good sense, very considerable cultivation, a warm heart, and a considerable fortune, and it will not be difficult to understand how the youthful Mr. Jefferson came to visit very frequently at the lady's residence, in the county of Charles City. It was called "The Forest," and the name of the lady was Mrs. Mary Skelton. She was a daughter of John Wayles, an eminent lawyer, and had married, in her seventeenth year, Mr. Bathurst Skelton, who, dying in 1768, left his young wife a widow at nineteen. As the three years of mourning began to expire, the beautiful young lady found herself besieged at "The Forest" by numerous visitors. Of these, three were favorites with the fair Mrs. Skelton, of whom Mr. Thomas Jefferson was one. The tradition runs that the pretensions of the rivals were decided either by the musical accomplishments of the young counselor or by the fears of his opponents. The tale is differently related. One version is that the two unfortunate gentlemen encountered each other on Mrs. Skelton's door-step, but hearing Jefferson's violin and voice accompanying the lady in a pathetic song, gave up the contest thenceforth and retired without entering, convinced that the affair was beyond their control. The other story is that all three met at the door, and agreed that they would take their turns. Jefferson entered first, and the tones of the lady in singing with her companion deprived the listeners of all hope. However this may be, it is certain that the beautiful widow consented to become Mrs. Jefferson; and on the first day of January, 1772, there was a great festival at "The Forest." Friends and kindred assembled from far and near; there was frolicking and dancing after the abundant old fashion; and we find from the bridegroom's note-book that the servants and fiddlers received fees from his especial pocket. It snowed without, but within all was mirth and enjoyment, in the light and warmth of the great log fires, roaring in honor of the occasion. Soon after the performance of the ceremony, the bridegroom and his bride set out in their carriage for "Monticello," where Jefferson had commenced building in 1769, just before the destruction by fire of his patrimonial house of "Shadwell." The journey was not to end without adventures. As they advanced toward the mountains, the snow increased in depth, and finally they were compelled to leave the carriage, and proceed upon their way on horseback. Stopping to rest at "Blenheim," the seat of Colonel Carter, where they found, however, no one but an overseer, they left it at sunset, resolutely bent upon reaching Monticello that night. It was eight miles distant, and the road, which was rather a mountain bridle-path than an honest highway, was encumbered with snow three feet deep. We may fancy the sensations of the newly wedded bride at the chill appearance of the desolate landscape as she passed along through the snow; but she was a woman of courage and good sense, and did not care for inconvenience. It was late when they arrived, and a cheerless reception awaited them—or rather there was no reception at all. The fires were all out, the servants had gone to bed, and the place was as dark and silent as the grave. Conducting his wife to the little pavilion, which was the only part of the house habitable at the time, Jefferson proceeded to kindle a fire and do the honors. On a shelf behind some books part of a bottle of wine was discovered; and this formed the supper of the bridegroom and the bride. Far from being annoyed or discomfited by their reception, however, it only served for a topic of jest and laughter. The young lady was as light-hearted as a bird, and sent her clear voice ringing through the dreary little pavilion as gaily as she had ever done in the cheerful drawing-room of "The Forest;" and thus the long hours of the winter night fled away like minutes, winged with laughter, merriment, and song.—Harper's Magazine for July.

AFFAIRS OF STATE.

ADAM HORNER, of near Jonstown, was arrested on Saturday and held for trial for illicit dealing in whisky.

AN important suit terminated on Friday at Butler, in which Miss Kittie Conrad, of Karns City, formerly of Clarion county, figured as plaintiff, and William Keyser, of Campbell farm, as defendant. The suit was an action to recover damages for "breach of promise," and resulted in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $1,500. It was shown by the evidence that on eight different occasions Miss Conrad made preparations to be married, but the unfaithful William failed in each instance to appear. Three times the parents made preparations and invited guests with like results. These facts coming before the jury it took them but seven minutes and a half to decide in her favor as stated above.

FORGOTTEN.

BY CONSTANCE FENIMORE WOOLSON.

Once, looking through a little sheaf
Of papers stored from girlhood's years,
I chanced upon a faded leaf,
And read, half smiling half in tears.

This legend on the wrapping set
In delicate girl-writing small:
"Never this day, this leaf forget"
And, lo! I had forgotten all.

Nor could I think with all my care
What it did ever mean, and so
I slowly let the summer air
Waft it away, and watched it go.

With dreaming gaze. And is it thus,
I mused, with this world's joy and grief?
"Never forget," it seems to us,
As I wrote on my little sheaf;

When, lo! without our knowedge, curled
Our scroll of earth; its story small
Comes not into that higher world;
Besides—we have forgot it all

Mr. Morrow vs. Dr. Donnelly.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

Will you be kind enough to give the following room in your columns in this morning's issue of your paper? I see that at a meeting of the Catholic societies held at Emerald Hall, Dr. Donnelly charges the Orangemen with perjury. He says that they have sworn allegiance to a foreign power. Now this I denounce as being a malicious falsehood, and Dr. Donnelly is the author of it. The Orangemen of this country owe no allegiance to any country save the United States of America; this they have sworn to protect, and will protect so long as life remains. But a man like Dr. Donnelly to say that he is a loyal American citizen; he, a man who only recently took up arms against the United States flag, and had the flag of Ireland at the head of his column when he went to break the treaty with England and the United States, and take Canada as his possession! This man to call himself an American citizen and have the audacity to dictate to them how they will turn out to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the independence of this glorious Republic! Any information contrary to the above from Dr. Donnelly will be gladly received by me either in the papers or by letter addressed to Allegheny City.

Yours, &c.,
ROBERT MORROW.

FROM THE BLACK HILLS.

Interesting Letter from an Alleghenian—Dead Wood the Coming City—The Price of Provisions and Real Estate.

The following letter from the Black Hills was received in Allegheny City recently from a gentleman well known in the community, who is a reliable man in every particular:

DEAD WOOD, DAKOTA, May 18, 1876.

To —— ——.

I arrived here at noon to-day. The town is about three weeks old, and there are now about thirty houses in it and others going up as fast as they can be built. The claims in this locality are all taken up, and some of them have been resold as high as $5,000. There is one claim here from which its owners are taking out $700 per day; this I know to be true. There is plenty of work here for all who are willing to do it. Experienced miners get $5 per day and green hands $4. I took a contract to-day peeling logs and will make some money at it. In a few days I will have a steady job of work at good wages. I have had an adventurous trip, and have seen some strange sights, but thank Providence I have arrived here safe and the danger is all past. I may be deceived, but I think this is the place for a poor man. I will write to father in a few days and will give him all the particulars of my trip and my prospects here as well as my opinion of the place which I will by that time be able to form more correctly, but I think he and Albert had better come out here. There are three of us in our party, and we will stick together to the end, Mark Smith, from Armstrong county, Pa., a German from South Pittsburgh, and myself. It cost me ten cents in addition to the regular postage to send and secure a letter from Rapid City, but I cannot say what it will cost to send one from here. We paid five cents per pound for one freight to Rapid City, and five cents from there to this place, a distance of forty miles over the worst road I ever saw. We have about four weeks' provisions on hand, and wish we had more, as the prices of everything are high. Flour is worth $20 per 100 pounds; bacon 40 cents per pound; sugar 45; coffee 60; baking powder $1.50 per box. The real estate market is dreadfully lively, and prices looking up; lots that sold three weeks ago for $5.00 are now selling readily for $300.

I will have to close for this time, but will write you soon again.

Yours truly,
R. W. SHIPMAN.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, June 13, 1876.

The finance market presented no new features yesterday, the business at the banks being moderate. There is quite a large accummulation of funds at the banks, but not a sufficient demand of an acceptable character, to call out a very large discount line. The quiet at our mills, owing to the unadjusted difficulties between the manufacturers and the puddlers, has much to do with this. Efforts are being made to adjust this difficulty, but thus far the only progress made consists in the advance of the manufacturers toward the terms of the strikers. We judge, however, that this difficulty will eventually vanish, and that work at our mills will be resumed. We cannot conceive it possible that a difficulty involving so little difference between the contending parties, can be continued during the Summer. Our banks, and business generally, may be said to be in a healthy condition, though not transacting a large business, and the summer promises an improvement in general business.

—The glut of money, that is of loanable funds, in the open markets of the leading financial centres is best shown by the subjoined statement from the New York Shipping List of the rates of money: London, 1½ per cent.; Berlin, 2¾@3; Paris, 2@2¼f; Amsterdam, 3; Vienna, 4½@4¾; Frankfort, 2¾; Brussels, 2¼; St. Petersburg, 6; New York, 3@5. These rates indicate an enormous increase of capital in Europe and America, a prevalent inactivity of business and dearth of enterprise, and the arrest of railway building and corporate undertaking generally. With money so cheap everywhere in the leading commercial capitals it ought to be easy for the National Government to complete the work of funding our national debt in four and a half per cent. bonds, and yet the matter hangs fire because of the bankers who stand out for better terms in the shape of a consol or a long loan, or more fives or less fours. At the west the rates for money have declined seriously, thus showing that enterprise is as much paralyzed there as in Europe. In Chicago the rates for mortgages have fallen 2 ℘ cent. The decline in profits of investments of all kinds is continuous and exhibits no reaction. In some quarters the belief is that capital and wealth generally have become as excessive and superabundant as labor and material production, and that the combinations of capital to control rates have become ineffective because of the competition and the great losses of income from the idleness of surplus money. The immense mass of insolvency seems to imply that the orange has been squeezed dry.—Phila. North American.

—The London Telegraph makes this significant remark: When a retrospect is taken of the past twenty, or even ten years, it is lamentable to recall the mass of money irretrievably sunk in rotten securities, mostly foreign, and we may be disposed to envy in some notable cases the sagacity of investors who then hit on what now have proved to be the most popular of holdings. It is now only ten years since the five-twenty United States bonds were at or under 70, and in a decade they have risen to a very fair premium; but while at the heavy discount they were quietly absorbed by Germany, and it was not until the bonds took a decided upward movement that buyers here could be persuaded to touch them, whereas now, apart from French five per cent., no more popular investment is known. There is in this a proof that it is difficult without risking something, or being prematurely sanguine to point out really eligible investments at present for the mass of latent money, and however great a desideratum it might be to find a new channel for this, it must inevitably be left to time to efface the recollection of previous losses before that is possible to any extent.

—An interesting paper has been compiled which shows the results of railway progress in the United States. We learn from it that during the year the amount constructed was 2,035 miles, against 1,940 miles in 1874, and 3,948 miles in 1873. In 1871 there were 7,670 miles built, in 1872, 6,167. In 1860 the total miles in operation were 30,635. In 1875, 74,658 miles. The rapidity of railway growth is attested by the fact that in 1868 we had in the United States one mile of road to every 905 persons, while now we have a mile of road to every 591 persons.

NEW YORK, June 12, 1876.

Money closed easy at 2@3; prime mercantile paper 4@5½. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $70,000. The customs receipts were $378,000. The clearings were $22,000,000. Sterling 487½@489½. Gold opened and closed at 112⅝, with sales at 112⅜. The borrowing rates were 1@2. Loans were also made flat, and 1@3 for carrying. Governments were firm. Railroad bonds were firm, especially for St. Paul, which rose to 103¼ for LaCrosse Division and 90 for Consol Sinking Funds. State bonds were quiet. Missouri long sixes were firm. The week opened with general depression in the share list. On the Stock Exchange prices declined ⅛ to 3 per cent., and the market was dull for the most part, but after midday there was more pressure to sell. The greatest decline was in New York Central, which fell off from 108 to 105. There were apparently no orders on the market to sustain the stock, as of late, and the decline attracted much attention and exercised an unfavorable influence on the remainder of the list. The further cutting of westward bound freights and a reduction in passenger fares by the Grand Trunk to twelve dollars to Chicago were the chief causes of the decline. Wabash declined heavily. After the second call the market was weak at the lowest prices of the day, but during the last hour stocks were irregular, some shares closing at the lowest point of the day, and others showing a partial recovery. Western Union declined from 68⅞ to 68 regular and to 67⅞ seller sixty. At the close sales were made at 67⅞@67¾ regular. The transactions were 91,000 shares, of which 11,000 were Pacific Mail, 8,000 Western Union, 7,000 St. Pauls, 5,000 Erie, 31,000 Lake Shore, 3,000 Ohios, and 3,000 Michigan Central.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, June 12, 1876.

General business continues very dull, more so than usual at this season of the year, and no improvement can be expected now until after harvest, or until the fall trade sets in; the outlook at the present writing warrants the prediction that we are to have a very dull summer. There is no improvement to note in the grain business here, and prices are weak, although without quotable change. Wheat has been advanced sharply in Chicago within the past few days, but it is the result of manipulation, and is not likely to have any influence. Flour continues quiet and unchanged. The leading grocery markets continue dull, although a largely increased trade in sugars within the next few weeks is expected, and prices are much firmer in consequence. The hog products have stiffened up considerably, and the outlook at the present writing points to a still higher range of prices. Butter and Eggs continue dull, while Cheese if anything, is firmer.

The weather continues favorable for the growing crops, and the reports from all quarters indicate that there will be an abundant harvest. While there has been no rain here of any consequence for several weeks, and some things are wanting it, we observe that there has been considerable rain south and west recently.

ASHES—Trade continues dull, and prices are lower: Common Soda, 2¾a3c; Refined do., 3⅛a3¾c; Arsenic, 5c; Nitrate Soda, 4c.

ALE—There is no change to note in prices and trade is generally reported dull, like everything else, affected by the hard times. X $8 ℘ bbl to the city and $9 to country; XX $10; India $11. half bbls in proportion.

APPLES—Sales of green apples at $4a5 ℘ bbl for fair to choice, in a small way. Some new crop, the first of the season from South Carolina, have made their appearance.

BEANS—The market continues very dull, and while the supply is small, it is in excess of present wants. There is not likely to be any improvement this year, as they are about out of season; navies may be quoted, in a jobbing way, at $1a1,10 ℘ bu.

BRUSHES—White Scrubbing, $10a11 ℘ gross; Gray, $11a20; White Bristle, $22a36; Shoe, $13a40; Horse (wood backs) $22a68; Horse (leather backs) $45a125; Extra white-wash, $36a75; Common do, $24a80.

BELTING—Following are the current rates for best belting:

BROOM CORN—Dull; sales in small lots only. We quote: Choice No. 1 Hurl, 9c; No. 2 Hurl, 8c; choice green brush, 8c; red tipped, 7c; insides and covers, 5a6½c; crooked, 4a5c.

BEESWAX—There is a steady demand at 30a35c, as to quality.

BUTTER—The receipts are very large, and with a light demand, stocks are accumulating and prices steadily declining. Fine dairy quotable at 16a17c; prime, 14a15c; common, 10a12c. The tendency is to still lower prices.

BROOMS—There is a fair demand, but the market lacks activity, and prices are too low to admit of any further decline. Manufacturers generally complain of meagre profits at present prices.

CHEESE—There has been a very fair trade in the aggregate during the past week, notwithstanding the demand was mostly for small lots; no change in prices, but the tone of the market is firmer. Prime new Ohio Factory, 8½a9c to the trade, and in a jobbing way, 9¼a10c.

COAL AND COKE—Navigation continues suspended, hence there is no movement in coal; dealers generally would like to have it remain as it is for 6 months, so as to reduce stocks in the down river markets. Coke remains about as last quoted; $2,40a2.50 per ton delivered here.

CANNED GOODS—Are dull, in consequence of the abundance of fresh vegetables and Berries, and except for Peaches, will soon be out of season. Prices weak and in buyers favor.

2 lb Blackberries	$2 50	2 lb Bartlett Pears	$3 00
2 lb Blueberries	2 00	2 lb Common Pears	2 00

CEMENT, &c., &c.—Following are the jobbing rates: White Lime—Cleveland and Fremont, $1,60a1.75 ℘ bbl; Ohio, $1,50a1.65. COOPERAGE—Quiet, but prices well sustained with moderate business. Prime dry pointed staves, $32; do matched, 34; bucked staves, 31; do matched, 33; split heading, 40; sawed do, 43; rough staves, $22. Oil Barrels dull; countries, $1,05; city make, $1,20a1,25.

DRIED FRUIT—About out of season. No sales and quotations nominal. Dried Peaches, 10½a11½; do. Apples, 8a8½c.

EGGS—The arrivals, although not large, are sufficient to supply the demand, which is always light during the heated term, when there are but few buyers aside from the bakers and hotels, hence prices are but little better; some dealers incline to the believe that the market has touched bottom, and are loth to sell at current rates, while others appear to have but little confidence in the immediate future of the market, and are selling on arrival as rapidly as possible. Quotations may be fairly given at 12a12½c.

FLOUR—There is but little that is really new or important to record in regard to this important staple: the market continues quiet—the demand is confined entirely to supplying immediate wants, as there is no inducement in the present condition of the market to carry large stocks, while prices remain unchanged. The probability is that there will be no change in well known brands during the next 30 or 40 days, or until the yield of the coming wheat crop is more definitely ascertained; the prospects just now are very favorable, but there is danger while it is in the field. There is no scarcity of low grades offering, and it is very dull, as the inquiry is almost entirely for good stock. We continue former quotations, in a jobbing way: Spring wheat flours, $6,00a6,75, the outside figure for choice Minnesotas; red winters, $6,50a$7; ambers, 7,25a7,50; fancy white wheat and patent process, $8,50a9,50. Rye Flour, 4,75a5.

FISH—There is a fair trade, but no recent change in prices. We quote:

FEATHERS—In fair demand for this season of the year; sales round lots, 56a57 and 58 for extra fine lots.

GINSENG—New has not arrived in sufficient quantities to establish quotations, and in the absence of sales we omit prices. We would caution shippers particularly against shipping root not thoroughly dry.

GROCERIES—The New York and Baltimore markets are reported firm but without much activity. The views of importers and jobbers are wide apart, and consequently transactions are only effected, as necessity requires the jobbing interest to stock up for the western demand, which is light. The estimated consumption of Brazil coffee in the United States for the current year will, it is said, be below the average, while the accumulation of stock is larger in first and second hands than has been carried for many years. The statistics show:

	Bags.
Brazil Coffee in first hands in the U. S.	212,757

The new crop promises a full average. The market at Rio is firm and the daily receipts 4,600 bags. The market for sugars is fairly active at higher valuations as noted before, and the tendency upward. The stock of raw sugar is quite diminished and the production of refined limited. An unusually active market is anticipated by the refiners during the fruit season, with an advance in prices as it progresses. The stock of raw in first hands is 21,000 hhds below same date last year. Syrups dull but steady. N. O. Molasses firm. Foreign Molasses low and neglected. Teas unchanged. Spices firmer. Carolina Rice firm. Foreign scarce; no Rangoon offering.

GRAIN—The grain market has been unusually dull the past week. The usual rush to sell surplus grain the farmer has to spare after seeding and spring work is over, has brought out a much larger amount of grain than was thought to be held back particularly Oats. The offerings of Oats are much in excess of the demand; also, Wheat is offered more freely from local points, with considerable of the crop of 1874, which is much better than the crop of '75; the two crops when mixed make a fair average, and supplies the country mills thereby cutting off the demand from that quarter. Our city mills are receiving some good lots of old Wheat from Ohio, which they prefer to the new or crop of '75 they have been receiving from the North and Northwest. The reports of the growing crop of winter wheat are conflicting; some localities claim to have a good average crop, while others say in their locality there won't be half a crop particularly in low lands, where it is badly injured. After making due allowance for exaggeration, we are led to believe there will be a fair crop of winter wheat, although there are many uncertainties yet, such as fly or chintz bug, storms, and wet weather, in harvest. New wheat is now offered in some of the southern markets, but not in quantities to change the price. Spring Wheat is not far enough advanced to know much about it yet. The fluctuation in prices, in Chicago, the last week, has been frequent and varied, caused by reports of war and peace in Europe, but partly by the light stocks in store there, less than one million to over four million same time last year. The price in this market has been a little weak, although not much lower for good lots; old wheat, $1,40a1,45; new sound red, 1,33a1,35; fair Ohio, 1,20a1,25; low grade, 90a1,10. Corn is not so much wanted in warm weather; good sound yellow, 53a54; mixed, 50a52 in elevator; Ear, 53a55. Rye dull and not much wanted, 70a75. Oats very plenty and market demoralized; several Ohio shippers were on the market peddling around amongst the retailers, endeavoring to make sales for future delivery; we quote 35a37 as to quality, and the feelings of the buyer and seller; it is thought by some of our dealers there will a reaction before harvest is over, as oats is now below the cost of raising.

HEMP—$125a130 ℘ ton for Ky. Rough.

HAY—We have to report a continued dull market, with a supply considerably in excess of the demand, and prices are weak and lower in consequence. No. 1 timothy (baled) at $14a15, and prairie, $8a10, as to quality and condition. Loose, from country wagons, $12a18. The prospects just now are very favorable for a heavy hay crop, and holders are anxious to realize in consequence.

HIDES—The prices have declined since our last report. There is a good demand for heavy steers, but cows, bulls and damaged are lower and hard to sell. We quote:

Green Salted Cows	6½a 7
Green Salted Steers, Light	7½a 8
Green Salted Steers, Heavy	9 a 9½
Green Salted Calf	9 a11
Green Butcher Cows	5½

LEATHER—General market rather quiet. Rough Leather in fair demand for choice article—common grades a drug in the market. Upper and Kip—no demand except for usual hand-to-mouth actual orders. Calf slow. Red Sole in good demand in small lots. We quote:

PROVISIONS—There is a continued good jobbing demand, and the general tone of the market is firmer, but dealers do not care to advance prices here yet, being apprehensive that there may be another reaction. At current rates the consumption should be considerably increased, and once the market becomes more settled, we look for an increased demand. Following are the current jobbing rates:

ALLEGHENY LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, June 12, 1876.

CATTLE.

The supply was 84 head less than that of last week, but there was no perceptible improvement in the market; light weights, of good quality, possibly sold a little more readily, and in some instances at a slight improvement in rates, while heavy cattle were dull, and some dealers reported lower. The Chicago bought cattle, which, with the exception of two cars constituted the entire supply, did not cost as much by 10a12½c ℘ cwt as those of last week, and this was about the only redeeming feature of the market; for notwithstanding the small supply, there were some left over unsold, and we apprehend that dealers generally would not more than make a commission to-day, if that.

Sales were reported at 6a6¼ for very choice butcher stock; 5¼a5¾ for prime; 4½a5¼ for medium to good, and 3½a4 for common; the bulk of the sales were within the range of 4½a5½. As already intimated, light cattle of good quality sold more readily and for as much money as heavy cattle.

Butchers report that the hot weather has curtailed the consumption of beef very materially, hence many of them did not want to buy as many cattle to-day in consequence. And notwithstanding the butchers are getting cattle cheaper than for a number of years, many of them complain that they are making no money.

L. Rothchilds, 1 car fair butcher stock, averaging 1,100 lbs. at 5¼a5½c.

F. Rick sold 1 car of fair to good butcher cattle at 5a5¾c.

N. Arnold, 1 car of fair to good butcher cattle at 4¾a5½c.

Holmes, Lafferty & Co. sold 2 cars of fair to good butcher cattle at 5a5¼c.

Varner & Aull sold 1 car of butcher cattle, for Doud & Merrick, of Chicago, at 4¾a5¼c.

Carr & Jeremy sold 1 car of Chicago cattle at 5a5,60; 1 car of Ohio cattle at 3¼a4¾c.

B. S. Trauerman & Son, 2 cars of butcher cattle at 4,85a5,75c.

James Hunter reported 2 cars of Chicago butcher stock at 4¾a5⅜c.

J. Shamberg, 2 cars of butcher cattle, weighing 900a1,150 lbs, at 4,65a5,25c.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The number on sale was the largest of the season, and the market was also the hardest; there were several lots of prime sheep, but the most of them were left over, sellers refusing to accept prices they could have obtained, which were 25a35c lower than those of last week. Prime fat sheep cannot be quoted above 5a5¼. Butchers, for some reason or other, bought very sparingly, and in consequence of the hot weather, extra heavy did not sell as readily as light weights. Lambs were in very fair demand, but prices ruled lower. Sales were made at $2a4 per head, according to quality, with a number of common left over unsold.

HOGS.

Were in light supply, but the market was dull, although there was a firmer feeling in sympathy with the advance elsewhere; sales were reported at 6a6⅜, gross in a retail way.

VEAL CALVES.

Continue scarce and in demand at the recent advance, but it is not likely that current rates 5½a6½ per lb, will be sustained long.

FRESH COWS.

There was a light supply to-day, but the offerings were mostly common, for which there was not much inquiry, and the market was dull at about last weeks prices, $35a65 according to quality.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The package trade in cotton goods was light. White ground and shirting prints were taken in small parcels, and cambrics and percales were in fair demand. Dress goods and shawls are quiet. Woolen goods are depressed by the impending auction sale of 20,000 pieces. Foreign goods continued quiet.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, June 12, 1876.

The market for Crude continues quiet, with little or no change in prices, as compared with Saturday. United certificates, $1,97½; Union, $1,96¼; immediate shipment, $2,22½. Advices from the source of supply complain that the "combination" is "bearing" the raw article, and that the combination refiners are holding off with this in view. Refined quiet and unchanged; Philadelphia delivery, 14⅜a14⅝c; Baltimore, 14a14½c; on cars here, 11a11½c.

THE WOOL TRADE.

Pittsburgh.

The market is extremely dull, and dealers are indifferent about taking hold of the new clip. The present condition of the woolen manufacturing interest is so depressed and the outlook for the future so gloomy, that the general impression among dealers is that prices have not yet touched bottom. In our last weekly report we spoke of 30c being offered for good lots of medium and fine fleece, but the prospect is that unless the eastern quotations show better, dealers and agents cannot afford to pay over 25 to 28 cents for this class of wools; on the other hand the clip is unusually large, and on the other the consumption of wool is very considerably reduced by the failure of many mills and the large accumulation of goods. We hear of considerable sales of tub washed and combing fleece at 30 to 35c, but coarse fleece is dull at 28 to 30, medium fleece at 30c, and fine fleece, 25 to 30c. We look for lower prices before any activity is manifested in the trade.

AT Little Rock, last Wednesday, Wash Floyd, clerk of the Ross Miller, saved three boys from drowning, whose skiff had upset in the middle of the Arkansas river.

JOHN BINDLEY, eldest son of Capt. John S. McMillan, died at the residence of his parents yesterday, aged between three and four years. Funeral to-day at 3 P. M.

CAPT. J. V. REYNOLDS, of the Julia No. 2, says the new Virgie Lee is ready for her machinery which will receive this week, and be ready to raise steam by the first of July.

THE Exchange, Capt. Jas. M. Kirker, as will be seen by card, is announced to take her departure at noon to-day, and she goes clear through to Cincinnati this trip. As a low-water packet the Exchange has no superior, and no delay from that cause need be expected. The Maddy brothers are in charge of the office.

THE towboat Veteran, while going in for a flat of stone at the foot of Crow's Island, struck a log, and sank in about 5 feet of water. She lays a little careened. Capt. G. D. Laughlin, her commander, came up yesterday, and took the tug boat Seven Sons down to pump her out, and expects to have her raised in a few days.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to the Cincinnati Commercial: What about that much-talked-of towboat race that was to have been run between Louisville and Pittsburgh, May 29? Was it "pay up" or "shut up?" Lots of us East-Enders would like to know, you know.—Yawl. [If 'Yawl' refers to the towboats Oakland and Fred. Wilson, we can say the race is 'off.' Brother Fisher, the Inspector, can inform our correspondent more definitely on this subject.—Ed. Com.]

TIMES among vessels on the northern lakes appear to be as tight this year as they were last, and no profit is promised in the carrying trade to any point. Cedar posts are carried from Cedar river to Chicago at 4c a piece, and iron ore from Depen to Chicago at 50c per ton. A schooner sunk $450 in a recent voyage from Oswego to Green Bay. Several schooners have recently been chartered to carry pine lumber from ports on Lake Michigan directly to Liverpool and the west coast of England at $5,000 gold for the voyage. A cargo of corn was engaged a few days since from Chicago for Kingston, Canada, for 5¼c per bushel, and grain is carried regularly from Chicago to Buffalo at 2⅛a2¾c per bushel.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch under date of Saturday says: Business more active. The Polar Star has completed her repairs, and left for the Tennessee River. The Bismarck and Atlantic and barges are receiving for New Orleans, to leave Tuesday. Everything is working harmoniously with the pool as yet, though it is hinted that outside tonnage will soon be put on berth. Capt. Jno. M. Peters, manager of the Brown & Jones coal business at Memphis, passed through the city to-day on his way home from Chicago. The Tom Means left for Ashland last night with 1,200 tons of ore, and the Jno. Means and Liberty are loading barges to follow next week. The Iron Mountain brought 1,400 tons, and returned to Cairo after two barges of coke. Com. J. H. Dunlap remains here. The Mary Miller left for the Ironpile, where she gets 200 tons of metal, and possibly more. She has little else besides 1,000 sacks of corn and a few tons of miscellaneous freight.

It is too well known that hundreds, nay thousands suffer from the effects of early indiscretion and seek in vain for relief, for none but the educated physician who has made these subjects a specialty is likely to succeed in restoring the patient to health and strength. To all such Drs. Jordan and Davieson offer certain and speedy relief, and undertake no cases but those in which they are able to guarantee a safe, certain and permanent cure. Their important Medical Work may be had from their office, No. 2 Eighth street, on receipt of 25 cents, and also as usual from their head establishment, 1625 Filbert street, Philadelphia. Hours of consultation from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M., and from 5 P. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Every case is strictly confidential. d&S

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, June 13, 1876.

The finance market presented no new features yesterday, the business at the banks being moderate. There is quite a large accumulation of funds at the banks, but not a sufficient demand of an acceptable character, to call out a very large discount line. The quiet at our mills, owing to the unadjusted difficulties between the manufacturers and the puddlers, has much to do with this. Efforts are being made to adjust this difficulty, but thus far the only progress made consists in the advance of the manufacturers toward the terms of the strikers. We judge, however, that this difficulty will eventually vanish, and that work at our mills will be resumed. We cannot conceive it possible that a difficulty involving so little difference between the contending parties, can be continued during the Summer. Our banks, and business generally, may be said to be in a healthy condition, though not transacting a large business, and the summer promises an improvement in general business.

—The glut of money, that is of loanable funds, in the open markets of the leading financial centres is best shown by the subjoined statement from the New York Shipping List of the rates of money: London, 1¼ per cent.; Berlin, 2⅞@3; Paris, 2@2½f; Amsterdam, 3; Vienna, 4½@4½; Frankfort, 2⅞; Brussels, 2¼; St. Petersburg, 6; New York, 3@5. These rates indicate an enormous increase of capital in Europe and America, a prevalent inactivity of business and dearth of enterprise, and the arrest of railway building and corporate undertaking generally. With money so cheap everywhere in the leading commercial capitals it ought to be easy for the National Government to complete the work of funding our national debt in four and a half per cent. bonds, and yet the matter hangs fire because of the bankers who stand out for better terms in the shape of a consol or a long loan, or more fives or less fours. At the west the rates for money have declined seriously, thus showing that enterprise is as much paralyzed there as in Europe. In Chicago the rates for mortgages have fallen 2 ℔ cent. The decline in profits of investments of all kinds is continuous and exhibits no reaction. In some quarters the belief is that capital and wealth generally have become as excessive and superabundant as labor and material production, and that the combinations of capital to control rates have become ineffective because of the competition and the great losses of income from the idleness of surplus money. The immense mass of insolvency seems to imply that the orange has been squeezed dry.—Phila. North American.

—The London Telegraph makes this significant remark: When a retrospect is taken of the past twenty, or even ten years, it is lamentable to recall the mass of money irretrievably sunk in rotten securities, mostly foreign, and we may be disposed to envy in some notable cases the sagacity of investors who then hit on what now have proved to be the most popular of holdings. It is now only ten years since the five-twenty United States bonds were at or under 70, and in a decade they have risen to a very fair premium; but while at the heavy discount they were quietly absorbed by Germany, and it was not until the bonds took a decided upward movement that buyers here could be persuaded to touch them, whereas now, apart from French five per cent., no more popular investment is known. There is in this a proof that it is difficult without risking something, or being prematurely sanguine to point out really eligible investments at present for the mass of latent money, and however great a desideratum it might be to find a new channel for this, it must inevitably be left to time to efface the recollection of previous losses before that is possible to any extent.

—An interesting paper has been compiled which shows the results of railway progress in the United States. We learn from it that during the year the amount constructed was 2,035 miles, against 1,940 miles in 1874, and 3,948 miles in 1873. In 1871 there were 7,670 miles built, in 1872, 6,167. In 1860 the total miles in operation were 30,635. In 1875, 74,658 miles. The rapidity of railway growth is attested by the fact that in 1868 we had in the United States one mile of road to every 905 persons, while now we have a mile of road to every 591 persons.

NEW YORK, June 12, 1876.

Money closed easy at 2@3; prime mercantile paper 4@5½. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $70,000. The customs receipts were $378,000. The clearings were $22,000,000. Sterling 487½@489½. Gold opened and closed at 112⅝, with sales at 112⅜. The borrowing rates were 1@2. Loans were also made flat, and 1@3 for carrying. Governments were firm. Railroad bonds were firm, especially for St. Paul, which rose to 103½ for LaCrosse Division and 90 for Consol Sinking Funds. State bonds were quiet. Missouri long sixes were firm. The week opened with general depression in the share list. On the Stock Exchange prices declined ⅛ to 3 per cent., and the market was dull for the most part, but after midday there was more pressure to sell. The greatest decline was in New York Central, which fell off from 108 to 105. There were apparently no orders on the market to sustain the stock, as of late, and the decline attracted much attention and exercised an unfavorable influence on the remainder of the list. The further cutting of westward bound freights and a reduction in passenger fares by the Grand Trunk to twelve dollars to Chicago were the chief causes of the decline. Wabash declined heavily. After the second call the market was weak at the lowest prices of the day, but during the last hour stocks were irregular, and some shares closing at the lowest point of the day, and others showing a partial recovery. Western Union declined from 68⅛ to 68 regular and to 67⅛ seller sixty. At the close sales were made at 67⅜@67⅞ regular. The transactions were 91,000 shares, of which 11,000 were Pacific Mail, 8,000 Western Union, 7,000 St. Pauls, 5,000 Erie, 21,000 Lake Shore, 3,000 Ohios, and 3,000 Michigan Central.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, June 12, 1876.

General business continues very dull, more so than usual at this season of the year, and no improvement can be expected now until after harvest, or until the fall trade sets in; the outlook at the present writing warrants the prediction that we are to have a very dull summer. There is no improvement to note in the grain business here, and prices are weak, although without quotable change. Wheat has been advanced sharply in Chicago within the past few days, but it is the result of manipulation, and is not likely to have any influence. Flour continues quiet and unchanged. The leading grocery markets continue dull, although a largely increased trade in sugars within the next few weeks is expected, and prices are much firmer in consequence. The hog products have stiffened up considerably, and the outlook at the present writing points to a still higher range of prices. Butter and Eggs continue dull, while Cheese if anything, is firmer.

The weather continues favorable for the growing crops, and the reports from all quarters indicate that there will be an abundant harvest. While there has been no rain here of any consequence for several weeks, and some things are wanting it, we observe that there has been considerable rain south and west recently.

ASHES—Trade continues dull, and prices are lower: Common Soda, 2¾a3c; Refined do., 3⅝a3⅞c; Arsenic, 5c; Nitrate Soda, 4c.

ALE—There is no change to note in prices and trade is generally reported dull, like everything else, affected by the hard times. X $8 ℔ bbl to the city and $9 to country; XX $10; India $11. half bbls in proportion.

APPLES—Sales of green apples at $4a5 ℔ bbl for fair to choice, in a small way. Some new crop, the first of the season from South Carolina, have made their appearance.

BEANS—The market continues very dull, and while the supply is small, it is in excess of present wants. There is not likely to be any improvement this year, as they are about out of season; navies may be quoted, in a jobbing way, at $1a1.10 ℔ bu.

BRUSHES—White Scrubbing, $10a11 ℔ gross; Gray, $11a20; White Bristle, $22a36; Shoe, $13a40; Horse (wood backs) $22a66; Horse (leather backs) $45a135; Extra white-wash, $36a75; Common do, $24 a60.

BEESWAX—There is a steady demand at 30a35c, as to quality.

BUTTER—The receipts are very large, and with a light demand, stocks are accumulating and prices steadily declining. Fine dairy quotable at 16a17c; prime, 14a15c; common, 10a12c. The tendency is to still lower prices.

BROOMS—There is a fair demand, but the market lacks activity, and prices are too low to admit of any further decline. Manufacturers generally complain of meagre profits at present prices.

CHEESE—There has been a very fair trade in the aggregate during the past week, notwithstanding the demand was mostly for small lots; no change in prices, but the tone of the market is firmer. Prime new Ohio Factory, 8½a9c to the trade, and in a jobbing way, 9½a10c.

COAL AND COKE—Navigation continues suspended, hence there is no movement in coal; dealers generally would like to have it remain as is for months, so as to reduce stocks in the down river markets. Coke remains about as last quoted; $2.40 a2.50 per ton delivered here.

CANNED GOODS—Are dull, in consequence of the abundance of fresh vegetables and Berries, and except for Peaches, will soon be out of season. Prices weak and in buyers favor.

CEMENT, &c., &c.—Following are the jobbing rates: White Lime—Cleveland and Fremont, $1.40 a1.75 ℔ bbl; Ohio, $1.50a1.65. DRIED FRUIT—About out of season. No sales and quotations nominal. Dried Peaches, 10½a11½; do. Apples, 8a8½c.

EGGS—The arrivals, although not large, are sufficient to supply the demand, which is always light during the heated term, when there are but few buyers aside from the bakers and hotels, hence prices are but little better; some dealers incline to the believe that the market has touched bottom, and are loth to sell at current rates, while others appear to have but little confidence in the immediate future of the market, and are selling on arrival as rapidly as possible. Quotations may be fairly given at 12a12½c.

FLOUR—There is but little that is really new or important to record in regard to this important staple. The market continues quiet—the demand is confined entirely to supplying immediate wants, as there is no inducement in the present condition of the market to carry large stocks, while prices remain unchanged. The probability is that there will be no change to well known brands during the next 30 or 60 days, or until the yield of the coming wheat crop is more definitely ascertained; the prospects just now are very favorable, but there is danger while it is in the field. There is no scarcity of low grades offering, and in store, as the inquiry is almost entirely for good stock. We continue former quotations, in a jobbing way: Spring wheat flours, $6.00a6.75, the outside figure for choice Minnesota; red winters, $6.50a7; ambers, 7.25a7.50; fancy white wheat and patent process, $8.50a9.50. Rye Flour, 4.75a5.

FEATHERS—In fair demand for this season of the year; sales round lots, 56a57 and 58 for extra fine lots.

GINSENG—New has not arrived in sufficient quantities to establish quotations, and in the absence of sales we omit prices. We would caution shippers particularly against shipping root not thoroughly dry.

GROCERIES—The New York and Baltimore markets are reported firm but without much activity. The views of importers and jobbers are wide apart, and consequently transactions are only effected, as necessity requires the jobbing interest to stock up for the western demand, which is light. The estimated consumption of Brazil coffee in the United States for the current year will, it is said, be below the average, while the accumulation of stock is larger in first and second hands than has been carried for many years. The statistics show:

	Bags.
Brazil Coffee in first hands in the U. S.	212,757

Java " first "	42,000
Maricaibo " "	40,125

The new crop promises a full average. The market at Rio is firm and the daily receipts 4,600 bags. The market for sugars is fairly active at higher valuations as noted before, and the tendency upward. The stock of raw sugar is quite diminished and the production of refined limited. An unusually active market is anticipated by the refiners during the fruit season, with an advance in prices as it progresses. The stock of raw in first hands is 31,000 hhds below same date last year. Syrups dull but steady. N. O. Molasses firm. Foreign Molasses low and neglected. Teas unchanged. Spices firmer. Carolina Rice firm. Foreign scarce; no Rangoon offering.

GRAIN—The grain market has been unusually dull the past week. The usual rush to sell surplus grain the farmer has to spare after seeding and spring work is over, has brought out a much larger amount of grain than was thought to be held back particularly Oats. The offerings of Oats are much in excess of the demand; also, Wheat is offered more freely from local points, with considerable of the crop of 1874, which is much better than the crop of '75; the two crops when mixed make a fair average, and supplies the country mills thereby cutting off the demand from that quarter. Our city mills are receiving some good lots of old Wheat from Ohio, which they prefer to the new or crop of '75 they have been receiving from the North and Northwest. The reports of the growing crop of winter wheat are conflicting; some localities claim to have a good average crop, while others say in their locality there won't be half a crop particularly in low lands, where it is badly injured. After making due allowance for exaggeration, we are led to believe there will be a fair crop of winter wheat, although there are many uncertainties yet, such as fly or chintz bug, storms, and wet weather, in harvest. New wheat is now offered in some of the southern markets, but not in quantities to change the price. Spring Wheat is not far enough advanced to know much about it yet. The fluctuation in prices, in Chicago, the last week, has been frequent and varied, caused by reports of war and peace in Europe, but partly by the light stocks in store there, less than one million to over four million same time last year. The price in this market has been a little weak, although not much lower for good lots; old wheat, $1.40a1.45; new sound red, 1.33a1.35; fair Ohio, 1.20a1.25; low grade, 90a1.10. Corn is not so much wanted in warm weather; good sound yellow, 53a54; mixed, 50a52 in elevator; Ear, 53a55. Rye dull and not much wanted, 70a75. Oats very plenty and market demoralized; several Ohio shippers were on the market peddling around amongst the retailers, endeavoring to make sales for future delivery; we quote 35a37 as to quality, and the feelings of the buyer and seller; it is thought by some of our dealers there will a reaction before harvest is over, as oats is now below the cost of raising.

HEMP—$125a130 ℔ ton for Ky. Rough.

HAY—We have to report a continued dull market, with a supply considerably in excess of the demand, and prices are weak and lower in consequence. No. 1 timothy (baled) at $14a15, and prairie, $8a10, as to quality and condition. Loose, from country wagons, $12a18. The prospects just now are very favorable for a heavy hay crop, and holders are anxious to realize in consequence.

HIDES—The prices have declined since our last report. There is a good demand for heavy steers, but cows, bulls and damaged are lower and hard to sell. We quote:

Green Salted Steers, Heavy	8 a 9½
Green Salted Calf	9 a11

LUMBER—The lumber afloat in the market has mostly been sold, prime timber selling from $8 to $15 per cubic; Hemlock from $5 to $7; sawed lumber was sold from $14 to $18 per M, as to quality, and from $10 to $15 for coarse lots. Yard trade is quiet; some dealers report a better trade than last year at same time. We quote:

MILL FEED—Continues very dull, but the arrivals for a couple of weeks past have been light, but so is the demand, and prices are weak and in buyers favor. Bran is quoted, on wharf and track, $13a14; Seconds and Shorts, $14a16; Middlings, $18a20; Chopped Feed, $20a22 ℔ ton, as to quality.

OILS—Lower, in keeping with the recent decline in Lard. We quote: Extra Winter Strained, 95c ℔ gallon; Spring No. 1, 85a88c; No. 2, 67a70c; Miners oil, 60a62c. Carbon quoted at 11½a12 cents ℔ gallon in a jobbing way. Linseed Oil, 60a62c.

PECANS—In light request at 10a10½c.

POTATOES—The supply of old crop, although not large, is fully up to the demand, but prices remain about as last quoted; 30a35c ℔ bu. on track by the carload, and 35a40c ℔ bu. in a jobbing way. New crop Carolina Potatoes, $4a4.50 ℔ bbl.

POULTRY—Live Chickens selling, by the coop, at 50a60c ℔ pair for young, and 65a70c ℔ pair for old.

PEA-NUTS—Dull, especially Tennessee red, which we quote at 5a5½c. Tennessee white selling in job lots only at 6½a7 for choice well cleaned. 5a 5½c for dirty and badly handled. Virginia held at 8½c for strictly choice, while some lots of very inferior are on the market at much less prices.

PROVISIONS—There is a continued good jobbing demand, and the general tone of the market is firmer, but dealers do not care to advance prices here yet, being apprehensive that there may be another reaction. At current rates the consumption should be considerably increased, and once the market becomes more settled, we look for an increased demand. Following are the current jobbing rates:

ALLEGHENY LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, June 12, 1876.

CATTLE.

The supply was 84 head less than that of last week, but there was no perceptible improvement in the market; light weights, of good quality, possibly sold a little more readily, and in some instances at a slight improvement in rates, while heavy cattle were dull, and some dealers reported lower. The Chicago bought cattle, which, with the exception of two cars constituted the entire supply, did not cost as much by 10a12½c ℔ cwt as those of last week, and this was about the only redeeming feature of the market; for notwithstanding the small supply, there were some left over unsold, and we apprehend that dealers generally would not more than make a commission to-day, if that.

Sales were reported at 6a6¼ for very choice butcher stock; 5¾a5⅞ for prime; 4¾a5¼ for medium to good, and 3½a4 for common; the bulk of the sales were within the range of 4¾a5¾. As already intimated, light cattle of good quality sold more readily and for as much money as heavy cattle.

Butchers report that the hot weather has curtailed the consumption of beef very materially, hence many of them did not want to buy as many cattle to-day in consequence. And notwithstanding the butchers are getting cattle cheaper than for a number of years, many of them complain that they are making no money.

J. Shamberg, 2 cars of butcher cattle, weighing 900a1,150 lbs, at 4,65a5,25c.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The number on sale was the largest of the season, and the market was also the hardest; there were several lots of prime sheep, but the most of them were left over, sellers refusing to accept prices they could have obtained, which were 25a35c lower than those of last week. Prime fat sheep cannot be quoted above 5a5¼. Butchers, for some reason or other, bought very sparingly, and in consequence of the hot weather, extra heavy did not sell as readily as light weights. Lambs were in very fair demand, but prices ruled lower. Sales were made at $2a4 per head, according to quality, with a number of common left over unsold.

HOGS.

Were in light supply, but the market was dull, although there was a firmer feeling in sympathy with the advance elsewhere; sales were reported at 6a6¾, gross in a retail way.

VEAL CALVES.

Continue scarce and in demand at the recent advance, but it is not likely that current rates 5½a 6⅞ per lb, will be sustained long.

FRESH COWS.

There was a light supply to-day, but the offerings were mostly common, for which there was not much inquiry, and the market was dull at about last weeks prices, $25a65 according to quality.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The package trade in cotton goods was light. White ground and shirting prints were taken in small parcels, and cambrics and percales were in fair demand. Dress goods and shawls are quiet. Woolen goods are depressed by the impending auction sale of 20,000 pieces. Foreign goods continued quiet.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, June 12, 1876.

The market for Crude continues quiet, with little or no change in prices, as compared with Saturday. United certificates, $1.97⅛; Union, $1.96¼; immediate shipment, $2.22⅛. Advices from the source of supply complain that the "combination" is "bearing" the raw article, and that the combination refiners are holding off with this in view. Refined quiet and unchanged; Philadelphia delivery, 14¼a14⅜c; Baltimore, 14a14⅛c; on cars here, 11a11⅛c.

Oil Barrels unchanged; countries, $1.05; city make, $1.20a1.25.

THE WOOL TRADE.

Pittsburgh.

The market is extremely dull, and dealers are indifferent about taking hold of the new clip. The present condition of the woolen manufacturing interest is so depressed and the outlook for the future so gloomy, that the general impression among dealers is that prices have not yet touched bottom. In our last weekly report we spoke of 30c being offered for good lots of medium and fine fleece, but the prospect is that unless the eastern quotations show better, dealers and agents cannot afford to pay over 25 to 28 cents for this class of wools; on the other hand the clip is unusually large, and on the other the consumption of wool is very considerably reduced by the failure of many mills and the large accumulation of goods. We hear of considerable sales of tub washed and combing fleece at 30 to 35c, but coarse fleece is dull at 28 to 30, medium fleece at 30c, and fine fleece, 25 to 30c. We look for lower prices before any activity is manifested in the trade.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

THE stage of water last evening was scant 2 feet and stationary. Cloudy and hot with indications favorable for rain, which is badly needed.

DREDGEBOATS are busily at work dredging at White's Riffle, and it is needed.

THE Jno. L. Rhoads was advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh yesterday.

THE Carrie Brooks has been laid up in the Muskingham, in consequence of low water.

THE Salt Valley, from Ironton, arrived and departed, and the Exchange from Portsmouth arrived.

THE Fanchon, Capt. Sweeny, left Cincinnati for this port on Saturday, with a moderate trip and engagements above. Pilots—Wm. Hall and Joseph Alexander.

AT Little Rock, last Wednesday, Wash Floyd, clerk of the Rosa Miller, saved three boys from drowning, whose skiff had upset in the middle of the Arkansas river.

JOHN BINDLEY, eldest son of Capt. John S. McMillan, died at the residence of his parents yesterday, aged between three and four years. Funeral to-day at 3 P. M.

CAPT. J. V. REYNOLDS, of the Julia No. 2, says the new Virgie Lee is ready for her machinery which she will receive this week, and be ready to raise steam by the first of July.

THE Exchange, Capt. Jas. M. Kirker, as will be seen by card, is announced to take her departure at noon to-day, and she goes clear through to Cincinnati this trip. As a low-water packet the Exchange has no superior, and no delay from that cause need be expected. The Maddy brothers are in charge of the office.

THE towboat Veteran, while going in for a flat of stone at the foot of Crow's Island, struck a log, and sank in about 5 feet of water. She lays a little careened. Capt. G. D. Laughlin, her commander, came up yesterday, and took the tug boat Seven Sons down to pump her out, and expects to have her raised in a few days.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to the Cincinnati Commercial: What about that much-talked-of towboat race that was to have been run between Louisville and Pittsburgh, May 29? Was it to "pay up" or "shut up?" Lots of us East-Enders would like to know, you know.—Yawl [If 'Yawl' refers to the towboats Oakland and Fred. Wilson, we can say the race is 'off.' Brother Fisher, the Inspector, can inform our correspondent more definitely on this subject.—Ed. Com.]

TIMES among vessels on the northern lakes appear to be as tight this year as they were last, and no profit is promised in the carrying trade to any point. Cedar posts are carried from Cedar river to Chicago at 4c a piece, and iron ore from Depen to Chicago at 50c per ton. A schooner sunk $450 in a recent voyage from Oswego to Green Bay. Several schooners have recently been chartered to carry pine lumber from ports on Lake Michigan directly to Liverpool and the west coast of England at $5,000 gold for the voyage. A cargo of corn was engaged a few days since from Chicago for Kingston, Canada, for 5¼c per bushel, and grain is carried regularly from Chicago to Buffalo at 2¼a2¾c per bushel.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch under date of Saturday says: Business more active. The Polar Star has completed her repairs, and left for the Tennessee River. The Bismarck and Atlantic and barges are receiving for New Orleans, to leave Tuesday. Everything is working harmoniously with the pool as yet, though it is hinted that outside tonnage will soon be put on berth. Capt. Jno. M Peters, manager of the Brown & Jones coal business at Memphis, passed through the city to-day on his way home from Chicago. The Tom Means left for Ashland last night with 1,200 tons of ore, and the Jno. Means and Liberty are loading barges to follow next week. The Iron Mountain brought 1,400 tons, and returned to Cairo after two barges of coke. Com. J. H. Dunlap remains here. The Mary Miller left for the Ironpile, where she gets 200 tons of metal, and possibly more. She has little else besides 1,000 sacks of corn and a few tons of miscellaneous freight.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ PROFESSIONAL NOTICE.

Drs. Jordan and Davieson

Principals of the Institution of Anatomy, 807 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Lecturers on Anatomy, Physiology and Science, inform their friends and patients that they have again opened a branch office for the practice of their profession at No. 2 EIGHTH STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA., where one of the firm may be confidentially consulted, more especially in all those cases of diseases and debility, for the treatment of which they are so justly celebrated. It is too well known that hundreds, nay thousands suffer from the effects of early indiscretion and seek in vain for relief, for none but the educated physician who has made these subjects a speciality is likely to succeed in restoring the patient to health and strength. To all such Drs. Jordan and Davieson offer certain and speedy relief, and undertake no cases but those in which they are able to guarantee a safe, certain and permanent cure. Their important Medical Work may be had from their offices, No. 2 Eighth street, on receipt of 25 cents, and also as usual from their head establishment, 1625 Filbert street, Philadelphia. Hours of consultation from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M., and from 5 P. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Every case is strictly confidential. d&S

☞ KEYSTONE DISPENSARY, No. 302 Penn street, Pittsburgh, Pa., a special institution, having a Union-wide reputation for the reliable and successful treatment of Private and Urinary diseases, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, etc. Everybody should read TRUE MARRIAGE GUIDE, 144 pages; illustrated; cloth and gilt binding; about wonders of reproductive system, marriage, proper age and conditions, marriage impediments, causes and consequences. Price 50 cents. Address as above, or call DR. WHITTIER. d&S

☞ PRIVATE DISEASES.—OFFICE 194 PENN STREET, next door to the St. Clair Hotel. For the cure of all diseases of a private nature in from two to four days, by an entirely new and safe treatment. HOME NEWS.

Parties who do not receive the GAZETTE by 7 A. M., are requested to notify the office, and the tardiness will be corrected at once.

The probabilities for to-day are northerly winds, stationary or lower temperature, higher pressure and partly cloudy weather.

Base Ball Notes.

The Philadelphias played at New Castle yesterday afternoon and met with a signal defeat at the hands of the Neshannocks. At the close of the game the score was 10 to 3 in favor of the latter. The grounds of the Neshannocks are so peculiar and uneven that it is doubtful if the best club in America could beat them on it. The Philadelphias are perhaps convinced now that Western Pennsylvania does contain some clubs that understand the mysteries of the game.

The Heaters and Rollers Protest.

The heaters, rollers and roughers of the city met yesterday afternoon, in their hall on Fifth avenue, and decided not to work iron in the shape of old rails, faggots, or muck iron manufactured in any mill than their own, so long as the strike of the puddlers is continued. Official notification of the fact by the committee will be found in another place in the paper. It is possible that this action will bring matters to a crisis, as it will compel the mills insisting upon the lockout either to shut down, or accede to the puddlers' terms.

Survey Committee.

After much trouble and many calls, the Survey Committee of Councils finally got together yesterday, Mr. Aull presiding.

The pay roll for May, amounting to $926.90, was presented and approved.

The petition for the change of grade of Sylvan avenue, occupied the attention of the committee during the rest of time of meeting. Mr. Nisbet moved that an ordinance be drawn and offered in Councils at once, repealing the last ordinance establishing the grade of the avenue. Motion adopted.

Adjourned to meet to-day a week at 2 P. M.

Attempted Suicide.

On Saturday last, a girl employed as a domestic in the establishment of Mrs Litle, a milliner, on Butler street, Lawrenceville, stole a number of articles, and disappeared. She was followed, captured, brought back to the house and the stolen articles recovered. The girl was then locked up in a room in the house, and kept there all day Sunday. Sunday evening she got hold of some carbolic acid, and swallowed a large quantity of it. The fact, however, was fortunately discovered shortly afterward, and a physician summoned, who succeeded in saving her life. The girl's name was not learned, but she is from Huntingdon county.

Verdict of Manslaughter.

Yesterday morning on the opening of the Criminal Court, the jury in the case of Philip Murray came in and returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter with a recommendation to the extreme mercy of the Court. The jury retired on Friday afternoon, and it was not until yesterday morning about eight o'clock that they agreed upon a verdict. On their first ballot they stood three for murder of the second degree, three for manslaughter and seven for acquittal. At no time did a single juror vote for murder of the first degree, and the recommendation to mercy is therefore explained. The prisoner was evidently well pleased with the verdict. The extreme penalty is a fine not exceeding $1,000, and a term of imprisonment not exceeding twelve years, either or both, and to compel the defendant to give security for his good behavior during life, or for any less period of time. The sentence, however, will doubt less be in conformity with the recommendation.

Counterfeiters Captured.

United States Detective Pender yesterday returned from Erie, where he had been lodging in jail three counterfeiters, belonging to a gang of which five were arrested at different times several months ago. The three jailed yesterday were captured in Fredonia, Mercer county. They were Dr. Turner Patterson, a physician with a small practice at Mercer, George E. Tanner, a cabinet-maker, and David Weller, who formerly lived at 16 Carson street, South Side, this city, and was selling hay forks for a Pittsburgh firm when arrested. Turner had about $500 in counterfeit scrip in his possession when arrested. The counterfeit plates were also captured and were brought to this city yesterday by Perkins and handed over to District Attorney Reed. Tanner was to have been married two days after his arrest.

Every member of the gang is now in Erie jail and will be tried at the next term of the U. S. District Court which will be held in Erie.

GAS IN ALLEGHENY.

The City to Lay Pipes and a Company to Furnish Gas.

The sub-Committee of the Gas Committee of Allegheny Councils, to whom was referred the proposition to erect a new gas works, met last evening. After discussing the several propositions already offered, Mr. Drum suggested that the city purchase and lay the gas pipes and allow a private company to furnish the gas through them. He knew that there would be but little difficulty in organizing a company to furnish the gas, and as the city would own the pipes it would have a voice in fixing the price of the gas. It was finally agreed to lay the question before the General Committee at its next meeting.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Yesterday's Meeting—Resignation of Mr. Young.

A regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday. President Dravo occupied the chair, and Secretary Kelly was in his place.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The special Committee on Wire Gauge was continued until the next meeting.

The Executive Committee in regard to Superintendent, reported progress and was continued at its own request. It will make the selection to-day at 3 o'clock, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The Wire Gauge Committee will also meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the same place.

The resignation of Mr. James B. Young as a Director was read. His reason for resigning was his inability to attend the meetings. The resignation was accepted, with regrets by the the Board at his loss, he having been a very efficient member.

A DASTARDLY OUTRAGE.

A Young Lady in Allegheny Nearly Killed by Five Villains—Arrest of Two of Them.

Yesterday Alderman Bolster's police, of Allegheny, succeeded in capturing two men named David Lafferty and Isaac Elliott, for whom the officers have been looking, on a charge of violating the person of a young lady in Allegheny, and almost killing her. The particulars of the case are as follows: On Saturday evening, June 3rd, a young German, who has been in the habit of visiting Annie Roth, who resides with her parents, No. 133 James street, Allegheny called upon her, and they (Miss Roth and the young man,) took a walk as far as the woods at the head of Federal street where they seated themselves to rest. While sitting there talking five men came up to them and one of them asked the young man what he was doing there, to which he replied that he was resting himself, whereupon another member of the party stepped forward and informed him that he would arrest him, and at the same time caught him by the collar and walked down the street with him. When near Henderson street he threatened the young man with serious bodily injury and then let him go, ordering him to clear out at once. The pretended officer then returned to where he had left the other four men and Miss Roth and the five proceeded to violate her person. She resisted strenuously and attempted to scream for help, but they struck her in the face and choked her so that she was unable to breathe. They continued their abuse of her until she became insensible, when they left her lying almost dead upon the ground. About five o'clock the next morning she was found and removed to her home, and medical aid summoned. She had been choked so that her neck was black and blue, and her condition was so serious that she was not expected to survive.

An information was at once made before Alderman Bolster, against the five men, and warrants issued. Two negroes, who had attempted to save Miss Roth, were set upon and beaten by the five creatures, and were finally driven away, but through them a description of the parties was obtained, and the two men, as above mentioned, were arrested. They were identified by the negroes and Miss Roth, and were committed to jail for trial at Court. The young lady is seventeen years of age, and is of very respectable parents. She is still so seriously ill that she is not able to leave her bed.

Regular Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

The $240,000 Proposition of the Nation Trust Company Stockholders Accepted—Three Months Allowed in which to Make Payment—A Futile Attempt to Elect Assistant Assessors—Two Ballots and no Choice—Police Compensation—Routine Resolutions, &c.

A regular meeting of Pittsburgh Councils was held yesterday afternoon.

SELECT COUNCIL.

DAVID AIKEN, Jr. .... President pro tem.
E. S. MORROW .... Clerk.

This branch met at a quarter past two o'clock. The members present were Messrs. Ahl, Aiken, Atkinson, L. T. Brown, Bates, R. B. Brown, Bruce, Buckley, Carr, Dannels, B. Darlington, C. P. Duff, J. K. P. Duff, Epping, Evans, Felker, Foster, George Fox, Gregor Fox, Geiger, Goldthorp, Hayden, Herron, Holliday, Hunter, Jeremy, Kernan, Kerr, Lagerman, Lappan, Littell, Meyer, Moore, Murray, McCandless, McClurg, McGimpsey, McKinley, Negley, Nusser, E. M. O'Neill, John O'Neill, Powers, Ray, Reiman, Rodgers, Rolfe, Sawyer, Schwarm, Shipton, Singerly, Sorg, Taylor, Vierheller, Waring, Weldon and Welsh

Mr. David Aiken was chosen President pro tem.

The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with.

The Chair presented a resolution from Common Council fixing the 12th inst. as the time for electing two Assistant Assessors, and stated that the action of C. C. in adopting it would have to be concurred in before it could be considered valid. Mr. Shipton thought, inasmuch as all the Assessor's work for this year has been done, that the matter should be referred to the Ordinance Committee with instructions to report a bill fixing a definite time for the election of Assessors. He didn't think that any necessity for haste existed. However, he failed to put this idea into a motion, and the action of Common Council was concurred in.

The Clerk read a communication from G. L. Braun, Secretary of the Board of Guardians of the Poor, informing Select Council that a vacancy had been created in the Board by the resignation of Mr. B. C. Sawyer, whose term would not have expired until 1878. The communication was received and filed, and on motion of Mr. Hunter it was decided to go into an election to fill the vacancy. Mr. R. B. Brown nominated Mr. T. B. Atterbury. The nominations were closed, and upon the call of the roll Mr. Atterbury was elected, thirty-eight members having voted for and none against him.

THE N. T. COMPROMISE.

Under a suspension of the rules, Mr. BRUCE presented the following:

Resolved, By the Select and Common Councils of Pittsburgh, that the proposition made by George Shiras, Jr., and S. Schoyer, Jr., on behalf of certain stockholders of the Nation Trust Company, for the purchase of the claims of the city against the Nation Trust Company for $240,000, be and the same is hereby accepted; provided the same shall be wholly paid within the period of ninety days from June 15, 1876. And upon the payment of the said sum of money the Controller is hereby instructed to make assignment of said claim, with the interest of the city in the securities pledged for the debts of said company, unto the purchasers thereof.

Resolved, further, That for the purpose of affording an opportunity to the proposed purchasers to procure the necessary money, the Trustees are hereby requested to postpone all proceedings for the enforcement of the notes and securities held by them until the expiration of said ninety days from June 15, 1876.

MR. BRUCE made a very earnest speech in favor of the adoption of his resolution. He reviewed in a succinct manner the history of the Nation Trust Company, referring to the prominent features in the record of the downfall of that institution, and alleging that its failure had had very much to do with the panic in our city and an extension of its effects over a greater number of people than would otherwise have been the case. This proffer of the Nation Trust Company, he said, was equivalent to sixty-seven cents on the dollar, and when it is remembered that business men are daily going into the bankrupt court and paying but fifteen or twenty cents on the dollar, he deemed it much the wisest course to accept the offer at once.

THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY.

The view taken by Mr. SHIPTON was different from that entertained by Mr. Bruce. He opposed the acceptance of the proposition, and said that Council, in declining to receive it would be acting for the best interests of the city. Instead of amounting to sixty-seven cents the proposition of the Nation Trust Company is only equal to fifty-seven cents on the dollar. The stockholders, he thought, were fully able to meet the first payment, and it was exceedingly repugnant to him for them to enter into an agreement to pay a specified sum at a certain time, and before the arrival of that time endeavor to crawl out of it.

Messrs. LITTELL and JEREMY arrayed themselves with Mr. Bruce in advocacy of the resolution. The former confined his remarks chiefly to the financial status of the community, and held that the stockholders of the N. T. Company are constantly sinking beneath the burden they are obliged to carry, and that it is incumbent upon Councils, if they desire to protect the city, to accept the proposition made.

Mr. J. K. P. DUFF said that he had had considerable experience at Sheriff's sales, where property has recently been sold for the costs, and if he was offered $240,000 in full settlement of a claim of $400,000 he would most gladly accept it.

Mr. R. B. BROWN moved that the matter be postponed until the next meeting, and gave as his reason for making the motion that the members could vote with more intelligence after the stockholders have defaulted on the first payment. The motion was lost by a vote of 22 ayes to 31 nays.

THE VOTE.

Mr. BRUCE'S motion to adopt was then taken up. The ayes and nays were called and the resolution was carried by a vote of 31 ayes to 24 nays as follows:

Ayes—Messrs. Ahl, Aiken, Bruce, Buckley, C. P. Duff, J. K. P. Duff, Epping, George Fox, Gregor Fox, Hayden, Herron, Holliday, Jeremy, Kerr, Lagerman, Littell, Meyer, Moore, McCandless, McGimpsey, McKinley, Negley, Ray, Reiman, Schwarm, Sorg, Taylor, Vierheller, Waring, Weldon, Welsh—31.

Nays—Messrs. Atkinson, R. B. Brown, L. T. Brown, Carr, Dannals, B. Darlington, Evans, Felker, Foster, Geiger, Hunter, Kernan, Lappan, Murray, McClurg, Nusser, Eugene M. O'Neill, John O'Neil, Powers, Rodgers, Rolfe, Sawyer, Shipton, Singerly—24.

The regular order of business was then resumed, and the following petitions, resolutions, &c., were presented:

Mr. HERRON, remonstrance against a sewer in Cecil's alley, Fourth ward. Referred.

Mr. JEREMY, resolution directing the Mayor to issue his proclamation for an election in the Seventh ward, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. John Musgrave. Adopted.

Mr. MCKINLEY, petition for a gas lamp on Elm street. Referred.

Mr. CARR, petition of James Quinn, of the Twenty-seventh ward, for abatement of tax. Referred.

Mr. HOLLIDAY, resolution for a warrant to the amount of $27.50 in favor of S. B. Cooper, Messenger, in payment for postal cards and postage stamps since September last. Adopted.

Mr MCCANDLESS, report of the Water Committee for May, embracing a statement of the expenditures. Received and filed.

Mr. HUNTER, report of the City Property Committee for last month, stating the condition of their appropriation. Received and filed.

Adjourned.

Aull, Bell, Boucher, Clark, Coll Conway, Dickson, Fox, Fritz, Fennerty, Ferson, Foley, Hagan, Hogle, Hughes, Kerr, Kettenberg, Kircher, Laughran, Lemer, Mears, Moore, McClarran, McCafferty, Nautker, Neeb, Nisbet, Powers, Rahauser, Reynolds, Roth, Rott, Robesen, Thompson, Voskamp, Wainwright and President Negley.

The reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

Schoyer, Jr., on behalf of certain stockholders of the Nation Trust Company, for the purchase of the claims of the city against the Nation Trust Company for $240,000, be and the same is hereby accepted, provided they shall be wholly paid within the period of 90 days from June 15, 1876, and upon the payment of the said sum of money the Controller is hereby instructed to make assignment of said claim with interest of the city in the securities pledged for the debts of said Company unto the purchasers thereof.

Resolved, further, That for the purpose of affording an opportunity to the proposed purchasers to procure the necessary money, the trustees are hereby requested to postpone all proceedings for the enforcement of the notes and securities held by them until the expiration of said 90 days, from June 15, 1876. Received and filed. Councils refused to suspend the rules to consider the resolutions, however.

An ordinance for grading, paving and curbing same street.

Mr. NEEB moved to amend by striking out "paving and curbing." Agreed to, and ordinance finally passed as amended.

Viewers' report on the opening of McCandless avenue. Approved.

The report of the Board of Viewers on the grading and paving of Virgin alley, from Cherry alley to Grant street, was received and filed. An ordinance for the same was finally passed.

Viewers' report on regrading, repaving and curbing of Virgin alley, from Smithfield street to Cherry alley, received and filed. Ordinance for the same passed finally.

Mr. KETTENBERG called up the ordinance fixing the grade of Thirty-fourth street, from the north curb of Liberty street to Liberty avenue.

The same gentleman moved to amend by making it a "uniform" grade between the two points named. Agreed to.

Business from S. C. was taken up and concurred in except ordinance for the change of bonds, which was laid over until the next meeting; and a resolution directing the railroad company to proceed with the erection of the Twenty-eighth street bridge, which was also laid over until the next meeting.

THE COMPROMISE ACCEPTED.

On the resolutions from S. C. for the acceptance of the Nation Trust Company compromise, President Negley, one of the Trustees of the Company, stated that he and the other Trustees could not be influenced by the request to postpone action until after the expiration of ninety days unless the other creditors will also agree to it. He did not state this, he said, to influence Councils in acting upon the resolution, but simply to let the members know the facts.

Mr. FOX and Mr. HUGHES urged the passage of the resolutions, advancing reasons before given in these columns.

Mr. THOMPSON wanted to know if the money could be made out of the assets in case they went to forced sale.

Mr. NEGLEY said he could hardly tell. He recapitulated the amounts he had received, and stated that he held the individual notes of the stockholders, in addition to the mortgages, and he could in the event of the mortgaged property not paying the amount, go upon the private property of the stockholders, wherever found, for the satisfaction of the notes.

The action of S. C. was concurred in, and the resolution passed without calling for the yeas and nays.

While acting upon other S. C. business, it was found that their was not a quorum present, and Council adjourned.

JOINT SESSION.

About half-past three o'clock both branches met in joint session in the chamber of Select Council. President Negley stated that the object of the meeting was to elect two Assistant Assessors. Upon his direction the Clerk read the Act of Assembly bearing upon the subject, providing for such officers and prescribing their duties, compensation, &c., and the manner in which they shall be elected. Nominations were called for, and Mr. Bruce nominated Mr. Christopher Magee, of the Twenty-second ward, late candidate for Mayor. Mr. Littell nominated Daniel Wenke and C. W. Lewis. Mr. James Kerr nominated J. J. Larkin. Mr. Aull moved that Councils proceed to the election of but one Assessor. He held that the law provides for but one, and was about to state his point and quote the statute in support of it when the Chair ruled his motion out of order, and directed that the vote be taken and that each member vote for one candidate. The first ballot resulted as follows:

Magee	1	Wenke	52
Larkin	40

Three votes were cast for Lewis, but before the announcement of the result they were changed to Wenke. The Chair read the result of the ballot and stated that no choice had been made.

Mr. J. K. P. DUFF wanted to know the law upon which the Chair based his decision that there had been no election.

The Chair gratified the gentleman and read the provisions of the Act supporting his decision. Mr. Duff still was not satisfied and requested the reading of the sixth section of the law under which the election was being held. The President replied that that section contained nothing contrary to the law which he had already quoted. He further stated that under our Republican form of Government it always requires a majority to elect in cases where no law exists making it otherwise. Having made this ruling the Chair ordered a second ballot. It was as follows:

Magee	1	Lewis	2
Wenke	50	Larkin	40

Fifty-eight votes being necessary to a choice, the Chair again decided that there had been no election. Mr. Duff called for the reading of the opinion of the Attorney General concerning this election. He said he understood it was in the house. The document did not appear to be forthcoming and Mr. Hunter moved to adjourn. On this motion forty-two members voted yea and the same number nay. The Chair decided the tie by voting for adjournment, so the candidates will be obliged to wait till the next meeting before their suspense is ended.

Liver and Blood Diseases.

By R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser."

A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid or congested, it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance, which, therefore, remains to poison the blood, and be conveyed to every part of the system. What must be the condition of the blood when it is receiving and retaining each day two and a half pounds of poison? Nature tries to work off this poison through other channels and organs—the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., but these organs become overtaxed in performing this labor in addition to their natural functions, and cannot long withstand the pressure but become variously diseased.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, is unduly stimulated by the unhealthy blood which passes to it from the heart, and it fails to perform its office healthily. Hence the symptoms of bile poisoning, which are dullness, headache, incapacity to keep the mind on any subject, impairment of memory, dizzy, sleepy, or nervous feelings, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. The blood itself being diseased, as it forms the sweat upon the surface of the skin, it is so irritating and poisonous that it produces discolored brown spots, pimples, blotches, and other eruptions, sores, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach, bowels, and other organs, cannot escape becoming effected, sooner or later, and we have, as the result, costiveness, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, diarrhœa. Other symptoms are common, as bitter or bad taste in mouth, internal heat, palpitation, teasing cough, unsteady appetite, choking sensation in throat, bloating of stomach, pain in sides or about shoulders or back, coldness of extremities, etc., etc. Only a few of the above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time. The liver being the great depurating or blood-cleansing organ of the system, set this great "housekeeper of our health" at work, and the foul corruptions which gender in the blood, and rot out, as it were, the machinery of life, are gradually expelled from the system. For this purpose, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with very small doses, daily, of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, is pre-eminently the articles needed. They cure every kind of humor from the worst scrofula to the common pimple, blotch or eruption. Great eating ulcers kindly heal under their mighty curative influence. Virulent blood poisons that lurk in the system are by them robbed of their errors, and by their preserving and somewhat protracted use the most tainted symptoms may be completely renovated and built up anew. Enlarged glands, tumors and swellings, dwindle away and disappear under the influence of these great resolvents. TTHS-S.

····Agnes Hill, the little girl who tried to posion her parents with muriatic acid, is still in the Central Station. The parents refuse to prosecute, but want her sent to the House of Refuge, while the managers of the Home for the Destitute want her back. The Mayor will decide to-day.

······Yesterday a young man named Maxwell was released from the Workhouse and at once re-arrested and taken before Mayor Phillips on a charge of being one of the parties who robbed the residence of Mr. W. P. Price, on Arch street. After a hearing he was committed to jail for trial.

····The efforts of some tailors to have the craft turn out in a band on the Fourth seems scarcely to create a ripple in the serene inactivity of the majority. They tried to gather again last night, but sew few came that nothing was done. The active members need to do more buttonholing.

····Officer Bond, of the Mayor's police, yesterday arrested a man named Lundy Montro in the act of stealing the gas fixtures from a vacant house on Fifth avenue, belonging to Mr. Lutton. ····A meeting of the Boilers' Union was held yesterday morning on Fifth avenue to consider the last proposition of the manufacturers for a compromise of existing differences. They finally resolved to reject the proposition and instructed their conference committee to meet the manufacturers committee and notify them that they have determined to adhere to their former action. This leaves the matter just where it was.

····The Allegheny Water Committee will meet to-morrow evening to prepare a plan for supplying the higher portions of the city, where pipes are now laid, with water. The committee will probably recommend that another large main be laid from the reservoir along North avenue to Federal street and up to its head. The cost of laying a new main will probably reach $70,000. To raise this money the committee will recommend the issue of bonds.

····The Lincoln Club to the number of over a hundred left at five o'clock last evening for Cincinnati. The majority of them, led by the Great Western Band, marched from their headquarters on Smithfield street to the Union Depot. The delegation included many of our prominent citizens and busy politicians and office-holders.

····Yesterday John Smith and Joseph Jones bought ten cents' worth of peanuts from an Italian at the Central Hotel corner. They refused to pay more than five cents, and the Italian asked the aid of a policeman. The latter recommended them to settle the bill. Jones was willing but Smith was not, and he (Smith) becoming noisy and boisterous was arrested and fined at the evening hearing by the Mayor $5 and costs, which he paid. Court Brevities.

IN a further hearing before Commissioner Gamble, on the charge of fraud against J. B. Stevenson's Sons, jewelers, it was explained by the evidence of a clerk, who made the sale, that a sale of jewelry to a lady was not entered upon the books because she did not want her husband to know she made the purchase, and feared if the purchase were entered the bill would be sent to him. The hearing will be resumed this afternoon at three o'clock.

A BILL in equity was filed in Common Pleas Court No. 2, yesterday, by W. C. Moreland, Esq., for Edmund Wilkins, against the city of Pittsburgh, to restrain respondents from the collection of water tax. The plaintiff does not use the water, and it is held that the order authorizing the collection of a tax from persons who do not use the water is unconstitutional. A preliminary injunction was issued, and a hearing fixed for Saturday.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, June 12, 1876.

SENATE.

Most of the morning hour was occupied in discussing a motion to adjourn over until Thursday, on account of the large number of Senators being absent from the city attending the Cincinnati convention. The motion was finally rejected—yeas 16, nays 23.

Bills of an unimportant character were called up and discussed, when a division was called for, and it was found no quorum was present. After a delay of half an hour a quorum responded, and the Senate adjourned until Thursday next.

HOUSE.

Chinese Immigration.

The joint resolution to modify the treaty with China so as to restrict immigration passed.

Army Appropriation.

The Appropriation Committee reported the Army Appropriation bill, some ten millions less than the estimates, and with sections reducing the force of the army and pay of officers.

Bills Introduced and Referred.

By Mr. LORD, a joint resolution recommending an additional amendment to the Constitution providing that officers of the United States, such as assessors, postmasters, marshals and collectors (except collectors of customs duties) shall be elected for a term of four years.

By Mr. HAYMOND, providing for the gradual resumption of specie payment, and the repeal of so much of the resumption act as fixes the date for resumption on January 1, 1879.

More Corruption.

Mr. POPPLETON moved to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution (with a long preamble) directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire as to the truth or falsity of certain charges and allegations in connection with the legislation of 1869, requiring the principal and interest on Government bonds to be paid in coin, such charges being generally that large sums of money were paid to corrupt public officials and to influence the public press in favor of that legislation; also directing the committee to report whether such corrupt action does not invalidate that law, and whether the law was not in violation to the contract under which the bonds were originally issued, and therefore unconstitutional and void.

The vote on the motion to suspend the rules and adopt the resolution was yeas 102, and nays 21—no quorum voting, so the motion failed.

Speaker Kerr Acquitted.

Mr. CLYMER, from the Committee on Expenditures in the War Department, made a report in the case of the charge against Speaker Kerr. The report states that after a full inquiry into the facts, and after a thorough examination of Lawrence Harney, the only witness making the charge, also of Augustus P. Green, and divers other witnesses, it appeared that in 1866, while a member of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-ninth Congress, Mr. Kerr did, in the exercise of his right or privilege, nominate Green for an appointment in the regular army. The committee, however, had found no difficulty in reaching the conclusion that the charge as to the payment of money to Kerr was unqualifiedly false, and that Kerr stood fully exonerated from all implication affecting his personal honor or official integrity. The committee has found nothing in the whole progress of the investigation to impair or detract from the well established reputation of Kerr for unquestioned personal integrity and unsullied purity.

Mr. CLYMER remarked that the conclusion reached was the unanimous judgment, not only of the committee, but of the House and country.

After addresses by several members Mr. GARFIELD suggested that a vote on the report should be taken by the members rising.

The suggestion was adopted, and all the members, two hundred and ten in number, rose in the affirmative—none in the negative.

Mr. GARFIELD then asked that it be entered on the record that the report was adopted unanimously.

The Speaker pro tem. directed the Clerk to let it be recorded on the record as the unanimous vote of the House.

A Centennial Suggestion.

The Speaker pro tem. laid before the House the following letter, which was referred to the Committee on Centennial:

NEW YORK, June 9, 1876.

My Dear Sir: Half a century ago Gen. La Fayette revisited America, and as the guest of the nation made a triumphal tour through the States. As you know by reading and by tradition, the affections, enthusiasm and gratitude awakened by that visit has no parallel in the world's history. Would it not be equally appropriate and wise half a century after the visit of his grandfather to invite Oscar La Fayette as the guest of the nation to attend the Centennial anniversary of our independence? Our committee has decided to invite M. La Fayette, but it occurs to me that Congress might think it proper to give broader and deeper effect to a patriotic idea.

Very truly yours,
THURLOW WEED.

HON. S. S. COX.

The probabilities for to-day are northerly winds, stationary or lower temperature, higher pressure and partly cloudy weather.

Base Ball Notes.

The Philadelphias played at New Castle yesterday afternoon and met with a signal defeat at the hands of the Neshannocks. At the close of the game the score was 10 to 3 in favor of the latter. The grounds of the Neshannocks are so peculiar and uneven that it is doubtful if the best club in America could beat them on it. The Philadelphias are perhaps convinced now that Western Pennsylvania does contain some clubs that understand the mysteries of the game.

The Heaters and Rollers Protest.

The heaters, rollers and roughers of the city met yesterday afternoon, in their hall on Fifth avenue, and decided not to work iron in the shape of old rails, faggots, or muck iron manufactured in any mill than their own, so long as the strike of the puddlers is continued. Official notification of the fact by the committee will be found in another place in the paper. It is possible that this action will bring matters to a crisis, as it will compel the mills insisting upon the lockout either to shut down, or accede to the puddlers' terms.

Survey Committee.

After much trouble and many calls, the Survey Committee of Councils finally got together yesterday, Mr. Aull presiding.

The pay roll for May, amounting to $686.90, was presented and approved.

The petition for the change of grade of Sylvan avenue, occupied the attention of the committee during the rest of time of meeting. Mr. Nisbet moved that an ordinance be drawn and offered in Councils at once, repealing the last ordinance establishing the grade of the avenue. Motion adopted.

Adjourned to meet to-day a week at 2 P. M.

Attempted Suicide.

On Saturday last, a girl employed as a domestic in the establishment of Mrs. Litle, a milliner, on Butler street, Lawrenceville, stole a number of articles, and disappeared. She was followed, captured, brought back to the house and the stolen articles recovered. The girl was then locked up in a room in the house, and kept there all day Sunday. Sunday evening she got hold of some carbolic acid, and swallowed a large quantity of it. The fact, however, was fortunately discovered shortly afterward, and a physician summoned, who succeeded in saving her life. The girl's name was not learned, but she is from Huntingdon county.

Verdict of Manslaughter.

Yesterday morning on the opening of the Criminal Court, the jury in the case of Philip Murray came in and returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter with a recommendation to the extreme mercy of the Court. The jury retired on Friday afternoon, and it was not until yesterday morning about eight o'clock that they agreed upon a verdict. On their first ballot they stood three for murder of the second degree, three for manslaughter and seven for acquittal. At no time did a single juror vote for murder of the first degree, and the recommendation to mercy is therefore explained. The prisoner was evidently well pleased with the verdict. The extreme penalty is a fine not exceeding $1,000, and a term of imprisonment not exceeding twelve years, either or both, and to compel the defendant to give security for his good behavior during life, or for any less period of time. The sentence, however, will doubt less be in conformity with the recommendation.

Counterfeiters Captured.

United States Detective Pender yesterday returned from Erie, where he had been lodging in jail three counterfeiters, belonging to a gang of which five were arrested at different times several months ago. The three jailed yesterday were captured in Fredonia, Mercer county. They were Dr. Turner Patterson, a physician with a small practice at Mercer, George E. Tanner, a cabinet-maker, and David Weller, who formerly lived at 16 Carson street, South Side, this city, and was selling hay forks for a Pittsburgh firm when arrested. Turner had about $500 in counterfeit scrip in his possession when arrested. The counterfeit plates were also captured and were brought to this city yesterday by Perkins and handed over to District Attorney Reed. Tanner was to have been married two days after his arrest.

Every member of the gang is now in Erie jail and will be tried at the next term of the U. S. District Court which will be held in Erie.

GAS IN ALLEGHENY.

The City to Lay Pipes and a Company to Furnish Gas.

The sub-Committee of the Gas Committee of Allegheny Councils, to whom was referred the proposition to erect a new gas works, met last evening. After discussing the several propositions already offered, Mr. Drum suggested that the city purchase and lay the gas pipes and allow a private company to furnish the gas through them. He knew that there would be but little difficulty in organizing a company to furnish the gas, and as the city would own the pipes it would have a voice in fixing the price of the gas. It was finally agreed to lay the question before the General Committee at its next meeting.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Yesterday's Meeting—Resignation of Mr. Young.

A regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday. President Dravo occupied the chair, and Secretary Kelly was in his place.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The special Committee on Wire Gauge was continued until the next meeting.

The Executive Committee in regard to Superintendent, reported progress and was continued at its own request. It will make the selection to-day at 3 o'clock, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The Wire Gauge Committee will also meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the same place.

The resignation of Mr. James B. Young as a Director was read. His reason for resigning was his inability to attend the meetings. The resignation was accepted, with regrets by the Board at his loss, he having been a very efficient member.

A DASTARDLY OUTRAGE.

A Young Lady in Allegheny Nearly Killed by Five Villains—Arrest of Two of Them.

Yesterday Alderman Bolster's police, of Allegheny, succeeded in capturing two men named David Lafferty and Isaac Elliott, for whom the officers have been looking, on a charge of violating the person of a young lady in Allegheny, and almost killing her. The particulars of the case are as follows: On Saturday evening, June 3d, a young German, who has been in the habit of visiting Annie Roth, who resides with her parents, No. 133 James street, Allegheny called upon her, and they (Miss Roth and the young man,) took a walk as far as the woods at the head of Federal street where they seated themselves to rest. While sitting there talking five men came up to them and one of them asked the young man what he was doing there, to which he replied that he was resting himself, whereupon another member of the party stepped forward and informed him that he would arrest him, and at the same time caught him by the collar and walked down the street with him. When near Henderson street he threatened the young man with serious bodily injury and then let him go, ordering him to clear out at once. The pretended officer then returned to where he had left the other four men and Miss Roth and the five proceeded to violate her person. She resisted strenuously and attempted to scream for help, but they struck her in the face and choked her so that she was unable to breathe. They continued their abuse of her until she became insensible, when they left her lying almost dead upon the ground. About five o'clock the next morning she was found and removed to her home, and medical aid summoned. She had been choked so that her neck was black and blue, and her condition was so serious that she was not expected to survive.

An information was at once made before Alderman Bolster, against the five men, and warrants issued. Two negroes, who had attempted to save Miss Roth, were set upon and beaten by the five creatures, and were finally driven away, but through them a description of the parties was obtained, and the two men, as above mentioned, were arrested. They were identified by the negroes and Miss Roth, and were committed to jail for trial at Court. The young lady is seventeen years of age, and is of very respectable parents. She is still so seriously ill that she is not able to leave her bed.

Regular Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

The $240,000 Proposition of the Nation Trust Company Stockholders Accepted—Three Months Allowed in which to Make Payment—A Futile Attempt to Elect Assistant Assessors—Two Ballots and no Choice—Police Compensation—Routine Resolutions, &c.

A regular meeting of Pittsburgh Councils was held yesterday afternoon.

SELECT COUNCIL.

DAVID AIKEN, Jr. .... President pro tem.
E. S. MORROW .... Clerk.

This branch met at a quarter past two o'clock. The members present were Messrs. Ahl, Aiken, Atkinson, L. T. Brown, Bates, R. B. Brown, Bruce, Buckley, Carr, Dannels, B. Darlington, C. P. Duff, J. K. P. Duff, Epping, Evans, Feiker, Foster, George Fox, Gregor Fox, Geiger, Goldthorp, Hayden, Herron, Holliday, Hunter, Jeremy, Kernan, Kerr, Lagerman, Lappan, Littell, Meyer, Moore, Murray, McCandless, McClurg, McGimpsey, McKinley, Negley, Nusser, E. M. O'Neill, John O'Neill, Powers, Ray, Reiman, Rodgers, Rolfe, Sawyer, Schwarm, Shipton, Singerly, Sorg, Taylor, Vierheller, Waring, Weldon and Welsh.

Mr. David Aiken was chosen President pro tem. The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with.

The Chair presented a resolution from Common Council fixing the 12th inst. as the time for electing two Assistant Assessors, and stated that the action of C. C. in adopting it would have to be concurred in before it could be considered valid. Mr. Shipton thought, inasmuch as all the Assessor's work for this year has been done, that the matter should be referred to the Ordinance Committee with instructions to report a bill fixing a definite time for the election of Assessors. He didn't think that any necessity for haste existed. However, he failed to put this idea into a motion, and the action of Common Council was concurred in.

The Clerk read a communication from G. L. Braun, Secretary of the Board of Guardians of the Poor, informing Select Council that a vacancy had been created in the Board by the resignation of Mr. B. C. Sawyer, whose term would not have expired until 1878. The communication was received and filed, and on motion of Mr. Hunter it was decided to go into an election to fill the vacancy. Mr. R. B. Brown nominated Mr. T. B. Atterbury. The nominations were closed, and upon the call of the roll Mr. Atterbury was elected, thirty-eight members having voted for and none against him.

THE N. T. COMPROMISE.

Under a suspension of the rules, Mr. BRUCE presented the following:

Resolved, By the Select and Common Councils of Pittsburgh, that the proposition made by George Shiras, Jr., and S. Schoyer, Jr., on behalf of certain stockholders of the Nation Trust Company, for the purchase of the claims of the city against the Nation Trust Company for $240,000, be and the same is hereby accepted; provided the same shall be wholly paid within the period of ninety days from June 15, 1876. And upon the payment of the said sum of money the Controller is hereby instructed to make assignment of said claim, with the interest of the city in the securities pledged for the debts of said company, unto the purchasers thereof.

Resolved, further, That for the purpose of affording an opportunity to the proposed purchasers to procure the necessary money, the Trustees are hereby requested to postpone all proceedings for the enforcement of the notes and securities held by them until the expiration of said ninety days from June 15, 1876.

MR. BRUCE made a very earnest speech in favor of the adoption of his resolution. He reviewed in a succinct manner the history of the Nation Trust Company, referring to the prominent features in the record of the downfall of that institution, and alleging that its failure had had very much to do with the panic in our city and an extension of its effects over a greater number of people than would otherwise have been the case. This proffer of the Nation Trust Company, he said, was equivalent to sixty-seven cents on the dollar, and when it is remembered that business men are daily going into the bankrupt court and paying but fifteen or twenty cents on the dollar, he deemed it much the wisest course to accept the offer at once.

THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY.

The view taken by Mr. SHIPTON was different from that entertained by Mr. Bruce. He opposed the acceptance of the proposition, and said that Council, in declining to receive it would be acting for the best interests of the city. Instead of amounting to sixty-seven cents the proposition of the Nation Trust Company is only equal to fifty-seven cents on the dollar. The stockholders, he thought, were fully able to meet the first payment, and it was exceedingly repugnant to him for them to enter into an agreement to pay a specified sum at a certain time, and before the arrival of that time endeavor to crawl out of it.

Messrs. LITTELL and JEREMY arrayed themselves with Mr. Bruce in advocacy of the resolution. The former confined his remarks chiefly to the financial status of the community, and held that the stockholders of the N. T. Company are constantly sinking beneath the burden they are obliged to carry, and that it is incumbent upon Councils, if they desire to protect the city, to accept the proposition made.

Mr. J. K. P. DUFF said that he had had considerable experience at Sheriff's sales, where property has recently been sold for the costs, and if he was offered $240,000 in full settlement of a claim of $400,000 he would most gladly accept it.

Mr. R. B. BROWN moved that the matter be postponed until the next meeting, and gave as his reason for making the motion that the members could vote with more intelligence after the stockholders have defaulted on the first payment. The motion was lost by a vote of 22 ayes to 31 nays.

THE VOTE.

Mr. BRUCE's motion to adopt was then taken up. The ayes and nays were called and the resolution was carried by a vote of 31 ayes to 24 nays as follows:

Ayes—Messrs. Ahl, Aiken, Bruce, Buckley, C. P. Duff, J. K. P. Duff, Epping, George Fox, Gregor Fox, Hayden, Herron, Holliday, Jeremy, Kerr, Lagerman, Littell, Meyer, Moore, McCandless, McGimpsey, McKinley, Negley, Ray, Reiman, Schwarm, Sorg, Taylor, Vierheller, Waring, Weldon, Welsh—31.

Nays—Messrs. Atkinson, R. B. Brown, L. T. Brown, Carr, Dannals, B. Darlington, Evans, Feiker, Foster, Geiger, Hunter, Kernan, Lappan, Murray, McClurg, Nusser, Eugene M. O'Neill, John O'Neil, Powers, Rodgers, Rolfe, Sawyer, Shipton, Singerly—24.

The regular order of business was then resumed, and the following petitions, resolutions, &c., were presented:

Mr. HERRON, remonstrance against a sewer in Cecil's alley, Fourth ward. Referred.

Mr. JEREMY, resolution directing the Mayor to issue his proclamation for an election in the Seventh ward, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. John Musgrave. Adopted.

Mr. MCKINLEY, petition for a gas lamp on Elm street. Referred.

Mr. CARR, petition of James Quinn, of the Twenty-seventh ward, for abatement of tax. Referred.

Mr. HOLLIDAY, resolution for a warrant to the amount of $27.50 in favor of S. B. Cooper, Messenger, in payment for postal cards and postage stamps since September last. Adopted.

Mr MCCANDLESS, report of the Water Committee for May, embracing a statement of the expenditures. Received and filed.

Mr. HUNTER, report of the City Property Committee for last month, stating the condition of their appropriation. Received and filed.

Adjourned.

COMMON COUNCIL.

W. B. NEGLEY .... President.
GEO. BOOTH .... Clerk.

Present Messrs. Aull, Bell, Boucher, Clark, Coll Conway, Dickson, Fox, Fritz, Fennerty, Ferson, Foley, Hagan, Hogle, Hughes, Kerr, Kettenberg, Kircher, Laughran, Lemer, Mears, Moore, McClarran, McCafferty, Nautker, Neeb, Nisbet, Powers, Rahauser, Reynolds, Roth, Rott, Robesen, Thompson, Voskamp, Wainwright and President Negley.

The reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

The following papers were presented and referred to the appropriate committees, unless otherwise noted, viz:

Mr. KERR, petition of Conrad Schad for refunding overpaid taxes. Referred.

Mr FOX, resolution granting the Eclectic Medical Society of Pennsylvania the use of Common Council chamber on June 22d and 23d for a place of meeting. Passed.

THE NATION TRUST AGAIN.

Also, a proposition from the Nation Trust Company as follows:

Resolved, By the Select and Common Councils of Pittsburgh, That the proposition made by Geo. Shiras, Jr., and S. Schoyer, Jr., on behalf of certain stockholders of the Nation Trust Company, for the purchase of the claims of the city against the Nation Trust Company for $240,000, be and the same is hereby accepted, provided they shall be wholly paid within the period of 90 days from June 15, 1876, and upon the payment of the said sum of money the Controller is hereby instructed to make assignment of said claim with interest of the city in the securities pledged for the debts of said Company unto the purchasers thereof.

Resolved, further, That for the purpose of affording an opportunity to the proposed purchasers to procure the necessary money, the trustees are hereby requested to postpone all proceedings for the enforcement of the notes and securities held by them until the expiration of said 90 days, from June 15, 1876. Received and filed. Councils refused to suspend the rules to consider the resolutions, however.

Mr. AULL, petitions and resolutions for the locating, opening and grading of Larimer avenue, from Frankstown avenue to Hill street. Referred.

Mr. RAHAUSER, resolution for the repair of sundry streets on the South Side. Referred.

Mr. HAHN, remonstrance against the paving of Harkins alley, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets, South Side. Referred.

Mr. FENNERTY, petition of John McGrath for exoneration of erroneously assessed taxes. Referred.

THE SUMMER VACATION.

Mr. VOSKAMP, resolution for the adjournment of Common Council from June 26th until September 11th. Passed.

Mr. LEMER, petition for gas lamps in the Thirty-sixth ward. Referred.

Mr. THOMPSON, Chairman of the Street Committee, presented the following ordinances, which were referred to the Committee on Printing:

Ordinances for a three foot brick sewer on Twenty-fourth street, accompanied by a remonstrance; establishing the width of sidewalks on Cliff street; grading, paving and curbing of Harkin's alley; opening of Donnelly alley from Fiftieth to Fifty-second streets; reducing the width of Vickroy and Maria streets, between Magee and Chestnut streets; assessment of damages caused by the grade of Liberty avenue from Thirty-second to Thirty-third streets.

The following ordinances were referred to the Board of Viewers: Opening Reed street, from Overhill to Dinwiddie street; grading, paving and curbing of Union alley, Lawrenceville.

THE COMPROMISE ACCEPTED.

On the resolutions from S. C. for the acceptance of the Nation Trust Company compromise, President Negley, one of the Trustees of the Company, stated that he and the other Trustees could not be influenced by the request to postpone action until after the expiration of ninety days unless the other creditors will also agree to it. He did not state this, he said, to influence Councils in acting upon the resolution, but simply to let the members know the facts.

Mr. FOX and Mr. HUGHES urged the passage of the resolutions, advancing reasons before given in these columns.

Mr. THOMPSON wanted to know if the money could be made out of the assets in case they went to forced sale.

Mr. NEGLEY said he could hardly tell. He recapitulated the amounts he had received, and stated that he held the individual notes of the stockholders, in addition to the mortgages, and he could in the event of the mortgaged property not paying the amount, go upon the private property of the stockholders, wherever found, for the satisfaction of the notes.

The action of S. C. was concurred in, and the resolution passed without calling for the yeas and nays.

While acting upon other S. C. business, it was found that their was not a quorum present, and Council adjourned.

JOINT SESSION.

About half-past three o'clock both branches met in joint session in the chamber of Select Council. President Negley stated that the object of the meeting was to elect two Assistant Assessors. Upon his direction the Clerk read the Act of Assembly bearing upon the subject, providing for such officers and prescribing their duties, compensation, &c., and the manner in which they shall be elected. Nominations were called for, and Mr. Bruce nominated Mr. Christopher Magee, of the Twenty-second ward, late candidate for Mayor. Mr. Littell nominated Daniel Wenke and C. W. Lewis. Mr. James Kerr nominated J. J. Larkin. Mr. Aull moved that Councils proceed to the election of but one Assessor. He held that the law provides for but one, and was about to state his point and quote the statute in support of it when the Chair ruled his motion out of order, and directed that the vote be taken and that each member vote for one candidate. The first ballot resulted as follows:

Magee	1	Wenke	52
Larkin	40

Three votes were cast for Lewis, but before the announcement of the result they were changed to Wenke. The Chair read the result of the ballot and stated that no choice had been made.

Mr. J. K. P. DUFF wanted to know the law upon which the Chair based his decision that there had been no election.

The Chair gratified the gentleman and read the provisions of the Act supporting his decision. Mr. Duff still was not satisfied and requested the reading of the sixth section of the law under which the election was being held. The President replied that that section contained nothing contrary to the law which he had already quoted. He further stated that under our Republican form of Government it always requires a majority to elect in cases where no law exists making it otherwise. Having made this ruling the Chair ordered a second ballot. It was as follows:

Magee	1	Lewis	2
Wenke	50	Larkin	40

Fifty-eight votes being necessary to a choice, the Chair again decided that there had been no election. Mr. Duff called for the reading of the opinion of the Attorney General concerning this election. He said he understood it was in the house. The document did not appear to be forthcoming and Mr. Hunter moved to adjourn. On this motion forty-two members voted yea and the same number nay. The Chair decided the tie by voting for adjournment, so the candidates will be obliged to wait till the next meeting before their suspense is ended.

Liver and Blood Diseases.

By R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser."

A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid or congested, it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance, which, therefore, remains to poison the blood, and be conveyed to every part of the system. What must be the condition of the blood when it is receiving and retaining each day two and a half pounds of poison? Nature tries to work off this poison through other channels and organs—the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., but these organs become overtaxed in performing this labor in addition to their natural functions, and cannot long withstand the pressure but become variously diseased.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, is unduly stimulated by the unhealthy blood which passes to it from the heart, and it fails to perform its office healthily. Hence the symptoms of bile poisoning, which are dullness, headache, incapacity to keep the mind on any subject, impairment of memory, dizzy, sleepy, or nervous feelings, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. The blood itself being diseased, as it forms the sweat upon the surface of the skin, it is so irritating and poisonous that it produces discolored brown spots, pimples, blotches, and other eruptions, sores, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach, bowels, and other organs, cannot escape becoming effected, sooner or later, and we have, as the result, costiveness, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, diarrhœa. Other symptoms are common, as bitter or bad taste in mouth, internal heat, palpitation, teasing cough, unsteady appetite, choking sensation in throat, bloating of stomach, pain in sides or about shoulders or back, coldness of extremities, etc., etc. Only a few of the above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time. The liver being the great depurating or blood-cleansing organ of the system, set this great "housekeeper of our health" at work, and the foul corruptions which gender in the blood, and rot out, as it were, the machinery of life, are gradually expelled from the system. For this purpose, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with very small doses, daily, of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, is pre-eminently the articles needed. They cure every kind of humor from the worst scrofula to the common pimple, blotch or eruption. Great eating ulcers kindly heal under their mighty curative influence. Virulent blood poisons that lurk in the system are by them robbed of their errors, and by their preserving and somewhat protracted use the most tainted symptoms may be completely renovated and built up anew. Enlarged glands, tumors and swellings, dwindle away and disappear under the influence of these great resolvents. TTHS-S.

By Mr. HAYMOND, providing for the gradual resumption of specie payment, and the repeal of so much of the resumption act as fixes the date for resumption on January 1, 1879.

More Corruption.

Mr. POPPLETON moved to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution (with a long preamble) directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire as to the truth or falsity of certain charges and allegations in connection with the legislation of 1869, requiring the principal and interest on Government bonds to be paid in coin, such charges being generally that large sums of money were paid to corrupt public officials and to influence the public press in favor of that legislation; also directing the committee to report whether such corrupt action does not invalidate that law, and whether the law was not in violation to the contract under which the bonds were originally issued, and therefore unconstitutional and void.

The vote on the motion to suspend the rules and adopt the resolution was yeas 102, and nays 21—no quorum voting, so the motion failed.

Speaker Kerr Acquitted.

Mr. CLYMER, from the Committee on Expenditures in the War Department, made a report in the case of the charge against Speaker Kerr. The report states that after a full inquiry into the facts, and after a thorough examination of Lawrence Harney, the only witness making the charge, also of Augustus P. Green, and divers other witnesses, it appeared that in 1866, while a member of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-ninth Congress, Mr. Kerr did, in the exercise of his right or privilege, nominate Green for an appointment in the regular army. The committee, however, had found no difficulty in reaching the conclusion that the charge as to the payment of money to Kerr was unqualifiedly false, and that Kerr stood fully exonerated from all implication affecting his personal honor or official integrity. The committee has found nothing in the whole progress of the investigation to impair or detract from the well established reputation of Kerr for unquestioned personal integrity and unsullied purity.

Mr. CLYMER remarked that the conclusion reached was the unanimous judgment, not only of the committee, but of the House and country.

After addresses by several members Mr. GARFIELD suggested that a vote on the report should be taken by the members rising.

The suggestion was adopted, and all the members, two hundred and ten in number, rose in the affirmative—none in the negative.

Mr. GARFIELD then asked that it be entered on the record that the report was adopted unanimously.

The Speaker pro tem. directed the Clerk to let it be recorded on the record as the unanimous vote of the House.

A Centennial Suggestion.

The Speaker pro tem. laid before the House the following letter, which was referred to the Committee on Centennial:

NEW YORK, June 9, 1876.

My Dear Sir: Half a century ago Gen. La Fayette revisited America, and as the guest of the nation made a triumphal tour through the States. As you know by reading and by tradition, the affections, enthusiasm and gratitude awakened by that visit has no parallel in the world's history. Would it not be equally appropriate and wise half a century after the visit of his grandfather to invite Oscar La Fayette as the guest of the nation to attend the Centennial anniversary of our independence? Our committee has decided to invite M. La Fayette, but it occurs to me that Congress might think it proper to give broader and deeper effect to a patriotic idea.
Very truly yours,
THURLOW WEED.

HON. S. S. COX.

Buy your Watches and Jewelry Here.
WHY?
Because, you get strictly first-class goods, guaranteed as represented and run no risk whatever; besides, we sell this year at closer percentage than ever, our prices being the lowest possible for such goods.
Whereas, if you buy in the East, (as many regret having done) you must pay extortionate prices for inferior goods perhaps, (which is the prevailing fraud East this season) running your own risk, with no redress you must pocket the loss with the best grace possible. Therefore, will it not be to your own best interest to buy your goods from us? By persistent, upright dealing we hope to win and retain a large increase of patronage from all who appreciate and encourage such a course.
